GRAND JURY TO PROBE GAMBLING

Giles G. Dodd Named County Comptroller

Helped Set Up New Bookkeeping System

Princess Anne County has named 28-year-old Giles G. Dodd as the county's first comptroller in filling a position created by the Board of Supervisors at its July meeting.

The Board held a special session last Monday and rescinded its previous action in naming Ben W. Oldham, deputy treasurer, to the post, and named the auditor at an annual salary of $6,000.

The new comptroller has served in the State Auditor's office for the past several years and helped set up the county's new bookkeeping system. Dodd is a bachelor and holds a degree in business administration from the College of William and Mary. He has been employed with the State Auditor since 1949.

Dodd will assume his duties with the county on August 16 and will serve as an assistant to the executive secretary under a reformed system of administration approved by the Supervisors last month.

The question of grant storage facilities was discussed by the Board with a group of county farmers. The farmers are anxious to have the Commodity Credit Corporation help in establishing more facilities in the county.

The Board assured the farmers of their help and agreed to send its executive secretary, V. Alfred Etheridge, to Washington with a group of farmers to confer with Virginia's Senators Byrd and Robertson.

The Washington conferences will probably be held Thursday or Friday of this week, it was learned.

Col. Geo. Woods Takes Command At Fort Story

Col. George E. Woods, Jr., assumed command of Fort Story and the Fifth Transportation Terminal Command B on Monday of this week, succeeding Col. Edwin A. Deagle, who will soon leave to serve as comptroller at the Brooklyn Army Base, New York.

Colonel Woods comes to the Army's Amphibious Training Center at Fort Story from the Transportation Materiel Command, formerly located at Marietta, Penna., where he served for a year before that command was transferred to St. Louis, Mo.

Colonel Woods' active service began in 1942, although he had been a reserve officer since 1928. He was born in New York City, and is a graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.; Yale University and New York University.

In civilian life he was a research engineer for the New York Edison Company.

Serving in the Indo-China theatre from July, 1950, to February, 1951 as logistics and transportation officer for the Military Advisory Group at Saigon, his overseas service also includes almost four years with the SHAEP in Europe.

Colonel Woods' wife is French-born Mrs. Christiane M. Woods, and they have four children, Edith, 16; Claudia, 14; Edward, 8; and Antoinette, 3, who are with them at Fort Story.

Fifty children, crippled from polio, will arrive at Virginia Beach on Sunday, August 7th, for a week's vacation at the Arlington Hotel. The Rotary Seashore Camp children look forward each year to this week of entertainment. Coming from Huntington, West Virginia, they are expected to arrive around noon on Sunday, via Chesapeake & Ohio Railway and will be transported to Virginia Beach by bus after being greeted and given a welcome by representatives of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club at a party arranged for them on Rotary night, Thursday, August 11th. They will be carried, during the week, to Seaside Park where they will be given rides and entertainment of their choice. A boat trip has also been arranged and on another occasion they will be guests of the Normandie Restaurant for lunch, a treat which Jimmie Kontopanos has given them for several years.

Kempville Horse Show Dates Are Set For September 10-11

Final plans have been made for the fifth annual Horse Show to be presented by the Kempville Woman's Club and the Kempville Ruritan Club, co-sponsors. The show will be held September 10 and 11 at the Oceana Stadium.

Mrs. W. W. Johnson is chairman for the two-day event, with Rhea L. Walker, Jr., as co-chairman. The Kempville Woman's Club is a member of the Virginia Horse Shows Association, and is licensed by the American Horse Shows Association and governed by its rules. Mrs. Johnson announces that every effort will be made to offer classes popular with exhibitors and spectators alike.

A $1,600 prize list is being offered and among the many entries will be hunters, jumpers, pleasure and three- and five-gaited classes. Special attention is being paid this year to ponies and their young riders.

Mentally Retarded Benefit Col. R. E. Barrett of Branchville, Virginia, who has had wide experience in the horse show world, will direct the show, and announcement of the nationally-known judges will be made later. ### 17,000 Children Participate in Summer Program

The goal of having 20,000 children participate in the summer recreation program is steadily approaching reality now that over 17,000 have already taken part during the past seven weeks.

The theme of last week's agenda was "Nature." Emphasis was placed upon leaf identification, butterfly collections, rock specimens, and local bird studies.

Highlighting the past week was an outing and picnic at Croatan Beach. Over 50 parents and children went on a real old fashioned beach party and picnic.

At present the children of the city are observing "Drama Week" in their recreation program. Marionette shows are being studied and made into productions at both playgrounds. Interest has really reached a new high since the children are learning to make their own puppets, plus the manipulation thereof.

Next week the recreation department begins its ninth week, during which the theme will be "Track and Field." Races and field events will be held during the week, with "Recognition Day" for the winners being held next Friday.

The summer program has only two remaining weeks.

James Leonard Crisman pleaded guilty to four counts of forgery and was sentenced to serve two

Judge Kellam Recalls Veniremen as Result Of Newspaper Articles

OPEN GAMING ALLEGED AT CLUB

Circuit Court Judge Floyd E. Kellam has called a special session of the Princess Anne County Grand Jury for today as a result of newspaper publicity Wednesday that revealed gambling in one of the county's leading night spots.

The grand jury had been in session on Tuesday and Judge Kellam ordered the jury reconvened immediately after the newspaper article appeared on Wednesday morning.

The newspaper article reported that gambling was observed in the Pine Room of the Surfcomber Room, which is immediately adjacent to the Surf Beach Club in North Virginia Beach.

According to two newspaper reporters who wrote the joint article as their personal experience roulette and dice games were observed in the Pine Room. In the article the reporters stated they observed two Princess Anne County policemen standing a few yards away from the door that led into the room where the roulette table and dice table were being operated openly.

The newspaper article quickly brought a statement from the four major Organized crime figures who were elected on July 12th: The four men had run on a platform that included a plank that

W. H. Anderson, Painter-Golfer, Pursuing Both at Virginia Beach

By Kay Doughtie Sewell
Currently staying at Virginia Beach is W. H. Anderson, of Miami and Boca Raton, Anderson is a portrait painter — "the modern counterpart of the itinerant portrait painter of the 1800's," he says.

Some of the more recent of his works will be on exhibit this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Princess Anne Country Club.

Among those to be shown is a portrait of Sally, Susan and "Muff," the three daughters of Harvard Birdsong, of Suffolk. Anderson, an inveterate golfer who according to Leo Kernan, golf pro at the Princess Anne—shoots between 72 and 75, and who manages to do most of his portrait-painting in the vicinity of a good golf course, met Birdsong while playing golf at Boca Raton last winter.

"Birdsong commissioned me to come to Suffolk," said Anderson. "His friends saw the portraits I did for him, liked them, and I found myself painting other Suffolk families. It was Birdsong who persuaded me to come to Virginia Beach."

Anderson is at present engaged in painting Bessie and Linda, daughters of Mrs. A. T. Taylor. He has also, in this general locale, painted for Julius and Howard Dewberry of Smithfield, for Jack Darden and Ben Parrott of Roanoke, Julia Rusk of Highland, and the Coss family of Greensboro, N. C. He has done a portrait-drawing of Miss Governor Stephens.

A "reproduction" graduate of Pratt Institute of New York, Anderson has done portrait painting most of his life. "Even during the four and a half years I was in the Navy, I was lucky," he said. "I was able to paint, among others, Rear Admiral John Ford and Rear Admiral John James." He also, during this period, designed and decorated several officers' clubs, a yacht club in Charleston, and murals for the Charleston Naval Hospital. He designed several war bond posters, and a certificate for the two war bond drive.

Anderson professes the English school of portrait painting—Oakesborough, Reynolds, Rembrandt and Van Dyck. "I subscribe to the belief," said Anderson, "that each man has his own place in the world."

More Than $58 Million Spent On Virginia Highways This Summer

A record-breaking amount of money is being spent on Virginia's highway system this summer.

Construction projects valued at more than $58,000,000 are underway, according to a monthly report prepared by the State Highway Department.

The total, however, includes contracts amounting to $31,186,700 for two revenue bond projects — a new bridge over the Rappahannock river in the Northern Neck area, and a bridge-tunnel across Hampton Roads.

The remaining money, consisting of regular highway funds and federal aid, is being used on 166 primary and secondary construction projects.

A spokesman for the Highway Department said the regular funds and special bond money pushed this summer's expenditures to a new high.

A spot check of 26 major projects throughout the state indicated that most of the jobs are either ahead of schedule or are on time. A few were slowed by rainy weather earlier in the summer.

Work is progressing on the Hampton Roads bridge-tunnel and the Rappahannock river bridge, which are scheduled to be completed during the latter part of 1957. The first of 23 tube sections of the Hampton Roads tunnel was lowered into position on July 22 and additional tubes will be sunk at the rate of about one every two weeks. The underwater portion of the bridge-tunnel, which with approach roads, will represent an expenditure of about $68,000,000, will be approximately 6,900 feet long.

Steady progress is being made on constructing the large piers for the $16,500,000 Rappahannock bridge between Crey Point and White Stone. The first pier is scheduled to be completed by October 1.

Broadway Hit On Stage at Tent Theatre

"This Out for Ginger," the Broadway comedy hit with starling play by Douglas in the original production, opened at Theatre-Go-Round, 67th and Atlantic Avenue, Virginia Beach, Tuesday night. The play continues nightly through Sunday.

"This is the first time that 'This Out for Ginger' has been seen in the Tidewater area. The play concerns a girl who makes the family football team. Ginger, the family in question, is played by Gale Goodson, Theatre-Go-Round's talented 18-year-old actress who has been seen in this comedy in 'Panic' and 'The Fifth Season.' Gale is a resident of Seafield, N. Y., and has just completed high school this spring. She has, despite her youth, a long career in show business. In 1949, at the age of 12, she appeared in the Broadway production of 'Bet My People Free,' with Canada Lee. She has also done commercial television work and modeling. Next fall, she will appear in 'The Tender Trap.' 'This Out for Ginger' is a comedy in which the family football team is played by a group of boys who are to be matriculated at Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs.

Ginger's harassed and completely confused parents are played by Claude Latson and Rita Martens. Latson has appeared in three Beach productions to date, his most memorable performance being that of the eccentric character in 'King of Hearts.' He is an experienced actor who has played juvenile, leading man and character roles from coast to coast. In 1954 he toured the country with the national company of 'Be You Age.'

Rita Martens, one of Theatre-Go-Round's all-time favorites, again demonstrates her versatility by playing the mother in 'Ginger,' immediately following her leading lady role in 'The Tender Trap.' Rita Martens, who is also associate director at the Beach, is in her fourth season with Theatre-Go-Round.

Other regulars appearing are Nina Wilcox, Maria Corbett, Richard A. Hill, John Glennon and Jay Warren. The play is directed by Romeo Muller, and stage manager is Janis Zakka.

Beginning next Tuesday is 'The Rainmaker,' a romantic comedy about a girl who falls in love with a man who is a doctor. The play is set in a drowsy town in the west and the entrance of a picturesque wagon 'rainmaker' sets the wheels of the plot in motion. The play was one of the biggest hits of the past Broadway season. Tickets for 'The Rainmaker' are now on sale at the Theatre-Go-Round box office.

Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Davis of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Owen and children, Jerry, Danny and Linda, of Huntington, West Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Morrison of Alexandria, Miss Elizabeth O'Reilly, Miss Mary Kay of Albany, New York have returned to their homes after spending some time at the Bryant Cottage at Virginia Beach.

Specialists Get Assn. Support

The Virginia Heart Association announced this week that it is assuming the support of two research investigators chosen earlier by the American Heart Association to receive awards to aid their studies in the field of heart and blood vessel diseases. The two Virginia physicians are Dr. Rene K. Porter, Medical College of Virginia, and Dr. Philip Y. Paterson, University of Virginia School of Medicine.

The awards were among the 269 fellowships and grants-in-aid totaling $1,618,972 given under the national research support program of the American Heart Association and its affiliates for the coming year.

In announcing the state group's action, W. Roy Parsons, Norfolk president of the Virginia Heart Association, declared, "We are proud that two prominent scientists in Virginia have been chosen for awards by the research committee of the American Heart Association. We are grateful also to the people of Virginia whose generous support of the Heart Fund has made it possible for the Virginia Heart Association to assist doctors Porter and Paterson in their heart research activities."

The second Summer Session of a New School for the Expansion of Consciousness will be conducted by the Association for Research and Enlightenment this month at the A.R.E. headquarters, 308 Arctic Circle.

The school will be conducted from August 7 through August 27. Hugh Lynn Cayce, manager, said today that "this school shall be concerned with man's search for the truth of his divine heritage, conscious oneness with God."

"By bringing together individuals who recognize the importance of this search," continued Cayce, "it is considered possible to create opportunities for the expansion of consciousness. Study, prayer, meditation, discussion, self-discipline, experimentation, and cooperative work projects will provide these opportunities. The goal is to bring man's spiritual powers to focus on each day's material, intellectual, social and religious attitudes. This high purpose must be made so natural that individuals gradually recognize the potential creative energy in every thought."

"The school will further endeavor to keep foremost in the thought and minds of everyone associated with it the purpose 'to make manifest his love for God and man,'" said Cayce. "The discussion leaders and all of those invited to assist in the direction of the classes are individuals who have endeavored to make a practical application of spiritual laws as they have understood them."

"New discoveries in the fields of psychology, religion, parapsychology, and the physical sciences have pertinent agreements which, it is felt, should be magnified. This school shall be concerned with these 'bridges' in the outposts of consciousness. It is believed that, in its broadest sense, parapsychology is concerned with these 'bridges.'"

"Students and discussion leaders will have access to a library of five thousand volumes devoted to religion, philosophy, metaphysics, psychology, occultism and parapsychology research, and to the more than 15,000 psychic readings by Edgar Cayce," he concluded.

The school will begin August 7 with five courses offered. Each course will consist of a lecture period of approximately one hour, three times each week, followed by a workshop using experiments, directed study, discussions, etc.

It will be possible to take three of the five courses. They are: 1. A Study of the Book of Revelation, Monday, Wednesday, Friday 9 a.m. to 12 noon. A. R. E. headquarters library, taught by Esther Wynn compiler of "A Search for God," and director of the national A. R. E. study groups. 2. Philosophy of Health, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon. A. R. E. headquarters library, taught by Elsie Sechrest. 3. The Coming of Man, Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon. A. R. E. headquarters living room, taught by Robert L. Cox, of Norfolk, student of the Edgar Cayce readings and lecturer, with Hugh Lynn Cayce.

Each week a guest lecturer will address seminars on some subject present a single lecture or a three-day lecture on the material in one of the courses. The school will be open to the public at a nominal charge.

Civilian Defense Administration Offers "Emergency Pantry" Ideas

The modern homemaker of the atom age is returning to the proven ways of her grandmother, who hid extra staple foods to tide her family over times of illness, bad roads or crop failure.

The danger today is the threat of attack and the silent and invisible peril of radioactive dust in rural districts downwind from cities blasted by the H-bomb. It has forced the Federal Civil Defense Administration to raise to seven days the recommended home emergency food supply.

Families in the fallout zone might be forced to stay under cover for as much as a week. Life in a shelter or basement could be an isolation almost as complete as that of the lonely pioneer clearing, with no power, contaminated water systems, crippled communications, and radiation danger beyond the doorstep.

PCDA dieticians suggest:

- (1) Ability to keep emergency foods for a long time and in a small space is more important than a balanced diet. While a family would only need to depend on the emergency food for a week, the canned foods should be good for a year's storage at all temperatures above freezing. All other foods should require rotation no oftener than every three months.
- (2) Small containers, such as No. 2 cans, for all except very large families are preferred or time-extended food would be eaten in no more than two months. Heavy glass jars are desirable.
- (3) One gallon of water should be the minimum for each adult or child over two years for the "ready period." This allowance should be doubled for children on formula or using evaporated milk. Water is preferred to fruit juices because it can also be used for baby formula and cooking, as well as for drinking.

Such items as pickles, catsup and other things of this type can be omitted, but sugar, salt and pepper are a "must" for most foods and should be included. Tasting the place of butter, mayonnaise can be substituted as better keeping.

Forced tea or coffee is suggested for the emergency pantry. Canned soups and meats, such as beef stew, beef and gravy, pork and gravy, corned beef hash, tuna and salmon, luncheon meat, baked beans, will provide a "main dish" in an emergency. Canned breads, biscuits and boxed crackers are on the list. Canned vegetables and both fruit and vegetable juices, along with canned evaporated milk, should be included. Canned fruits will provide relief from heat. If a baby is to be cared for, a good supply of infant food must be included.

Little League Play Approaches Finals

It won't be long now before the winners in the City and County Little League first and second half winners square off to determine "Who's Who" in this neck of the woods. Meanwhile, the play continues fast and furious in both districts and the cry is "no quarter asked... no quarter given."

CUBS ROUT ROTARIANS
Bill Wren's "never say die" Cubs moved back into a first place tie Thursday night by virtue of a 19-4 victory over the Rotarians.

Robert Clark went the route for the Rotarians and surrendered only one earned run. He struck out nine and walked but two.

Clark's hurling was overshadowed, however, by a sensational batting spree by Cornell Berry. The Cub fast starter established a new local Little League standard as he connected for three doubles, and a pair of singles in five trips to the plate.

A 23-run rally in the fourth inning provided the winning margin for the Cubs.

SPORTS ROLL ON

The rejuvenated Sports, currently the hottest club in the American League, extended their winning streak to five in a row as they came from behind to nip the Rotarians ten to six.

Down six to one in the third, the sizzling Sports rallied for 3 runs to cut the margin to 4-6.

Chappell who appeared shaky at the start, came on in the late innings to shut out the Rotarians in the last three frames.

Eddie White led off the fourth with a single and Roy Gee drilled a sharp single to right to set the stage for George Chappell's three-run blast over the fence in right-center field. It was Chappell's fourth homerun of the season.

SPORTS OF THE WEEK

The Sports continued their upward surge at the expense of the Tiger as Bobby Friedrich, who suffered his first setback Sunday opening night by a 9 to 6 count.

The victory, fourth in succession for the reurgent Sports, knocked the Tigers out of undisputed first place and dramatically set the stage for Tuesday night's contest between the Rosewood 9's and the Presbyterian Cubs.

The win went to George Chappell, who held the Tigers to one hit over the last three and two-thirds innings. Supak had two doubles and a triple to pace the Sports at bat.

PRESTRIDGE THROTTLERS

For the second time in two weeks Bobby Prestridge threw a four hitter at the Giants as the Pipers clung gamely to second place by virtue of their 9-1 conquest of the Moose sponsored nine.

Prestridge, the only hurler to beat the Giants since the first week of the season, was in complete control. He fanned fourteen men and passed but four.

Nord was the individual batting star with 3 for 4. His two run single in round one provided the eventual winning margin.

FORT STORY SPORTS

Story Dukes Drop Fail to Navy Opponents

Last week's action in the Navy Major Inter-Service Baseball League did little to alter the standing of Fort Story's Dukes as they dropped two games to a pair of Navy opponents. Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base gained revenge for an earlier defeat by hanging a 13-5 trouncing on the Dukes in the week's first game. Later, the Story men lost again to a strong team from Deslant ("Destroy Force, Atlantic Fleet) by a score of 9-4.

Little Creek piled up their 13 runs by copying smart base running with 12 hits. Bill Schilling, the Dukes' star pitcher, dropped his second game. A 13-0 conclusion had to be reached in the fourth inning by Harry Dinardo, Story's regular first baseman, who hurled the remaining five frames.

Despite the fact that they outpitched Deslant 11 to 5, the Dukes were able to garner only six runs, or three less than the sailors' re-

TIGERS TAKE LEAD

Bobby Friedrich beat the Cubs for the fifth time to assure the Rosewood Tigers of at least a tie for the pennant in the torrid American League race.

The Tigers scored three times in the first inning by virtue of three walks and a double by Friedrich.

Trailing 6-0, the Cubs came to life in the second inning on Robert Clark's two run single with one out but Friedrich fanned the next two batters to end the inning.

Robert Clark struck out fifteen men to tie a league record but was plagued by wildness and spotty defensive support.

Friedrich fanned thirteen enroute to his seventh triumph of the campaign. He yielded nine hits but bode down in the clutch.

The Tigers now lead by one game with only one contest remaining to be played. Any combination of a Tiger win or a Cub defeat will clinch the Rosewood nine. In the event that the two teams and the season in a tie it will necessitate a playoff game Saturday to determine the winner.

Survey Shows Virginia Banks Chief Lenders To Farmers In '54

Virginia farmers met their credit needs during 1954 chiefly by loans from their local banks, according to E. H. Church, president of the Bank of Virginia Beach, who represents the Virginia Bankers Association as Princess Anne County Key Banker. Virginia banks remained the largest lenders to the state's farmers during the year, providing far more financial aid to farmers than any other lending agency, he noted.

Quoting from the 1954 annual farm lending survey of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, Church stated that on January 1, 1955, Virginia banks had loans outstanding to farmers totaling $74,990,000, including both production and mortgage loans. The banks' total assets at that time totaled $1,745,000,000, with deposits of $1,745,000,000 held by the insurance companies, the second largest lender to Virginia farmers. In addition, Virginia banks held $1,189,000 in C.C.C. loans under the government's price-support program not included in the above figures.

"Despite reduced net income and continued high production expenses on farms," Mr. Church declared, "repayment of loans is rapid, and farm assets are at new record levels, indicating that these factors have not weakened the financial soundness of agriculture. Bank loans play an important part in maintaining this strong financial position by permitting our farmers to make use of the latest equipment and modern production and marketing methods, resulting in greater efficiency."

Of the total farm debt outstanding in Virginia on January 1, $36,270,000 was in real estate or production loans. This compares with $7,904,000 held by Production Credit Associations and $3,771,000 held by the Farmers Home Administration. "It can be seen from these figures that about three-quarters of the production credit used by the state's farmers in 1954 came from banks," he stated. He also pointed out that a high percentage of the $36,270,000 in farm mortgages held by banks in the state at the beginning of this year were made for production and operating purposes.

Mr. Church reported that 294 of the 316 insured commercial banks in Virginia served agriculture by making farm loans during 1954.

Runnerup to Strange, who is regarded as one of the best golfers in Tidewater Virginia, was Jordan Ball with a 73. Ball is Strange's brother-in-law.

Strange dumped young Dave Fender III, 2 and 1 in the opening round. He meets Dickie Payne, a former State titleist, in the second round.

One of the biggest upsets of the open bi-round was a rousing one up victory scored by F. J. "Pete" Dean over a former champion, Walter Bolt. Dean, a dogged competitor, held on to the dog for the titleholder on the second extra hole.

Second round matches are to be completed by Sunday evening.

Summer Festival Saturday Night
At Chesapeake Community Center

The Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach will hold its fifth annual Summer Festival Saturday night, August 6, at the Chesapeake Beach Community Center.

Mrs. L. E. Lefington, ways and means chairman, is general chairman of the festival. Mrs. Harry Fulford is co-chairman.

Baked goods (home-made pies, cookies and candy), Mrs. Harry Fulford and Mrs. U. L. Harman; plants, Mrs. T. B. Petty and Mrs. R. L. Beale; white elephants, Mrs. W. F. Woodrider, Mrs. W. R. Greenwell, Jr., and Mrs. E. A. Hudson; children's games, Mrs. Oscar Atkinson and Mrs. Ray Fels;

Joe Cream, Mrs. I. A. Page, III, Mrs. George Marshall and Mrs. H. B. Grant; food booth, Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond Clifton, and Mrs. W. B. Meekins, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Martindale, Mrs. J. L. Waters, Mrs. William Clifton, Mrs. E. A. Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Vellines;

Country store, Mrs. R. J. Webber, Mrs. M. K. Kervin, Mrs. C. C. Minchey, and Mrs. W. W. Stanfield; grab bags, Mrs. W. D. Brooks and Mrs. L. L. Dillon; decorations, Mrs. Earl George and Mrs. J. W. Grandy, III.

Surprise Booths

The Men's Club of Chesapeake Beach and the Volunteer Fire Department are combining their efforts on the summer festival and will have some "surprise booths."

N. J. Webber is chairman of the men, and working with him will be L. L. Dillon, J. B. Loftin, Jr., W. J. Blade, Jr., Fred Quist, L. O. Rieder and Henry Cooke.

The festival will open with a parade in which the girls who are competing for the title of "Queen" will ride. This year, for the first time, all the past queens and the runner-up will also ride in the parade. The 1951 Festival Queen was Miss Betty Lou Lester, now Mrs. Talmadge Walton, runner-up was Miss Susanne Harrell, 1952 Festival Queen was Miss Julianne Meyerhoffer and runner-up Miss Rose Marie Hampton; 1953 Queen was Miss Rose Marie Hampton and runner-up was Miss Dianna Drennan; 1954 Queen was Miss Brenda Lee Smith and runner-up was Miss Dianna Drennan.

Competing in the Festival Queen contest this year are Miss Brenda Kelley, Miss Shirley McCullar and Miss Linda Harrell. The girls have been selling votes for a cent each and the competition is keen. No one will know until the girls line up for the finale Saturday night just who the Queen will be. Miss Brenda Lee Smith, last year's Queen, will crown the 1955 Festival Queen as a highlight of this year's event.

The summer festival is sort of a "home coming day" at Chesapeake Beach. Folks who have moved away come back for the "doings." Friends and relatives come in groups, the summer residents turn out and everybody eats, takes part in the games, buys Christmas presents and African violets to take home, and if they are lucky maybe they will find the very cream picker they have been looking for at the white elephant booth.

The Woman's Club will use the proceeds of the festival to pay its share on the parking lot recently purchased by the Community Center.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN
HUNT LOST CHILDREN

The Chesapeake Beach Volunteer Fire Department has their regular bi-monthly meeting on Tuesday night of last week at the Chesapeake Beach Fire House. Due to the heat, there was a small attendance.

J. B. Loftin, Jr., in making his report, said that no calls had been answered during the past week, but soon after that report the department was called out twice to find children lost on the Beach.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP
"ROBO PARTY" SATURDAY

The Youth Fellowship of the Chesapeake Presbyterian Church will hold a "Robo Party" Saturday night at 8 p.m. at the recreation hall of the church. On August 14 they will have a watermelon festival under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. William Graham.

CUB SCOUTS
ENJOY OUTING

Cub Scouts of the Bayside area enjoyed an outing Saturday, July 30, at the Elrod Farm. The boys rode horseback, did some sharpshooting, played games, ate, and had a wonderful time.

Two weeks of summer reserve training began here this week for the 378th Transportation Terminal Command "C" and attached units which will follow a tight schedule of amphibious supply and cargo handling operations. The 378th, commanded by Brig. Gen. Elmo S. Patton, is from the Jacksonville, Fla., area, but its 19 attached units represent nine different states. At the Reservists' Training Command at Fort Eustis, Brig. Gen. Rush B. Lincoln, Jr., is expected to officially welcome them to their summer camp.

Reserve Officers Training Corps
In "High Gear" Training

Another phase of the summer training program currently in high gear involves almost 500 members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps who are here in two groups for four-day periods of intensive operations utilizing the command's amphibious vehicles and equipment. Both of Story's two "T" battalions, the 10th and the 378th, are sharing the responsibility of briefing and meeting the cadets and conducting their classes of instruction and practical work.

Lt. Keith J. Lewis

Rev. F. H. Strieby Resumes Sunday Drive-in Services

The Rev. F. H. Strieby, the minister of the Virginia Beach Drive-in Church conducted each Sunday morning at 9:30 has recently returned from an evangelistic engagement in Lewis, West Virginia, where he preached in the tabernacle of the Methodist Church. The services will continue each Sunday throughout the month of August in the Virginia Beach Drive-in Theater, located on Laskin Highway at Hillcrest.

The pastor of Scott Memorial Methodist Church in Oceana, the Rev. Strieby extends an invitation to all people in the area to attend the Church School at 9:45 and the Morning Worship Service at 11:00 A. M. in the Church which is located on Great Neck Road, one block from the Virginia Beach Boulevard.

The take off is the hardest part, the only hard part, of simple water skiing; the reason is better designed skis of improved weight, balance and construction.

New Law Makes Care More Expedient In Fruit Spraying

Orchardists, necessarily careful with chemical sprays, will need to be even more cautious in the future, says A. H. Teske, horticulturist at VPI.

The fruit growers are reminded that the Miller Bill, an amendment to the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act of 1938, limits by law the amount of spray residue which will be tolerated on raw fruits and vegetables when marketed as of July 22, 1955.

Since many insecticides, fungicides and combinations of two are in use, the problem of keeping residues within the tolerated limits becomes more complicated; and more careful consideration must be given to the planning of spray programs, particularly to sprays applied after the first of July, Teske points out.

According to the Bill, there are certain non-toxic materials that do not require a tolerance. To date these include sulfur, lime and lime sulfur. Also exempted are bordeaux mixture, fixed copper, pyrethrum and pyrethrin, petroleum oil, rotenone or derris or cube roots, ryania and sabadilla. However, these materials are not exempted from the requirement of a tolerance when they are applied at the time of harvest.

There are also materials which no residue will be tolerated. Among those most commonly used by fruit growers are mercury-containing compounds, HETB and TEPP.

"To stay within the tolerance is a 'must,'" Teske says. Several factors have an important bearing on spray residues. Among them are the number of spray applications of a particular material, the concentration, timing, and the kind and amount of rainfall. For example, assume that a period of eight weeks is required between the date of last spray application and harvest time. Heavy rains during this period could reduce the period to a six week interval.

Favorable growing weather which would increase the size of the fruit could also shorten the period. On the other hand, prolonged dry weather would require longer time for residues to wear off.

Teske suggests these safety limits for the more common insecticides: lead arsenate, six to eight weeks depending on weather and fruit size; DDT, six weeks; TEPP, six weeks; parathion, 21 days; EPN, 21 days; methoxychlor, four weeks; TEPP, the chemical decomposes rapidly and while no tolerance is given, there should be no residue problem if the spray is applied as much as two weeks before harvest; aramite, recent information from the manufacturers advises that an extension has been given for its use until August 5.

In connection with the suggested safety limits it would seem that to stay safely within the tolerance set for the chemicals of the chlorinated hydrocarbon group no DDT should be applied within eight weeks of harvest time. This means under normal conditions, where DDT at the rate of two pounds in 100 gallons is applied the first week of July it would take until September 1 for the residue to be reduced to the tolerance limit. Likewise one application of regular strength (1 1/2 pounds) TDE in mid-July would mean a delay for harvesting the fruit until the week after

Alfalfa Seedlings, Like Babies Demand Good Care and Freedom

Like babies, alfalfa seedlings demand good care and feeding, and now's the time to start the operation. That's the opinion of Virginia Polytechnic Institute's Associate Extension Agronomist G. R. Epperson, who says that the king of Virginia's hay crops, alfalfa, should be seeded after the first good rain in August, in Piedmont and Western Virginia, and two or three weeks later in Eastern Virginia.

"Alfalfa can't stand wet feet," says Epperson, "so seed on a well-drained soil that has a good fertility level and limed to pH 6.5 to 7.0. If previous treatment and the soil test results indicate phosphate or potash or both to be deficient in the soil, a basic application of the deficient material or materials should be made prior to seeding. For example, if phosphate is low, apply 400 to 600 pounds of 20% superphosphate or equivalent per acre; if potash is low, apply 100 to 200 pounds of muriate of potash per acre; or if both are low, apply 400 to 700 pounds of 0-14-14, or equivalent, per acre and work into soil as a basic application. Just prior to the time of seeding, apply 1,000 to 1,200 pounds of 2-12-12 banded fertilizer per acre and work it into the soil.

Use a corrugated roller, harrow, or weeder to cover the seed. If a harrow or weeder is used, it should be adjusted to cover the seed with not more than one-half inch of soil."

ANNOUNCEMENT

We appreciate the patronage during the operation of Tiny-Tot Sitters, Inc., and announce due to new business the dissolution of the corporation August 6, 1955.

SHED 15 TO 25 POUNDS PER ACRE of certified Atlantic, certified Williamsburg, Kansas Common, certified Buffalo or Oklahoma Improved (use Navagamant at high altitudes and on exposed locations). Always inoculate alfalfa seed immediately before seeding, using an alfalfa culture and applying according to the manufacturer's instructions. Three to six pounds of Orchard Grass may be used to advantage in mixture with alfalfa to make the hay cure easier and to give higher yields over a longer period of time.

WORKERS AGAIN According to The American Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955, a Wales television inspector is having difficulty in his job of detecting owners avoiding their annual fee. He keeps finding "collection mob" — a term he's coined for those 36 per cent who don't play serial but have no sets!

Tea With Meals For Family Good Will

When planning a family meal, most women think in terms of the likes and dislikes of the members of the family. They strive for good nutrition first, which is essential in rearing a healthy family. But meals serve a purpose other than gustatory revelation... it's also a time of day to encourage esprit de corps among family members. One of the elements basic to encouraging family oneness is relaxation. In this connection we'd like to recommend a hot beverage — tea — as the ambassador of good will in the family unit.

Tea not only aids digestion, but relaxes the body, relieves nervous tension and provides a pick-up which most folks need — especially parents after a busy day.

To make a good, full-bodied pot of tea for the family meal it's important to follow the four golden rules — just as it's important to follow a cake recipe precisely. The rules are simple:

- (1) Always use a teapot.
- (2) Use 1 teaspoon of tea or 1 teabag per cup.
- (3) Bring fresh water to a full rolling boil, and
- (4) Brew 3 to 5 minutes.

A surprise dish, sure to please the whole family, is

DUCK HAWAIIAN

(Make 4 to 6 servings)

Cut one 5 to 6 pound Long Island duckling, dressed weight, into serving pieces. Remove skin; place duck in mixing bowl. Combine

2 tablespoons kichen bouquet
1/2 cup lemon juice, and
1 clove garlic, minced.
Pour over duck. Marinate 45 minutes, turning occasionally.

Melt 2 tablespoons duck fat in heavy frying pan. Brown pieces of duck on all sides. Add 1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice and any left-over marinade. Cover tightly; simmer until duck is tender — about 45 minutes.

Add 2 green peppers cut into 1/2 inch cubes. Cover and cook 15 minutes longer.
Blend together
2 tablespoons corn starch
Liquid from 1-oz. can of mushroom crowns, and 1/2 cup sugar.
Add to duck, stirring constantly until thickened.

Add 4 slices unsweetened pineapple cut in quarters and 4 medium-sized carrots, quartered, and cooked.
And as a cooler-offer on these

To make a pretty garnish for meat platters, cut an orange in half and scoop out the fruit. Fill shells with mint jelly, cranberry sauce or sherbet and place on meat platter.

Alternate cubes of cheese with stuffed olives on a toothpick to make a nice snack to serve with chilled juice in the living room before dinner begins.

Add a pinch of rosemary to French dressing which is to be served with fruit salads, but use curry powder in the French dressing which is to be served with vegetables for that extra flavor.

Tie these herbs in a cheesecloth bag to put in with fish that's steamed: Chervil, tarragon and marjoram or summer savory. Discard the cheesecloth herb bag after cooking, but you'll have wonderful flavor for the fish.

Colored sugar makes a pretty decoration for simple sugar cookies. Add a drop or two of liquid food coloring to granulated sugar, rub with fingers to spread the coloring, then sprinkle on the cookies before baking.

Sultry August days, how about a brimming glass of

TEA PUNCH

1 pint strong tea
1 cup sugar
1 cup orange juice
1 pint water
1 quart gingerale
1/2 cup lemon juice

Pour hot tea over sugar, dissolve; add water; then fruit juices. Pour punch over large block of ice in punch bowl. Just before serving, add gingerale. Float thin slices of orange over top. Makes about 12 cups.
Bye now...

GARDEN GUIDE

By BARTOW H. BRIDGES, JR.

CRAB GRASS
Hot weather is slowing the growth of most grasses now but nevertheless the peaky crab grass seems to be flourishing. Many persons, failing to recognize it, feel quite proud that their lawn is still lush and green. However, the sickly yellowish-green color of the crab grass plants is definitely not an asset.

Crab grass (Eleusine indica and Pankum sanguinale) is an annual plant germinating from seed in the spring and living only until frost. In this respect it differs from our more desirable perennial type grasses. The crab grass seedlings continue to grow after spring germination and start to take over the lawn when hot weather arrives. This is particularly a problem if the lawn is a new one, having been sown in the spring.

The individual plants have wide, coarse leaves that spread horizontally from the crown of the plant for a short distance and then stand straight up. If you let the lawn go too long without cutting, these leaves will be difficult to cut, particularly with a reel-type mower. As the plants mature they will send up seed heads — which are also hard to catch with the lawn mower.

Since the plants depend on re-seeding themselves for reproduction, it is vital that the grass be cut frequently enough to prevent formation of the seed heads. At the first frost the plants are all killed to the ground and a crab brown lawn is all that remains.

Control
A two or three year program is necessary to entirely eliminate crab grass. If you were to start your control program at this time of the year, you should start as stated above, by preventing the growth of the seed heads through careful and regular mowing. This fall rake the lawn vigorously with a rigid rake to tear out the dead crab grass plants. Next concentrate on encouraging the perennial grasses to develop a thick turf through fertilization and over-seeding. This will help to crowd out the crab grass next spring. Important also next spring is the regular application of potassium cyanate in liquid or dry form. It is packaged under several trade names. However, it is basically the same. This treatment will help destroy the young seedlings as they germinate and if practiced two or three seasons, it will eliminate this undesirable grass.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Ginger Apple Crisp (Serves 4)

6 tart apples
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup water
4 ounces ginger snaps, crushed
1 cup chopped almonds
1/2 cup softened butter
Wash and quarter apples. Remove cores and slice, but do not peel. Place in buttered baking dish, sprinkle with lemon juice and rind. Mix sugar, ginger snaps crumbs, almonds and butter. Place on top of apple slices. Bake in moderate (350°F) oven for 30 minutes or until apples are tender.

Hot, Humid Weather Breeds Mildew, Home Economist Says

Hot, humid weather is "mildew weather," declare VPI home economists.

The type of molds that cause mildew thrive in damp, warm, poorly lighted places, growing on anything from which they can get food. These materials include cotton, wool, linen, silk, leather, paper or wood, among others.

The molds will decay wood and discolor fabrics and leather. If left alone, they will eat into fabrics, rotting and ruining them.

To help prevent mildew, be sure clothes are clean and dry before being put into storage for the summer, and be sure they are stored in a clean, dry place.

Although a basement may seem dry, it is a hazardous place for summer storage because condensation in muggy weather causes dampness. Automatic dehumidifying devices are being used today, especially in basements, for this reason.

Electric fans, moisture-absorbing chemicals and fans, or an electric light bulb in a small closet will help disperse moisture and prevent mildew.

The largest dragon tree in the world is to be found at Icod, on the island of Tenerife in the Canaries; reputed to be nearly 3,000 years old it has a circumference of nearly 50 feet.

Are You Familiar With the Term "pH"?

Some farmers don't know what "pH" means. The term is used to express the degree of acidity in soils. On a scale running from 0 to 14, a pH reading of 0.0 is neutral, a reading of below 0.7 is acid, and above 0.7 is alkaline.

A soil test will show the pH of the soil, and now is a good time to have one made. This office can give information on taking and samples and making tests.

Price Spread Narrows on Fluid, Manufacturing Milk

The price spread has narrowed in recent months between fluid and manufacturing milk in Virginia.

Price figures for April (the last month for which they have been compiled) show that the price for fluid milk is now running about 10¢ cwt. less than last year, but the price for manufacturing milk is 20¢ higher. This means that the difference in the price between the two types of milk has been reduced by 30¢.

Relatively unfavorable price for manufacturing milk during most of last year has had some effect on production. During the first four months of this year, production of manufacturing milk has been 4% lower than for the same period last year. Milk for fluid consumption has been above last year.

Total milk production for April was about the same as a year earlier, while production in the U. S.

was slightly less. This, coupled with a slightly greater per capita consumption has resulted in a smaller surplus so far this year. This has meant a 20% reduction from last year in government support purchases of dairy products. With milk production holding near last year's level in spite of the smaller number of milk cows in both Virginia and the U. S., milk production per cow evidently has jumped considerably. In fact, the May production per cow in Virginia was about 28 pounds above May, 1954.

Corn Driers Have Many Advantages

There are many items on the credit side for corn driers. A study of 25 Virginia farms showed it was possible to harvest corn an average of three weeks earlier when a drier was available. Early harvesting, in turn, means less field and storage losses, a mechanical corn picker does a better job, and the last is cleared so small grain and cover crops can be seeded early. Then too, corn can be sold or ground for feed early.

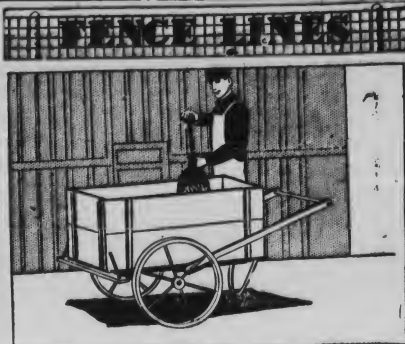

There are around 5,000 pickers now in use on Virginia farms, as compared to 315 ten years ago.

Corn driers simply remove excess moisture from the corn by forcing air through it. There are both natural air and heated air driers on the market, and both can dry several bins per season. Almost any farm building can be used — cribs, round metal bins, and bins built in existing buildings.

Portable corn driers also can be used for small grains and hay. Details are available in the VPI bulletin "Give Your Corn Air." Copies are available free of cost at my office.

Meat-Type Hog Grades Higher for Top Price

The recently changed federal barrow and gilt carcass grades can mean an extra three dollars or more per hundred weight at market time to the Virginia farmer who changes to meat-type hogs, according to Role Goysey, VPI swine specialist.

TIME SAVER . . . Wooden two-wheel cart saves steps in feeding livestock in feed lots located some distance from granary or crib. Top half of the cart is removable box. Implement wheels turning on solid axles makes cart easy to maneuver on rough ground with heavy load.

Godsey says under the new grades, meaty hogs will grade higher. Some buyers are already paying as much as $1.00 per cwt. more for the meatier hogs, and that price differential may become even greater.

Meat-type hogs reach market weight as soon and sometimes sooner than the lard-type hogs. They make better gains on less feed. For example in one USDA test, they required about $1.25 less feed for each 100 pounds of gain than did the lard-type hogs.

Godsey says to be sure not to confuse meat-type hogs with lean hogs, which have less muscle. The top-grade hogs not only have less fat, but also have heavy muscling in the hams and loins.

The grades are now US 1, US 2, US 3, and medium. Former names were choice, 1, 2, 3, and medium. The US 1, 2 and 3 carcasses will each have 2 inches less fatback than was previously required for choice 1, 2, and 3, respectively. The medium grade has been changed from a range of 1.1 to 1.5 inches to 1.0 to 1.3 inches fatback.

Several packers have been using grade standards similar to the new ones for some time, but up to now, most market hogs have been sold primarily on a weight basis.

Play Safe With Insecticides on Forage Crops

How long should you wait after treating forage crops with insecticides before feeding the forage to livestock?

That's an important question, declares John O. Hart, county agent. He has outlined some of the materials which are recommended, and which are not recommended, and the waiting periods which have been set up for the recommended materials.

Do NOT use systox on any forage crop. It is released and available for use, but is not recommended by entomologists because of the hazard involved in its application.

Benzene hexachloride is NOT recommended for use on forage crops. The Food and Drug Administration has accepted it for use on alfalfa for hay before it is two inches tall, or immediately after cutting. It is NOT recommended for use on any crop which might be followed by a root crop within the next THREE YEARS.

Lindane may be used on alfalfa grown for hay or pasture at the rate of one-half pound per acre. However, a 14-day waiting period is required before the forage can be fed to dairy animals or animals being fattened for slaughter.

Toxaphene may be used on alfalfa grown for hay or pasture, but a 30-day waiting period is required before feeding the forage to dairy animals or animals being fattened for slaughter.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
County Home Agent

CHLORDANE FOR ANTS —

Midsummer is the season when many houses and yards are invaded by troops of ants. To get rid of these pests the first step is to find their nests and then to treat them with an insecticide.

Outdoors the nests are usually easy to see — small mounds of soil on the ground, near flagstones and sidewalks, in decaying tree trunks, near foundations.

Finding ant nests indoors is a difficult problem. Usually the best you can do is watch the trails of the ants, trace them to a baseboard or door frame, and apply the insecticide there.

The most effective insecticide in the home is a 2% oil-base chlordane solution, applied with a paint brush or sprayer as near as possible to where the nests may be located. Water-base chlordane sprays are also effective. Paint or spray the chlordane along the baseboard, cracks in floors, door and window frames, sinks, electric outlets. This way you can check the ants before they get into the foods and onto tables. Chlordane has a long-lasting effect and it is usually not necessary to spray the same surface more than once every one to three months. If ants continue to appear, spray other surfaces and areas they may be coming from.

A good preventive measure against ants is to keep all containers of food, flour canisters and bread boxes tightly closed. To keep ants from entering the house apply chlordane along the outside walls from the ground up to the windows.

MOLASSES RUM PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/4 cup sugar, divided
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
1/3 cup unsulphured molasses
1/2 teaspoon rum flavoring
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 9-in. baked pastry shell

Mix together in top of double boiler: gelatine, 2 tablespoons of the sugar, and salt. Beat together egg yolks and milk; add to gelatine mixture with the unsulphured molasses. Cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until the mixture is slightly thickened. Remove from heat; stir in rum flavoring. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry. Gradually add the remaining 6 tablespoons sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in gelatine mixture. Fold in whipped cream.

Turn into prepared shell and chill. To serve, garnish with additional whipped cream; sprinkle with instant coffee.

Leftover Seeds Must Be Dry

If you have any leftover seeds from your garden planting this year, you can store them for next year, says John Hart, county agricultural agent.

Mr. Hart offers a few tips on wise care and use of leftover seeds. The condition of your seeds depends a great deal, he declares, on how and where they are stored. Leftover seeds which have been kept in a cool, dry place hold their vigor longer. If you've stored them in a humid, hot place they are not apt to germinate well.

Certain kinds of seeds keep better than others. Bean, pea, and tomato seeds will generally keep better than sweet corn, lettuce, celery and onion seeds.

ILLITERATES CAN'T VOTE

The new Castillo Armas government has disenfranchised all illiterate Guatemalans but has promised to maintain the social advances of the last 10 years. The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955 says the controversial land reform act has also been suspended with the promise of a new, more moderate law to be enacted.

Tidewater Blue Cross Hospital Service Observes 20th Anniversary

Tidewater Hospital Service Association, the Blue Cross of Virginia, celebrates its 20th anniversary in August. Formed in 1933 by the hospitals in the Norfolk-Farmham area, this non-profit organization has provided a means of spreading costs of hospitalization for an increasingly large number of Virginians in this area. Merely enough, the Blue Cross movement on a national basis, is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, the first hospital-sponsored plan of this nature, similar in most respects to the Blue Cross Plan now in operation, having been formed at Baylor University in Dallas, Texas, in 1930. Blue Cross Plans have always stressed the provision of service benefits to their members instead of a stipulated indemnity for specific items of expense. Like other Blue Cross Plans, Tidewater Hospital Service Association had its inception during the depression years of the middle 1930s when hospitals were faced with the problem of empty beds and insolvency because people could not afford to have the medical care they needed so badly. In this area the hospitals banded together and formed the association so that people could budget the cost of needed care, and the first membership contracts were placed in force in September, of 1935. The hospitals which participate in the local Blue Cross Plan are the Virginia Beach Hospital, Norfolk General Hospital, Leigh Memorial Hospital, Norfolk Community Hospital, Maryview Hospital, King's Daughters' Hospital and DePaul Hospital.

Has Grown Rapidly
Since 1935 the local Blue Cross Plan has grown steadily and now has over 70,000 members on its rolls. It is completely non-profit in nature and by state law. Its benefits and rates are subject to approval by the State Corporation Commission, thus insuring its members of intelligent supervision of its activities. Its operating policies are determined by a board of directors who serve completely without remuneration and represent the hospitals, the medical profession, and the general public. The present directors of the plan are James Mann, Jr., president; Dr. Walter B. Martin, vice president; William P. Dickson, Jr., Dr. C. C. Smith, W. T. Mason, Euclid M. Hanbury, Vernon A.

During the month of August, Tidewater Hospital Service Association will have an open enrollment period during which all employed persons under 65 years of age may apply for non-group membership. Normally, membership of this type is open to people with a common place of employment or to those who are either self-employed or work where there are less than four employees. In August, however, applications may be submitted by any employed person for the protection of himself and his family against the high cost of hospitalization. Accepted applications will be placed in force on November 1st.

Blue Shield, the sister plan of Blue Cross, providing for the prepayment of medical-surgical expenses on a non-profit basis, is also available in this area. Tidewater Hospital Service Association acts as agent for the Virginia Medical Service Association of Richmond, which provides Blue Shield benefits on a state-wide basis.

Vivid and Varied Effects May be Obtained by Use of Tile Flooring

Virtually any design or color combination may be had in floors today, thanks to the new Kentile, says a spokesman for the J. C. Law & Son Company of 1515 Colley Avenue, Norfolk.

Due to the fact that the floor is laid tile by tile, he said, any color or design one may choose can be easily effected, and the floor can be as distinctly individual as a made-to-order dress or suit.

Kentile saves time as well as labor. The smooth, non-porous surface sheds dirt. Soil and stains can be easily washed away with mild soap and water. Spilled beverages and muddy footprints come off quickly. Kentile needs only an occasional no-rub waxing to enrich its beauty and keep it new-looking.

And Kentile keeps its beauty long after some floors are dull and worn, because the colors in the Kentile blocks go right thru to the back. The material is unusually tough and fire-resistant, and every bit of the tile is actual floor — no felt or other backing. The Law Company officials state. Building costs can be cut when constructing basementless homes, the spokesman added. "Kentile is perfect for installation on concrete in direct contact with the earth. Fillers, binders and pigments in Kentile have high resistance to the alkali in concrete. And the asbestos filler helps insulate against the cold and dampness so often encountered in concrete floors. Proving its modernness and versatility, Kentile is also so widely used with radiant heating slabs."

To enable the home-owner to do his own floor laying with professional skill, the Law Company has at a low price a kit containing all the tools necessary for an installation job. The Law show-room carries many other items which the home-owner can install himself. Among these items is Formica, high pressure laminated plastic made of layers of specially processed paper impregnated with synthetic resins, used for vanities, bars, cabinet tops and sink cabinets.

If it's a question of flooring, call J. C. Law & Son Company, Norfolk Madison 5-9439.

HIGHWAYS MODERNIZED!

A record 3.7 billion dollars was spent last year on highway and road construction according to a report prepared for publication in the 1955 Yearbook of The American Encyclopedia. Ultra-modern toll highways accounted for a good portion of this outlay. Such important highways as the $55 million-dollar New York Thruway, the 133 million-dollar West Virginia Turnpike and a $5 million-dollar addition to the Pennsylvania Turnpike were opened to the motoring public, according to the report.

Most builders expressed the belief that President Eisenhower's proposed 101 billion-dollar highway improvement plan would lead to new construction records.

Summer is the Time to Launch Home Repairs and Additions

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country... or whatever it is around the house that needs doing.

Like Og, the cave man, who had to wait until the rains came thru the cave roof before he could remember where the leaks were, too many home owners let valuable summer months roll by without caring for needed home repairs and upkeep.

Here is a simple check-list of things to do in late summer, unless the home owner would really prefer to wait until winter to find where the leaks are:

Add-a-Room: This is a good time to start the project of adding a room to your home. Douglas fir dimension lumber is plentiful all over the country, and so is exterior fir, hemlock or western red cedar siding.

Enclosing the Porch: Many families with extra wide porches are finding they can get an extra bedroom, playroom or family room by closing in the old porch. Summer is a good time to undertake this program and materials are easy to obtain.

Roofs and Gutters should be repaired now. Douglas fir and red cedar gutter stock makes an ideal replacement for worn-out gutters and matches most home designs.

Storm Windows can be best fitted now while the weather is good and if special sizes have to be built, the cabinet maker can get them out in time for winter.

Painting: Summer weather is ideal for drying conditions are perfect. Wooden siding, eaves, gutter and exposed portions of the home will last indefinitely if properly maintained and regularly painted.

Flashing around chimneys, windows and doors should be checked, for a leaky flashing can be the cause of rot and damage to interior walls.

PASS THE FRACPIECE

In Canada, a two-century Indian curse on the bridge between Halifax and Dartmouth predicted that, "three times the bridge would fall." By last year the bridge had collapsed twice, once during a storm and once of its own accord. The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1953 reports, however, that a truce has been called and when the $11,000,000 suspension bridge was opened a member of the Indian tribe was on hand to promise that the curse had been lifted.

Schools Are Test For Floor Wear

When you find a floor that will wear well and still look nice, you have licked one of the toughest home maintenance problems.

Best testing grounds for floors are school halls, classrooms and gymnasiums, where ordinary traffic is multiplied by thousands and compounded by scuffing, scratching and cleats.

C. L. Tunnell, West Linn, Ore., school superintendent, after much experimenting with a wide variety of wood flooring, has decided that of wood flooring, hard maple or west coast hemlock flooring for all schools in his district are the thing.

He states that "after 12 years of use, these floors are actually in excellent condition. We are so pleased at the service that we have received that we specified the same type flooring in two new schools and an addition to a third one. Floors in two schools, in use for two and three years, at the completion of our maintenance work this summer, looked as new as when they were first laid."

It is claimed for the west coast hemlock that it hardens in use and provides a cushiony effect not found, combined with long wear,

FORGIVENESS

The most profound and pivotal experience a person can ever have is to be forgiven. If you have ever been forgiven, you understand this.

No Strings

Real forgiveness is not contingent on anything. It is not extended because you feel the offender deserves it. It is not given because the offender has suffered a mishap, or because you feel sorry for him, or because you are of the opinion he won't do it again. Forgiveness that is contingent is not real. One does not forgive because of anything; he just forgives, period.

It is this that makes forgiveness so hard to receive. This is especially true of God's forgiveness. Many persons simply cannot bring themselves to accept divine forgiveness freely. So they try to produce within themselves such feelings of guilt and self-rejection as to prove to God that they deserve His forgiveness. To wrong someone, to be alienated from him, to realize you can't make it up, to be ashamed of yourself, and then to have to accept his forgiveness and be restored to friendship and trust—there is no easy way through that. And to receive this from the hand of God, our Creator and Saviour, magnifies it a million times.

Friar Stream

Yet when we do accept God's forgiveness freely proffered, there is a sensational impact. God's love goes coursing through us like a fiery stream. Our life becomes one great surge of gratitude, a constant outpouring of joy.

Are you a person who hates himself? Are you someone who goes through life angry at everybody, mean, hostile, cantankerous? Perhaps the reason is that you have never been forgiven. You cannot accept yourself because you have never been accepted. You therefore feel apart and estranged, bereft and forgotten.

The only remedy for this condition is to be forgiven. Being forgiven and being able to accept yourself are the same thing. Being forgiven, you know that God has accepted you. If God has accepted you, you are accepted, period. You are then related to the basic power of the universe.

And Others

There are good people in the world who could be so much better if only they were forgiven. There is a kind of inflexible goodness which can extend little sympathy or help to sinners.

Why is it that children will turn from righteous parents? Why will people of the church let some trouble in their home burgeon into a major disaster before they will go to their pastor about it? Why do men turn angrily from the righteousness of Christianity and the righteous Christ who proclaims it? Why will they seek evil companions rather than good? Sometimes it is because they do not want to feel condemned. But other times it may be because they seek a love rooted in forgiveness. This the righteous cannot give because they have never received it themselves.

Shall we sin, then, that we may be forgiven? God forbid! Let us remember, rather, how much we have already been forgiven. Let us judge less and love more.

Dr. Smith Will Preach Sunday at Lutheran Church

Dr. G. Morris Smith, president of Susquehanna University, will have charge of the services and preach the sermon at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, Virginia Beach, at 11 a. m. Sunday, August 7.

Dr. Smith is a native of Virginia, born in the Shenandoah Valley, educated in the public schools of Virginia, and is a graduate of Roanoke College. He is also a graduate of Princeton University and the Philadelphia Theological Seminary.

For ten years he was a parish minister, first at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and later for a period of eight years at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Buffalo, N. Y. From Buffalo, Dr. Smith came to Susquehanna University, where he has served as president of the institution since 1928.

Susquehanna University is a co-educational college of the United Lutheran Church in America, and has over 400 students. It offers curricula in liberal arts, business administration, business education and music. Three thousand alumni have gone out from the college and are serving in various important posts all over the world.

The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd has been holding services at the Beach since October of last year. The minister is the Rev. John David Keister, a graduate of Roanoke College, the Lutheran Seminary of Philadelphia, and who took graduate work at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. Services are held at the Beach Community House, 18th and Arctic Avenue, with morning worship at 11 a. m. and Sunday School at 9:45 a. m.

YOUNG AMBASSADORS

American youths are not slackers when it comes to boosting international good will. For example, the American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1953 reports that the American Junior Red Cross has prepared exhibits of school life in the United States, composed of youth paintings, photography and drawings, to be exported to other countries.

PLAY SAFE WITH YOUR CHILD

If you wanted your child to learn to swim, would you toss her into the water and say, "Sink or swim, honey?"

"How silly!" you exclaim. "I'd do like any sensible parent—provide her with every safeguard. I'd stay nearby, teaching her, and I'd give her a life preserver to help keep her afloat and give her faith in herself."

And you're so right. With adequate "how-to" and confidence, she will be safe as long as she holds on to her life preserver.

It's the same with her spiritual safety. To meet most of life's problems confidently and without fear she will need a spiritual life preserver.

To keep her afloat, help her acquire those necessary and stabilizing qualities of faith, hope and love found through regular worship at the Church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mother-Daughter Exhibition Of Paintings At Theatre-Go-Round

A joint mother and daughter exhibition of oil paintings by Dorcas Deaton and Pae Stein, both of Kempsville, will open at the Theatre-Go-Round gallery tonight and will continue to August 17.

Mrs. Deaton, a member of Tidewater Artists, is art chairman of the Kempsville Woman's Club, and teaches art class in her own home. She studied art at Washington State College and in San Diego and had a one-man show at the Norfolk Navy YMCA.

Her daughter, Pae Stein, graduated from Salem College, North Carolina, and taught music in Junior High School in Columbus, Ohio. She studied painting with Greta Matsuo and Alfred Khouri for two seasons at Theatre-Go-Round.

This is the second exhibition sponsored by the Matsuo-Khouri art class and will be followed by oil paintings by Jean Miller of Virginia Beach.

Request Made To Widen Bridge on Laskin Road

The Virginia Department of Highways has requested an Army Department permit for the widening of the existing highway bridge over Great Neck Creek on State Route 104 (Laskin Road), approximately 1.5 miles above the mouth of the creek. Great Neck Creek is the westerly tributary of Lankhorn Bay, bordering Birdneck Point.

The plans submitted provide for widening the existing bridge from 26 feet to 60 feet to provide for a dual-lane highway with a 4-foot median strip between traffic lanes. The plans further provide for maintaining the existing horizontal and vertical clearances of 30 feet between bridge piers and 45 feet above local mean high tide, respectively.

Any objections from the standpoint of navigation will be received by the office of Willis T. Ellis, Lt. Col., Corps of Engineers, executive officer, up to August 8.

Private McARDIE, who attended the school after completing basic training at Camp Carson, Colo., was taught unarmed defense, traffic control and other law enforcement duties. He entered the army in March of this year.

NATIVES ARE ILL
Alaska's progressive economy in larger population centers has not yet touched the "poverty stricken" natives in the remote regions, according to a report in the 1955 Yearbook of The American Peoples Encyclopedia. A 2-year health survey conducted by a team of U. S. specialists revealed these natives "are the victims of sickness, crippling conditions and premature deaths to a degree exceeded in very few parts of the world."

Alaska's native population in the 1955 census totaled 15,882 Eskimos, 14,089 Indians and 3,892 Aleuts.

Older Youth Group Enjoys Leadership Course at Farrar

Last week a group of older youth ranging in age from 15 to 30 attended Camp Farrar. This group of Older Youth came from all around the state to receive leadership training. While at Camp Farrar they attended classes on leadership, youth program, leadership, and photography and recreation.

This camp was under the direction of James A. Russell, Chief Youth Specialist at V.F.W., but the camp activities were conducted by the campers. They planned their program and carried it out with the supervision of Extension Agents.

Several tours to local points of interest were arranged for the campers. They toured the Oceana Jet Base, went on a fishing trip and visited other places of interest. These tours were attended by a majority of the campers and everyone seemed to enjoy them.

The tour of the Oceana Jet Base was of particular interest. Some of the things observed during the tour were the control tower, the ramp area, the crash equipment, and the radar equipment. Some of the newer type bombers and jets were also seen by the campers.

One of the most interesting parts of the tour was the radar trunk of Ground Control Operator. This equipment is installed in a truck so that it can be moved to different parts of the base. It is used to help planes land during overcast weather. The image representing the plane can be seen on the screen and the pilot can be given instructions over the radio so that he can land without even being able to see the runway. The campers had some free time in the afternoon and night. During these free periods they could get together and talk, or tour Virginia Beach or other places that they desire or just relax and enjoy themselves. Many of them really enjoyed the sun and their frequent swims in the ocean.

The highlight of the week was the Talent Show which was held on Saturday night. Many different acts were given by the talented campers at this program. This was truly a fitting climax to a week of training and recreation for these young men and women of Virginia.

"Rainmaker" At Tent Theatre

"The Rainmaker," a romantic comedy that received unanimous critical acclaim when it opened in New York last October and went on to become one of the biggest dramatic hits of the past Broadway season, was presented for the first time in Tidewater Tuesday night at Theatre-Go-Round. The play continues through Sunday, August 14th.

Starring in the roles originally created by Geraldine Page and Darren McGavin are Rita Martens and Jay Warren. The play is directed by Romeo Muller and staged by Jamil Zakkai.

Rita Martens plays a girl who lives in a drought-ridden town in the West with her father and two brothers, who fear that she is fated to become an old maid. Jay Warren plays a picturesque character known as the Rainmaker, who appears on the scene to do-

Friends Meeting House Nears Completion

The Virginia Beach Friends Meeting House on Lotts Road near the new Linkhorn Park Elementary School is advancing in construction and is scheduled for completion the second week in September. This coincides with the opening of the Friends Day School which will operate a kindergarten, first, and second grade in the same building.

Mrs. Anna Belle Croonenburg, principal for the new school, announced that the teaching staff is now complete with the exception of Robert Harris as kindergarten instructor. Miss Harris is a graduate of the University of Virginia with a degree in primary education. She has had two years experience in kindergarten work.

Registrations are now being accepted for students for the three classes by Anna Belle Croonenburg at her residence 178 Pinewood Road, phone 1816, and Louise Wilson, 113 Pinewood road, phone 3143.

Lesley Savage, producer of the Theatre-Go-Round production, has a special interest in this play as one of her former players, Bert Remsen, who was seen here in 1953, played one of the leading roles in the Broadway production. "The Rainmaker" has been described as an ingenious combination of earthy humor, sex and melodrama. William Hawkins of the New York World Telegram and Sun called it "a cloudburst of a hit." And Robert Coleman of the New York Mirror noted its "admirable skill and insight into the human heart... a hit you must see."

Performances begin at 8:40.

Census Seeks Data on Workers

Special supplementary questions designed to find out whether employed persons are seeking full-time or part-time work will be asked in the August current population survey, according to Supervisor Ralph E. Bury, of the Census Bureau's district office at Richmond. The current population survey is conducted monthly and in 209 other areas of the country each month to collect up to date national figures on employment and unemployment. The survey will be carried out during the week of August 15 - 19, Mr. Bury stated.

Mrs. Geneva J. Thomas of Norfolk conducts the local surveys.

Mrs. C. A. Finnigan, Mrs. Thomas James, Mrs. Virginia Phillips, Mrs. D. J. Maher, Mrs. Pauline Whitaker, Mrs. Frank Auld, camp nurse; Misses Gay Sauls, Emily Bonney, Jackie McCoy, Sandra Milligan and Gee Tucker, program aides; Mrs. J. E. Fitch, Mrs. A. H. Hood and Mrs. Cathy Gladwin.

Perman's population of 5,600-600 almost matches that of Australia, a continent more than 200 times as large. Perman is 240 miles long and 85 miles wide, having about the same area as the Netherlands.

No Slowdown at Oceana Church

The vacation period has not slowed down activities in the South Memorial Methodist Church in Oceana. Activities for the week have included a picnic and business meeting of the Oceana Junior League on the beach, Aug. 10, and a prayer service on Thursday night and at the regular Sunday services August 14th and 21st.

The pastor, the Rev. F. H. Taylor, is continuing the services of the "Drive-in Church" at the Virginia Beach Drive-in Theatre, each Sunday morning at 9:30. This service is free of charge and an invitation is extended to all in the area who desire an open-air morning worship experience.

Miss Linda Harrell Chosen Queen Of Chesapeake Beach Festival

The Chesapeake Beach Summer Festival got off to a bang! Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. the parade led by Mr. Mister, of the East Ocean View Fire Department, mounted on horseback and carrying the American flag, set things under way. The rider preceded a convertible driven, as usual, by Buster Stephens, and carrying some of the girls in the Queen contest. Kenny Allen, also driving a convertible, took the rest of the girls who were in the Queen contest.

The Ocean Park Volunteer Fire Department, East Ocean View - Little Creek Volunteer Fire Department and the Chesapeake Beach Volunteer Fire Department all took part in the parade and lived things up with the sirens. Following the parade the Festival was opened, bigger and better than ever. Mrs. E. A. Hudson, president of the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach, sponsors of the Festival, reports that $1,350 was cleared on the event.

The crowning of the new Festival Queen was the climax to the day's excitement. The contestants, Miss Shirley McCullah, Miss Brenda Kelley and Miss Linda Harrell, had each been selling votes for a penny each and the secret of who was ahead was a well-kept secret.

R. J. Webbon acted as master of ceremonies, and the procession was led by the first Festival Queen, Miss Betty Lou Lester, followed by her runner-up, Miss Susan Harrell. Then Miss Julianne Meyerhoffer, who was the second year Queen, and her runner-up, Miss Rose Marie Hampton, who was the Queen the following year, and her runner-up, Miss Diana Drennan, followed in that order. Then last year's Queen - Miss Brenda Lee Smith, - and her runner-up, Miss Diana Drennan, were introduced.

At this time, when the girls had taken their places on the rostrum, the all-important announcement came over the loudspeaker: that Miss Linda Harrell was the new Festival Queen, and Miss Betty Lou Lester, who was the first year Queen, was the runner-up. Linda brought in $250.37, which was more than any Queen had ever brought in before. The girls were attractively attired in rainbow shades of ballerina length evening dresses, and each carried a nosegay, presenting a truly lovely sight.

The new Queen was crowned by Capt. Ronald K. Irving, USN, who just recently left Chesapeake Beach for new duties. The Queen received some lovely gifts and each of the girls was given a memento of the contest.

The over-all coordinators of the Festival this year were Mrs. L. E. Ledington, Mrs. Harry Fulford, Mrs. E. A. Hudson and R. J. Webbon.

The ways and means committee in charge of the event is composed of Mrs. E. M. Miller, Mrs. J. I. Davenport, Mrs. Ray Dall and Mrs. Miller.

"Hottest" Play Of '55 Season Starts Tuesday

"Oh Men, Oh Women," the hottest play of the 1955 summer stock circuit, will open a week's run at the Virginia Beach Theatre-Go-Round next Tuesday, August 16. The play will continue for the usual six performances, through Sunday, the 21st.

The play is a fast-moving comedy about a young psychiatrist who discovers that one of his patients has had an international love affair with his fiancée. The play ran for two full seasons in New York and has never before been produced in the Tidewater area.

Of special interest locally is the fact that Jean Gray, Theatre-Go-Round's beautiful ingenue of the 1951 season, played the lead in the Broadway production opposite Franchot Tone and Lloyd Bridges. Jean is one of the many Theatre-

Go-Round performers who have gone on to prominence in television and on Broadway. Performances start at 8 p. m. Tuesday through Sunday.

HIDDEN MOTIVE?

Since our editorial of last week appeared we have been flooded with suggestions and observations as a result of the unusual publicity attached to the discovery of alleged gambling in one night spot in Princess Anne County. Some of the observations are outlined in a letter appearing elsewhere on this page.

Suggestions as to what the grand jury might do covered a wide range. Some have stated that the sheriff and chief of police should be removed from office if gambling actually has been operated openly in the county. Others have stated that the owners of the property should be blamed. This would mean the owners of a place like the Surf Club would be guilty, or in the case of the O Club in Virginia Beach the guilty would be the executors that administer the estate that own the property.

Some have very pointedly stated that the publicity and fuss has been magnified as another point to help the City of Norfolk in its proposed annexation move against Princess Anne County. In other words, these people feel that it is an attempt to discredit Princess Anne County in the eyes of the public by Norfolk interests. This is a very interesting observation, particularly when we consider the prominent Norfolk citizens who probably lose more money in gin rummy games at the Staid Virginia Club in Norfolk in an afternoon than is lost in a week in Princess Anne.

The illegal sale of whisky also came in for comment with the point made that probably more whisky is consumed at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club than any of Virginia Beach or Princess Anne County's night spots. (Ed. Note: We are not condemning Virginia Club or Norfolk Yacht and Country Club members, but if you have money enough to belong to a private club you can drink in secret under Virginia's double standard laws.)

It is true that these operations could not have gone on without the sanction from someone, but, as has been pointed out, it looks very much like an attempt by the City of Norfolk to discredit Princess Anne County. While we definitely do not feel that these operations should be tolerated, we do feel that bootlegging and the illegal sale of whisky could be eliminated if the resort City of Virginia Beach were permitted, under local option, to have cocktail lounges.

In this connection it might be recalled that the City of Norfolk had a wholesale indictment of police officers a few years ago without a single conviction resulting from the publicity-made "scandal." The whole truth is that this latest publicity is a Virginia Beach - Princess Anne County problem and we believe the people here are capable of solving their own problem and we believe it should and will be done.

We are confident the problem will be worked out and while many may feel we should have amusement places and cocktail lounges, until the law is changed permitting these things the present laws should be rigidly enforced.

The people, themselves, have a great responsibility by not patronizing these places. This would be a sure way of stopping these operations. And, those who go about criticizing this condition should observe the law and be law abiding citizens and persons who people could point to with pride.

Thus far the present investigation has revealed only three places where the laws have been violated. This small number is encouraging and while it does not minimize the offense it does narrow the scope of these activities.

WHAT NEXT?

We have always harbored a feeling that Norfolk's Newspapers, the Virginian-Pilot and the Ledger-Dispatch, go out of their way in the treatment of news and in editorials to over-publicize events and happenings in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. This feeling, we know, is shared by many of our readers and residents of this area.

Much of the time the publicity subject is "blown up" to abnormal size when a like story concerning other localities in the area would receive its normal treatment that any good newspaper would give it.

However, we are not particularly interested in discussing Norfolk's Newspapers and their policies. But, last Sunday was a prime example of the treatment of news as practiced by the Virginian-Pilot. The news, itself, was handled quite properly but the head appearing on a story that told of "Miss Virginia Beach" being crowned "Miss Virginia" in the State contest in Roanoke read as follows: "Norfolk Girl Named Miss Virginia." That may not be the exact wording of the head, but the "Norfolk Girl" was the exact wording in that part of the head.

As a newspaper we know that it is quite easy to make mistakes, but this wording could hardly be classed as a mistake. The City of Norfolk had an entry in the contest and a very lovely one, too. Norfolk's entry did not win the title.

LITTLE GUY WHO CARRIES THE LOAD

Although the story out of Roanoke stated the winner was "Miss Virginia Beach" the newspaper wrote the head on the story to read: "Norfolk Girl." We can overlook mistakes but this could not have been a mistake in light of the story—or else the person who wrote the head did not read the story.

It would appear that Norfolk Newspapers is overly anxious to give Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County credit for some things, but on other matters that might give credit to the beach-county area, either the Tidewater area or Norfolk is given top billing.

We just wonder what to expect next with such a policy being pursued by these two newspapers, the only ones in the field in Norfolk and Tidewater.

DANGEROUS NOTION

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles holds wise and well-considered views on domestic problems, as well as those involved in the conduct of international affairs.

For instance, he has said: "Federal savings in large amount can be effected by greater economy and efficiency and by the people getting rid of the notion that all of their problems can be solved by dumping them in the lap of Washington. Washington, too, can help if it rejects the view that, because the federal government has unlimited powers to tax incomes, that implies an unlimited responsibility to try to remedy every ill."

Economy in government will begin when there is a new revival of local and individual responsibility and self-reliance.

BIG BARGAIN

As we all know, prices of practically everything are much higher now than they were 15 years or so ago. But occasional "bargains" still exist. And one of the biggest of them all comes into service each time we turn an electric switch.

Since 1939, the cost of living generally has soared 93 per cent. By contrast, the cost of electricity has actually gone down a little — by about three per cent.

This is due, in part, to a vastly expanded demand for power. In the home, on the farm, and in industry we use this marvelous and tireless servant to do all manner of jobs that were once done by far more costly, far more laborious methods, or were not done at all. And it is also due, in part, to great technological progress within the light and power industry and in the industries manufacturing electrical equipment. The economic benefits have been passed on to the customer.

The cost of electricity is one of the smallest items in the average family budget, and in the operating budgets of most businesses also. Yet the political cliques which want a socialized government monopoly of this vital service act as if it were one of the biggest and most onerous items. How long will people be fooled by this nonsense?

SOMETHING YOU THOUGHT YOU HAD FORGOTTEN

The Iron Crown of Lombardy is a gold diadem containing a narrow iron band three-eighths of an inch wide and one-tenth inch in thickness. This band, made of a nail said to have been used in the Crucifixion, and given to Constantine by his mother, is encased within a circle of beaten gold, set with large rubies, emeralds and sapphires.

The first Lombard king to be crowned with it was Agilnoth, in 569; he was followed by Charlemagne in 774, Frederick III in 1452, Karl V in 1550, and Napoleon I in 1805, who crowned himself with it as "King of Italy."

The motto on the crown reads: "God has given it me; beware who touches it."

THREE FOR A CROWD

Here's a card trick that's guaranteed to get your next card party off to a rolling start. Simple to execute, it doesn't involve any manual dexterity on your part. Just get out a full deck of playing cards and follow these instructions:

While chatting amiably with your friends, fan through the deck casually, face up, as though checking its completeness. BUT MAKE A MENTAL NOTE OF THE THIRD CARD FROM THE LEFT.

Leave that card alone but remove from the deck the other three cards of the same denomination. Thus, if the third card from the left happens to be a 4, remove the three other 4's; if a Queen, remove the three other Queens, etc.

Let's assume for this explanation that the third card is a 4. You've removed the three other 4's. Show the three Jacks face up briefly, and then place them face down on the table.

Put the balance of the deck (the 30 cards) face down alongside of the Jacks. Remove the top card of the deck and place it face down on top of the Jacks. On this card put a Jack from the pile of three, also face down. Then add a card from the stock, then another Jack, then another card from the stock and the last Jack—all of these of course, Jacks. You have now stacked up six cards in one small pile, alternately mixing them from the stock and Jacks. It is now apparent to your audience that the three Jacks have been broken up and mixed with the top three cards from the stock.

THREE FOR A CROWD

Now pick up all six cards in the small pile and place them on the top of the stock pile.

Turn up the three top cards on the pile of six. They will all be Jacks and your audience, expecting the Jacks to be "sandwiched" in between the cards from the stock pile, will be surprised... perhaps slightly astounded.

Here's the explanation: the three Jacks you turn up at the end are not the same Jacks which you removed from the deck. To see just how the cards from the stock pile, will be surprised... perhaps slightly astounded.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Light" Snack For Ducks

Coming back from Balaville the other night I noticed a powerful light at Whitley Fisher's Duck Farm. Seemed to be shining out over the water.

I stopped to ask Whitley what it was. He took me down to his pond and pointed out a 200-watt bulb—rigged up on a pole about three feet above the surface. The light was attracting thousands of insects for the ducks to eat.

Seemed kind of odd to me—but Whitley was enthusiastic. "Best idea I ever heard of," he claims. "Keeps the feed bill down—and the bug population, too. Why do you suppose I never thought of it before?"

From where I sit, Whitley's the type who's always ready to piece a worth-while new trick. Me, stuck to old methods. Just a case of personal feeling. I guess...

like the way you may prefer coffee with meals while I always prefer a traditional glass of beer. Not that I'd claim your man's opinion is my "guiding light."

CUBS TAKE CITY TITLE IN 2-GAME PLAYOFF

Eight-Run Spurge in 4th Enough Cut Giants Down to Size 9-6;

The Presbyterian Cubs tallied eight times in the fourth inning and then hung on to edge the Giants 9-6 Tuesday night. The victory gave the Cubs a sweep of the two game series and the city championship for the 1953 season.

Gary Williamson, Giant right hander, set the Cubs down in order until the third when the Presbyterians mustered three hits but failed to score.

The Giants loaded the bases with one out in the first but the Bruin hurler David Jones fanned the next two batters to quell the threat.

Williamson's two out single in the third scored Cason and Raymond Sanderlin to break a scoreless tie.

The American League champions staged an eight run rally in the fourth to forge into the lead. The outburst was highlighted by Peter Friedrick's two run single and Robert Clark's second hit of the inning, a bases loaded double.

The National Leaguers narrowed the margin with two unearned runs in the fourth and another pair in the fifth on successive doubles by Wilson and Williamson.

Robert Clark's fifth hit, and fourth double of the series, brought in David Jones with an insurance run in the sixth.

Lawford Sanderlin, leading off in the last of the sixth was thrown out attempting to bunt but Jones walked the next two batters. He bore down to strike out the next hitter Williamson with two away Peter Friedrick pounced on Bud Coppedge's grounder and threw to Berry for the final out bringing the city championship to Bill Wren's charges.

ings enabled the American League champions to tie the score at 2-2.

Errors gave the Giants a short lived 3-2 lead in the third until the Cubs came roaring back with two runs in the bottom half. David Jones led off with a single and Robert Clark brought him home with a double. The Cub pitcher charged head on into the Giant third baseman and was safe when the Moose infielder dropped the ball. He scored the Cub's fourth run on Leary's infield grounder.

The Giants tied the count in the fifth on a pair of Cub miscues after two were out but Johnny Fuller caught Lawford Sanderlin at the plate attempting to score on a passed ball to end the threat. Fuller threw out four such runners at home during the game.

Jerry Leary led off in the last of the sixth with a two bagger into left field. He took third on a passed ball and Bobby Ingram, batting for Heifrich, dropped a perfect bunt down the third base line to bring in Leary with the winning tally.

The Giants tied the count in the fifth on a pair of Cub miscues after two were out but Johnny Fuller caught Lawford Sanderlin at the plate attempting to score on a passed ball to end the threat. Fuller threw out four such runners at home during the game.

Dramatic Windup Sees Tigers On Short End of 17-16 Score

In one of the most dramatic finishes conceivable, the Presbyterian Tigers, down 12-4 after three innings, came roaring back late Saturday night in the American Little League playoffs, to edge the Rosewood Tigers 17-16 on the strength of a five-run last inning rally.

The Tigers threatened to make run-away of the contest in the early innings, as they capitalized on Leary's wildness and a shabby Cub defense to build up an 8-run lead. The Cubs came on defensively during the last three frames, committing only one miscue.

Playing with the determination and never-say-die attitude that has marked their play throughout the season, the Cubs rallied for 4 runs in the fourth as Robert Clark drove a double against the wall with the bases loaded and scored a moment later on Johnny Fuller's infield grounder.

David Heifrich led off the sixth with a walk and little Peter Friedrick lined a single to center putting runners on first and third. Berry capped a double into the right field corner, scoring Heifrich and Friedrick. David Jones fouled out attempting to bunt, but the catcher threw wild trying to double Berry at third and the runner scored, tying the game.

Clark lined his third double into left field and single by Fuller and Leary produced the winning runs.

With one out in the last of the sixth, Peter Friedrick made a leaping catch of a line drive off the bat of his brother, Bobby. Jimmy Crawford picked out a 3-0 pitch and slammed it off the fence for a double to keep the Tigers in the game, but was caught in a run-down and Friedrick tagged him out to end the contest.

The victorious Cubs hoisted little Peter to their shoulders and carried him off the field amidst cheers and shouts of triumph. The spirit of these Little Leaguers was typified by a Cub infielder immediately following the game. "We won!" he shouted, and then burst into tears.

Rotary Tops Tiger Nine; Potter Cets 3-Run Homer

The six-hit pitching of Don Pantone and a three-run homer by Lauren Potter paced the peppy Rotarians to an 8-3 triumph over the pennant-minded Rosewood Tigers.

The Tigers, fresh from their triumph over the Cubs, were helpless before the slants of Pantone. He struck out six and did not issue a single base on balls.

The Tigers drew first blood on a single by Lam and Bobby Friedrick's 18th double. From that moment until the sixth the Rosewood nine was able to muster only two scratch singles. Meanwhile the Rotarians, led by Eddie Turner and Lauren Potter, rapped Lam and his successor, Dennis, for eight runs.

Baldwin and Friedrick hit successive singles to open the sixth, and scored as Cordell Smith was safe on an error. Henry Gregory lined into a game-ending double play, thus setting the stage for Saturday's dramatic play-off contest.

Fall Fashion Show at Cavalier Panorama Room August 24th

By Kay Douglas Sewell

A fall fashion show will be presented on Wednesday, August 24, at 8 p. m. in the Panorama Room of the Cavalier Beach Club, sponsored by the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. Fashions will be by Montaldo's, and will feature such foremost contemporary designers as Trains-Well, Galante, Montezano and Prusan, Pierre Balmain and Christian Dior.

All proceeds from the show will go toward the planting and further beautification of Virginia Beach. The Council, 12 clubs strong, was organized in 1950, following a highly successful cleanup campaign directed toward trashy vacant lots and highways. To date its most notable achievement has been the $100,000 conversion of the unsightly strip of abandoned railroad right-of-way, previously known as "garbage gulch," and stretching from the Cavalier Hotel to Port Story, into a four-mile well-planted parkway. Only two years old, the planting on this parkway is now firmly established in spite of hot sun and salt winds.

Mrs. Gilmore Lee Tibbott, president of the Council, has said that the group's next aim is to beautify Laskin Road, particularly the entrance to Virginia Beach. "With the bridge tunnel from Newport News and from Cape Charles opening up in the near future, it is important to make our area look as attractive as possible," she said. Dogwood, the state flower, is especially being contemplated for extensive use.

Mrs. Lief Andersen, of the Cavalier Garden Club, is general chairman of the show. Mrs. John Bell, of the Linkhorn Park Garden Club, music chairman; Mrs. Andrew Moore, of the Bay Colony Garden Club, decorating chairman; Mrs. Ben Eke, of the Junior Virginia Beach Garden Club, entertainment chairman; Mrs. David G. Shuburne, of the Virginia Beach Garden Club, ticket chairman. Music will be by Buddy Myers.

Dancers to Entertain
During intermissions at the show, there will be a specialty dance by Martha Carr, also ballroom dancing by Arthur Murray dancers.

The twelve garden clubs comprising the Council are the Bay Colony, Birdneck Point, Cavalier, Linkhorn Park, Princess Anne, Virginia Beach, Junior Virginia Beach and the African Violet Society. There are also the Acre-dale and Lynnhaven Garden Clubs as well as the Camellia and Evergreen Garden Clubs.

Council officers, in addition to Mrs. Tibbott, president, include Mrs. George Mullen, vice president; Mrs. Everett Martin, recording secretary; Mrs. Taylor Johnson, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. E. M. Hardy, treasurer.

Tickets for the show, which are $1.10, may be purchased through Council club members, or at the Cavalier Club, the Ragged Robin Bookshop, Fanny's, Knitting Shoppe, Marie Richardson's, Fridley's, and the Mayflower Grocery. Mrs. Shuburne, ticket chairman, is wondering whether the Panorama Room, which seats a good 550, will be able to hold all who want tickets. "You know," she said, "that more than 850 women are going to be interested in a fashion show with models from top designers like that."

Problem Of "Dead" Servicemen Solved By Accounting Office

Newspapers have carried stories from time to time about the complex problems which develop when servicemen missing in action have turned up alive. When the government has presumed the man dead and has paid to next of kin the insurance, back pay allowances, and the six months death gratuity, the government also has its problems. Should Uncle Sam ask for return of the money? If the money has been spent or obligated, or it is otherwise impossible for it to be paid back, then what?

The General Accounting Office in Washington has recently announced its decision covering these cases, a decision most welcome to the harassed next of kin. It has ruled that if payments were legal and valid at the time they were made, the payee will not be required to refund any money in event the missing servicemen later show up alive.

Korean City Time Short

Many Virginia Korean veterans have already allowed the final date for entering training under the GI Bill to slip by without doing anything about it. Many more may lose their educational entitlement if they do not begin school this fall. Under existing law Korean veterans must begin their GI Bill training within 3 years from the date of discharge. Discharges from service were heavy during the fall of 1952 — this means that any of these veterans who want their education must enter school this fall if they want to take advantage of financial aid under the GI Bill.

major construction activities for 1955. Next year's building program, Captain Hale said, is hoped to include another aircraft housing area.

Emphasis in 1957 is to be on the construction of a new recreation center, officers' mess, commissary store, enlarged and improved enlisted men's club, married officers' quarters and additional bachelor officers' quarters.

the ground can be made far less harmful by plowing it under. This might well be done around the house and farm buildings, and ground that will be used for human or animal occupancy.

Stored grain that has any decent kind of cover to protect it from radioactive particles from the fallout should be usable for animal or human consumption or for seed. If the grain were not protected from fallout, it would be necessary to wait for several days until the radiation lessens. More information is still needed on the effect of radiation on grain planted in contaminated ground — as to what it does to growing plants, or its effects on humans or animals who eat those plants.

Available knowledge indicates, however, that the average farmer or rancher, warned of approaching fallout, should be pretty well able to survive it, preserve his domestic animals, and go on living and farming.

RESCUE SERVICE
Farmers living near large cities, such as those residing in Princess Anne County, might be asked for personal rescue service, as would every able bodied man within an effective distance of a bombed city.

Farmers would be called on to farm with efficiency and ability such as perhaps they've

VBHS Alumni Planning Dance, Homecoming

A meeting of the graduates of Virginia Beach High School has been called for next Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the high school cafeteria. Most of the nation's cities will be prime targets, and most of the strength for restoration must come from the farms and ranches.

Local Seniors Attend State Student Meeting

Frank Tarrall, Jr., and Billy Everett, seniors at Virginia Beach High School, have just returned from Harrisonburg, where they attended the State Student Cooperative Association convention as representatives of the Virginia Beach High School.

One of the highlights of the convention was a seminar on parliamentary procedure based on Roberts Rules of Order. The experience gained from the meeting will be especially valuable to Mr. Tarrall, who is president of the Student Body and as such will preside over all school assemblies, and to Mr. Everett, who has been appointed by the president as parliamentarian, and who will assist in the conducting of student assemblies.

Walter Parker, the faculty sponsor, was unable to accompany the students due to illness, and Bobby Deering, who is at home on vacation, accompanied the students.

Veterans Agent At Beach Today

Naval Air Station Chapel Scene Of Whitehurst-Odbert Wedding

The Chapel of the Immaculate Conception, Naval Air Station, was the setting last Sunday afternoon at four o'clock for the marriage of Miss Jacqueline Louise Odbert, daughter of Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Jack Alonzo Odbert, of Norfolk, to Donald Milton Whitehurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Woodworth Whitehurst, of Virginia Beach. Cmdr. E. A. Slatery, Chaplain, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Eugene Longman accompanied Robert J. Koch, who sang several selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white embroidered nylon tulle over taffeta, made with sweetheart neckline, short sleeves and matching mitts, a fully gathered skirt, floating into a chapel train. Her full length veil was arranged from a coronation crown of pearls and she carried a white prayer book topped with white carnations and showered with white carnations.

Miss Judith Lynn Odbert, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Donnelly and Miss Jeanne Pollock, of Norfolk; Miss Home Price Fahrmann of Arlington, and Mrs. John Zirlis, of New Haven, Conn.

All the attendants were full length gowns of pineapple chiffon over taffeta, with strapless bodice and bouffant skirts, topped with long stoles. They were matching headpieces of white veils held by coronet bands of illusion. The maid of honor carried a bouquet of white carnations, with touches of peach, and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of peach-colored carnations.

Reginald W. Whitehurst, Jr., of Danville, was best man for his brother, and the groomsmen were William F. Hull, Wilbur G. Snow and George B. Barco, all of Virginia Beach, and John C. Farham of Havertown, Pa.

Miss Jeanette Spain Becomes Bride Of Louis H. Kennedy

The marriage of Miss Jeanette Spain, foster daughter of Mrs. Addie Jones White of Knotts Island, N. C., to Louis H. Kennedy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Kennedy, of London Bridge, took place Saturday afternoon, July 30, at four o'clock, in the Knotts Island Methodist Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Pierre, pastor of the church. The church was decorated with gladioli, greens and cathedral candles. Mrs. Allie Bonney accompanied Mrs. Frank Matthews, who sang several selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her foster mother. She wore a ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin, embroidered in sequins and pearls. Her veil was arranged from a half hat of Chantilly lace, trimmed in sequins and pearls.

Miss Catherine Spain, of Oceana, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Munden of Knotts Island, and Miss Orlenda Capps, of Back Bay. All the attendants wore waist-length gowns of ballet blue crystalite and nylon tulle. They wore small pillbox hats of matching flowers and hair braid. The maid of honor carried a bouquet of yellow asters, and the bridesmaids carried pink asters.

Ernest Alexander, of Edenton, N. C., was best man and the groomsmen were Kenneth Whitehurst and Ira Whitehurst of Back Bay, and Clarence Pentress of Knotts Island. Mrs. Preston Jones was master of ceremonies.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church social hall. Later Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left for a wedding trip to the Skyline Drive. They are residing in Pungo. The bride traveled in a pink gabled suit with white accessories.

Three Virginia Artists Exhibit

An exhibition of paintings by three Virginia artists will open at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts on Friday, August 12. The exhibition will remain on view until October 7.

The three artists represented are Neil Blaine, Jack Whitney Clifton and Lella Jo Hook.

This will be the fifth exhibition of paintings by Virginia artists to be held at the Virginia Museum since the opening of the new wing last fall, and continues the policy established then of displaying living Virginia artists alongside other contemporary American artists.

Miss Blaine is a native Kentomander and the recipient of two fellowships from the Virginia Museum. Three of her paintings and paintings and a biographical article will appear in the forthcoming Art News annual.

Jack Whitney Clifton is director of the Art Center Studio School in Hampton. He is a graduate of the Art Institute in Pittsburgh and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia.

Lella Jo Hook is a graduate of Mary Baldwin College. She has had her paintings accepted by the museum for its past two biennial Virginia artists exhibitions.

IT'S Fun TO COOK!

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fashions... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, tune in "LET'S COOK," with Lucile Clark each day, Wednesday through Friday, at 12 o'clock, on station WVAH-TV.

It's natural that, as you know, there are good days and bad days. But when you are in the kitchen, you want to make the most of the good days. For your family, Canadian-style bacon is an excellent choice.

If you've wondered just where Canadian-style bacon comes from, here is the answer: It is the tender, succulent back strip or "center" of the pork loin. It is cured and smoked much like ham.

You can prepare this boneless meat by broiling, by broiling or pan-frying, or by pan-frying.

Obviously it is a versatile meat. Today I'm going to tell you about dishes you can prepare in your own, using Canadian-style bacon.

Not only for a favorite breakfast meat, but for many "extra-quick" meals, you can prepare in about 30 minutes, read on...

How does this sound?

Canadian-style Bacon Grill with Peaches, Apples
Scalloped Corn
Sliced Tomato-Cucumber Salad
Hot Rolls
Butter
Fudge Cake Squares
Beverage

For our first meal we have a Canadian-style bacon grill with peaches, apples and...

The bacon is sliced and the peaches and apples are cooked, pitted and sliced. For this dish have bacon cut about one-half inch thick.

First, place the meat on your broiler rack about 4 inches from the heat. Broil the peaches generously with melted butter or margarine. Then...

Family Growing Pains Relieved By Addition Of Rooms, Garage

Many an American family has found in recent years that the 2-bedroom house which looked like a mansion shortly after World War II now looks pathetically small.

The reason? Just look around you or at the latest statistics in this or any other newspaper. A bumper crop of four million babies was born in the United States last year. There are 84 million children under 18 today compared with 40 million in 1940. The number of four children being born to families is 60% greater than during the 1940's.

It's obvious more room is needed. Where is it coming from? Some families have deserted their modern two-bedroom bungalows for older but larger homes with seven, eight, and ten rooms. They are modernizing as time and budget permit.

If the family has both large numbers and large pocketbooks the solution is simple. Just buy a larger house. But that's the rare family.

Still a third solution is the one found by the Howard family in Glenview, Illinois.

Typical Story
Their story is typical. Three years ago when they moved into their 2-bedroom house it seemed small, but adequate. Then the four children were small. Within two years it was obvious they had to have more room and would need more as time went on.

After considering the possible solutions — building a bigger home, moving to an older but larger one, moving to the country — the Howards decided to stay put and expand their present home. They had the room on their lot, a few spare dollars and lots of ambition.

The Howard home had been one of the first new homes built in the country after FHA accepted shake shingle housing. The Howards decided to use insulating siding on the house since they could match the gray shake shingle pattern that had been used on the main part of the house. Insulating siding had served them well, helping to keep their heating bills low and being easy to maintain.

Insert broiler pan so that the top surface of the meat is 2 to 3 inches from heat, or at a distance to maintain a moderate temperature. Let them broil for 6 minutes, turning once. Then carefully turn the bacon and peaches. In the center of the peach half place a cooked, pitted prune. Again brush with melted butter. Return to broiler to grill for 6 minutes. Arrange meat and fruit attractively on a large platter and serve immediately.

Canadian-style Bacon with Spiced Applesauce
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Buttered Green Beans
Wilted Lettuce
Corn Muffins
Lemon Chiffon Pie
Beverage

Here's another tempting serving with a spicy touch. This time the bacon is topped with spicy applesauce and baked. To prepare this dish for 4 servings you need 8 or 9 slices of Canadian-style bacon cut one-quarter to three-quarters inches thick. First, combine 1 cup of unseasoned applesauce with one-quarter cup of brown sugar and one-fourth teaspoon of cloves and mix well. Next, place the bacon in baking dish and top each slice with 2 tablespoons of the applesauce. Then simply bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 20 to 30 minutes.

Again you have a highly flavorful and attractive serving ready for your table in only a short time.

work and built an over-size single garage, again covered with gray shake shingle insulating siding to match the house.

Planned expansion has proved to be a successful solution for the Howards in providing more room for a growing family. What's your solution?

Keep a couple of folding chairs handy for use in a very small kitchen.

Forks were first used in the year 1220.

Please to see what could be accomplished with a small outlay of cash, the Howards went to...

GARDEN GUIDE

RYE GRASS LAWNS

The best way to mow grass for refrigeration (not freezing) is with waxed paper all the way around the feed, leaving the ends open for free circulation of the cold air.

Try a hot and cold bath to bring out the full flavor of dried herbs. Place the herbs in a tea strainer, dip briefly in hot water, then in cold water before using.

Spread brown or waxed paper on your kitchen surfaces when you are doing peeling, cutting and scraping jobs. Wipe the paper after finishing and discard it, leaving a clean surface for you.

When you cook egg mixtures like cake fillings, scrambled eggs or custard, use a wooden or plastic spoon. Stirring with a metal spoon quickly when they are used with egg mixtures.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
County Home Agent

Do Your Housework The Easy Way

Here are several timely tips to make housework easier and more efficient and increase the homemaker's leisure time.

For instance, a few simple rules will make dish-washing quicker and easier. Wash dishes as soon as possible after use before food hardens. Put cooking utensils to soak after food is removed and while you eat. Scrape dishes, using a rubber scraper, and stack them to the right. Work from right to left to save motion. Rinse washed dishes in very hot water and place in drain to dry. This suffocates in bed, 19.

LEMON MILK SHERBET
2 cups milk
2 cups water
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon gelatin

Dissolve the sugar in the juice. Combine this mixture with the milk just before freezing.

Stir constantly while slowly adding the lemon juice and sugar to the milk. If the lemon juice is added rapidly, the milk will curdle but the curdling will not affect the quality of the sherbet.

Note: Evaporated milk, diluted or not, or reconstituted milk, may be substituted for the milk in the Lemon Milk Sherbet recipe.

Second "Dependents' Special" Under Consideration By Navy

A possible "Dependents' Special Number 12" is now in the works for Navy families going to the West Coast next month. The Navy's Bureau of Personnel has announced that the train is under consideration to transport families of the men aboard the Norfolk-based light cruiser USS Roanoke and the Rhode Island-based attack aircraft carrier USS Bennington.

The train would be similar to the one which departed from Norfolk last January, when some 35 local ships made the switch to the Pacific coast. Special Number 12 provided scores of special features to the Navy families, including a Navy doctor, hospital corpsmen, movies and a Walt Disney entertainment car for the kiddies.

The Roanoke, which is currently steaming as the flagship for Midshipman summer training cruise "Charlie," is scheduled to depart for the West Coast on September 21. Her new home port will be Long Beach, Calif.

The Bennington is scheduled to leave from Quonset Point, R. I., on September 9, and will be based out of San Diego, Calif. Both ships are making a normal transfer in accordance with the fleet's rotation policy.

The Navy has stated that a minimum of 125 adult fares, or its equivalent, must be obtained before the second edition of the "Diaper Special" can become a reality. In order for the Bureau to get an idea of the number of families in the Norfolk area interested in riding the train, a request has been issued that interested wives of the Roanoke men telephone 75th Naval District's Public Information Office at Madison 2-8311, extension 2355.

Predominating Colors Affect Us
According to some authorities, the predominating colors appearing on us play a far greater part than most people realize in our emotional reactions.

Too much violet and indigo are said to promote gloom and depression, but blue is cooling, sobering and soothing.

Green is neutral and seems to be neither sad nor showing, although it is a very rural and peaceful color when not too extreme in its shades.

Yellow arouses cheerfulness and warmth, provided it does not contain a greenish tinge; in this event it is said to arouse such sensations as jealousy, sickness and cowardice.

Orange is encouraging and stimulating and seems to adapt itself readily to various moods. The reactions of red vary according to the shade.

Whitey was enthusiastic. "Best idea I ever heard of," he claims. "Keeps the feed bill down—and

New Information Center

The planned layout for the new information center area to be constructed by Colonial Williamsburg just north of the restored colonial area is shown above. The principal building, the new information center, will be connected by a dual highway with the Colonial Parkway and its entrance into the restored area. At each side of the center building will be parking lots, each with a capacity of 500 cars as well as four buses. At left are the dormitories for visiting school groups. The entire area encompasses some 40 acres in the wooded tract between the Colonial Parkway and U. S. Route 66 directly north of Williamsburg.

New Information Center Planned For Visitors To Williamsburg

Construction of a new information center development north of the restored colonial area at Williamsburg will be commenced immediately and is expected to be in operation by early 1957, Kenneth Chorley, president of Colonial Williamsburg, has announced.

Under study for the past seven years, and expected to cost more than $7,000,000, the new development is designed to provide a central point for information, visitor facilities and historical orientation. Included in the 40-acre area will be a permanent information center, two school dormitories, a cafeteria, a motor hotel, a swimming pool and parking areas for more than 1,000 cars.

The new center will replace the present temporary Reception Center as the main introduction point to the colonial area. Located northeast of the Governor's Palace, the new center will be in the wooded tract between U. S. 66 and the Colonial Parkway entrance from Yorktown. It will be within walking distance of the restored area.

"The new information center and other supplementary facilities are essential to the attainment of Colonial Williamsburg's educational objectives," Mr. Chorley commented. He added, "Visitation has been increasing at the rate of 6% annually and by 1960 our conservative estimate is that more than a million people a year will visit Williamsburg. So that these visitors will continue to have an opportunity to enjoy the historic city in fullest measure, it has become necessary to expand our facilities."

The new information center building, a structure of 900,000 cubic feet, will be the principal building of the development. It will contain twin 250-seat theaters in which an historical moving picture on wide film will be projected on large 60 by 30 foot screens.

Two dormitories to accommodate visiting school groups at minimum rates are included in the plan. Last year 50,000 school children from 954 schools throughout the country visited Williamsburg, and a large continuing increase is expected in the future.

A quarter mile to the rear of the information center and separated by a broad green mall,

TOO BIG TO MISS

There are things that are more important than other things. There are events that overshadow other events.

They take precedence over them, dominate them, shunt them aside.

If the President of the United States were to visit the Beach, routine would be broken. This would come first; other things would be secondary. We should all adjust our business to this large event. Customary rules might be suspended. The lesser would give way to the greater.

The Christian Gospel tells us about the greatest event that ever happened on this globe. God came into human life. "The Word was made flesh . . ." When God did this He was not showing off. He was not performing a clever trick. He was not out for excitement. He did this for the solemn purpose of taking man's sin and sorrow to Himself that He might deliver man from them. The heart of the Gospel is this: "God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself."

The One You Can't Sit Out

The attitude of many people toward the Gospel is hopelessly unrealistic. They try to play around a little with it but take no stand on the basic issue is presents. They say they think Christianity is a good thing, that it seems to help a good many people, that they are perfectly open-minded about it. There may well be something in it and one day they will get around to making up their mind about it.

Christianity simply cannot be taken that way. It's too big, its claims too sweeping. There is one thing in this world you may not be open minded about: that is Jesus Christ. He must be accepted by you for what He claims to be, or rejected by you. This is one you can't sit out.

There are many illusions about Christianity. This one is foremost and most pathetic — that you don't have to decide about it or concern yourself very much about it. Many try to go along just like that, though. They think of Christianity as a sort of corner stone and themselves as standing around, loose and relaxed, hands in pockets, mulling the whole thing over, deciding what to do about it.

None of that is realistic. The actual decision has already been made. It isn't so much a matter of whether or not you shall choose God. The point is that God has already chosen you. What you are confronted with is a secondary decision. Since God has already chosen you for Himself, you are called upon to ratify that choice. The idea that you can ignore the whole thing and pay no attention to it is entirely unrealistic. It is an attitude exceedingly perilous. For to be with God, that is, in harmony with Him, is life. To be against Him is death.

Believe Compounded

What you will do with Christ is not only your most important question: it is one you will never evade. Yet many evasions are attempted. To contemplate them is both amusing and saddening. What is so impressive is not that people miss the boat — "many are called and few chosen" — but rather that they miss it by such an enormous margin.

Some go through life untouched by His splendor. The siren never seems to sound. They miss it all, for to miss Christ is to miss everything.

Classes Continued By Methodists; Air Conditioned

The Methodist Church, on 18th Street between Atlantic and Pacific Avenues, continues its complete Church School program for all ages throughout the summer months. Many visitors are attracted to the educational building, which, like the church sanctuary, is comfortably air-conditioned.

There are two complete sessions of the children's division — one at 9 a. m. and one at 10:10 a. m. In the early session children meet in the sanctuary for worship and a children's sermon by the pastor, the Rev. C. Stanley Lowell. They then pass to their classes in the educational building.

The Youth and Adult divisions of the Church School meet at 10:10 a. m. coincident with the second session of the Children's division. There are three classes in the Youth division and four in the Adult.

The Sunday evening program includes three groups — Intermediate, Seniors, and Young Adult Singles.

Bids Asked On Laskin Road Link To City Limits

The State Highway Department has called for contractors' bids to be opened August 24 at 10 a. m. on 18 road and bridge projects and six residency office buildings.

Among the primary highway work will be the completion of the limited access construction of Laskin Road To the Virginia Beach city limits, the extending and dividing of U.S. 17 south of Portsmouth from Victory Boulevard to Route 196, the rebuilding of Route 320 on Catawba Sanatorium grounds, and other projects throughout the state.

If satisfactory bids are received, small residency offices will be built at Sandston, South Hill, Waverly, Appomattox, Christiansburg and Jonesville.

The Laskin Road project will comprise the final 1.33 miles of divided highway from the Virginia Beach city limits to the end

CHINA AND PORCELAIN

China is the general broad term applied to pottery that has been made semi-transparent by adding bone to the materials used in its manufacture. Porcelain is a semi-transparent pottery made from natural clays with no bone being used. Some of the best examples of the latter are Chinese, Dresden, Limoges, etc.

Earthenware is a descriptive term used to distinguish opaque pottery from china, stoneware, terra cotta, etc.

The first stage after firing in the making of china is called "bisquit." In this stage the ware is white and porous and ready for decoration. The decoration applied to the ware when it is in the bisquit state is called underglaze, while that applied after it has been glazed is termed on-glaze.

Lusterware is pottery which has been decorated with gold, silver or copper.

The ten highest mountains in the world are in the Himalayan range in Asia. The highest mountain outside this range is Aconcagua in South America, with a height of 22,834 feet.

For every 10,000 population, on an average, five persons will be saved from dying of cancer this year, but 14 will die and 45 will be treated for cancer. Help by giving to fight this killer.

Swimmers Who Disregard Safety Signs Face Arrest

"No Swimming" Means Just That, Council Says; Drainage and Advertising Discussed

In the future when Virginia Beach's oceanfront displays "no swimming" signs those who might wish to go into the water had better heed the signs. The Virginia Beach City Council passed an ordinance Monday that would result in a fine and possible sentence for those disobeying such signs.

The matter was introduced at the Council meeting by Virginia Beach Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson, who pointed out that many persons went in the water during Hurricane Connie even though the signs had been posted and the Coast Guard had ruled the surf unsafe for swimming.

The ordinance as passed would make the offense a misdemeanor, but it did not specify the penalties. However, Chief Johnson said the punishment would parallel that imposed by the State misdemeanor laws, which sets fines not to exceed $500 or 12 months in jail.

Council received a report from City Engineer Charles Killebrew that it would cost approximately $40,000 to place a drain and fill a ditch adjacent to the W. T. Cooke School, which has been ruled unsafe by parent-teacher officials of the school.

Councilman W. W. McCaslin, Jr., voiced objection to such an expenditure and suggested the possibility of a fence. The matter was brought to council's attention at this time since the school year begins next month. Killebrew is instructed by Mayor Beach to give the matter further study.

A request for an appropriation of $600 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to help publicize "Miss Virginia" in the Miss American contest was forwarded to the

Local Police Are Cracking Down On Petty Thieves

Virginia Beach police have cracked down on a small wave of larceny of automobiles with four arrests, according to Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson.

"Break-in of automobiles, always a summer problem with us, has been held to a minimum this year until recently," Johnson stated.

Several arrests have been made and last Saturday two young men were brought on to the grand jury after preliminary hearing in the city's police court.

Arrested last week and bound over to the grand jury by the city were Clifford W. Carrier, of London Bridge, who is an escapee from the Norfolk City farm, and Jack W. Jarvis, of Oceana.

Johnson reported that on the night of Hurricane Connie automobiles in hotel parking lots were broken into. Two of these were in lots of oceanfront hotels and one occurred at the Cavalier Lodge.

The amount of goods stolen in these break-ins ran to several

Marine Corps "Poster Girl" Will Model in Fashion Show at Beach

Red-headed Mrs. Scott McCuskey will arrive at Virginia Beach this Sunday. She is the girl in the recent Women's Marine Corps poster, and she is coming to help model in the fall fashion show to be held in the Panorama Room of the Cavalier Beach Club on August 24 at four in the afternoon.

The show, featuring designs by McDonald's from such distinguished designers as Traina-Norell, Hattie Carnegie, Monte-Sano and Pruzan, as well as Christian Dior and Pierre Balmain, is being presented by the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County.

"We feel very lucky in having Yvonne McCuskey come down from Washington especially to be in our show," said Mrs. Lief Andersen, chairman of the committee in charge of putting on the show. "Of course, we knew she had once lived at the Beach, but when we asked her to model for us... a busy cover girl and poster girl... we weren't sure she'd say yes."

Yvonne, who in private life is the wife of Commander Scott McCuskey, USN, lived for two years on the corner of 72nd Street and Atlantic Avenue.

"My three little girls and I watched the entire transformation of 'Garbage Girl' into the lovely pathway it now is," said Mrs. McCuskey in accepting the invitation to take part in the show.

Further Beauty Planned
The purpose of the fall fashion show is to raise more funds for the further beautification of the Virginia Beach area, especially at the Laskin Road entrance. Music for the show will be supplied by Buddy Myer and his ensemble. During the intermissions, there will be specialty dances by Martha Carr, and ballroom dancing — Latin and waltz by Arthur Murray dancers. Stage decoration will be by Cofers. Other models in the show will include Kirkland Tucker Clarkson, formerly of Virginia Beach, now of Charlottesville; Martha Hatchett Owens, Peggy Thordike, Jo-lio Anderson and Jappy Chase, all of Virginia Beach, and Mary Dolie Driver and Betty Hardison

"Diane" Breezes By Westward of Va. Beach Area

Beach residents, to whom "pretty girls are no novelty" — and are indeed, welcomed guests — are a wee bit aggravated at the insistence of the recurrent visits of Miss Connie Hurricane and her ill-mannered sisters, notably, at the present instant, Diane.

Although "Connie" made a direct "hit" on the Beach, the eye of the big wind passing along the waterfront, no damage of sizeable proportions was recorded, due to her diminished wallop. Beachites and their fellow residents of the Tidewater area, are hoping that Sister Diane will also be "winded" as she passes Virginia.

Current prognostications indicate that Diane will pass to the west of Princess Anne County and the Beach, but winds up to 75 miles per hour may well be expected and precautions are being taken accordingly.

The fury of the storm has been somewhat dissipated, the weather bureau says, and that is all to the good. North Carolina felt the main brunt of Sisters Connie and Diane and damage there is running into the millions of dollars. But aside from business losses, this area has not suffered severely.

A "cheerful" note was injected into the Diane picture when the hurricane hunters spied what may be the third "sister" putting on her breezy best down where the critters are born. Further word on this development may prove that this is a false alarm, but wind-wise folks will watch with apprehension until the storm is laid — and buckle down for another blow next week if the storm starts its fateful trip.

ASC Ballots in Mail to Farmers

Ballots will be mailed to farmers for voting for ASC committee members August 19. Lucille A. Bass, ASC county office manager, announced today.

Farmers should vote for five persons — either those listed as nominees, or others who may be written in on blank spaces on the ballot.

Ballots must be mailed or returned to the Princess Anne County ASC office so as to be received by no later than August 26, if they are to be counted.

Farmers are eligible to vote who are of legal voting age, and who have an interest in a farm on which one of the approved ASC practices is being carried out this year, or who are eligible for a co-operator's loan or other price support. In addition, persons under voting age may vote if they are in charge of farming operations on the entire farm.

Mr. Hunter announced that because county office records are not complete for tenants and sharecroppers there may be a few farmers eligible to vote to whom ballots will not be mailed. Persons who believe they are eligible to vote and who fail to receive ballots in the mails, may apply for ballots at the ASC county office, giving information necessary to establish eligibility to vote at the same time.

Mr. Hunter urged all farmers to vote, pointing out that committee-men will have important roles in the administration of ACP, Marketing Quota and Price Support Programs. "ASC programs are of vital importance to almost every farm in this county, and the necessity of having good committee-men to administer these programs cannot be overemphasized," he said.

The gambling equipment was found tightly packed in the small room which measured approximately 18 feet deep and about four feet wide. A dismantled roulette table and wheel were found in the room.

The visit to Hickory House, or Pine Point was made late in the day by Jury Foreman Winn, Council and Special Investigator G. C. Riley of the Commonwealth Attorney's office.

At press time Wednesday there had been no new developments reported from the grand jury after its day-long session.

The grand jury investigation was prompted as a result of newspaper publicity early this month in a Norfolk paper that carried pictures showing alleged gambling in the Pine Room of the Surfcomber Room, which is adjacent to the Surf Beach Club.

Need for Continuous Supply of Blood is Stressed; Bloodmobile at Virginia Beach Monday Afternoon

Miss Harriet V. Allstock, R.N., administrator, Virginia Beach Hospital, has pointed out the real need for a continuous supply of blood at all times. The Virginia Beach Hospital is a 43 bed institution serving Virginia Beach and environs. In 1954 there were 1,762 admissions, 260 births, 415 operations and 318 blood transfusions.

"In most every major surgery case two or more pints of blood are used during the operation and this is followed up by more, according to the condition of the patient," says Miss Allstock. "A good many people are not aware of the fact that they or someone in their family entering the hospital for surgery are going to need this blood and that it is on hand for them to receive. A blood balance must be maintained in the body."

"When a pint is lost it must be replaced by a pint. Blood is a preventive of shock during a major operation. Every Caucasian section that is done is preceded by a blood transfusion as there is always a great deal of blood lost in this particular type of surgery."

"It is highly impractical and almost impossible for an institution of this size to maintain a blood bank. The contribution of the Red Cross Blood Bank has been a godsend and indirectly responsible for saving many lives here. It is our feeling that a small hospital could not utilize the advancements made in medicine and surgery without this supply of blood."

HERE MONDAY
Virginia Beach will be visited by the Tidewater Regional Bloodmobile Monday, August 22. The Bloodmobile will be at the Community House, 18th Street and South Avenue from noon until 4 p. m. The Red Cross will give refreshments that you take off without your time to discuss a pint of blood at that time.

"Connie" Puts Zest in Vacation Of Crippled Children to Beach

Fifty happy children made their departure Sunday for their home camping ground in Huntington, W. Va., after a full week of entertainment at Virginia Beach. Happy they were, as a result of every moment during their stay, made possible by the Rotarians and other groups, having been crammed chock full of entertainment and fun for all who came. Their broad smiles and genuine appreciation for everything done to make their vacation a pleasant one.

They were guests at the Arlington Hotel, except for one night on Friday evening they were moved from the Arlington to the gymnasium of the Virginia Beach High School for safety on account of the hurricane. Army cots from Fort Story were carried to the High School and they were served dinner in the school cafeteria and breakfast on Saturday morning, after which they were returned to the Arlington. Their outing of one night in the High School probably brought as much excitement as any one night during their stay, when suddenly a frog made an appearance in the gymnasium. Several news photographers were on hand at the time and they followed the children and the frog all over the gym, resulting in a "good time for all."

"Connie" Spares
Bayside Section

Your reporter is happy to announce that the Bayside area was spared any damage from the much-heralded hurricane "Connie." As far as can be ascertained there was no property damage and no trees were blown down. No power failure was experienced and were it not for some erosion on the beach (which was, thank goodness), washed clean there would be no evidence of her visitation.

However, the Diamond Springs area suffered a tragedy due to the storm. Chief Aviation Machinist, Joe Moore Allen, 1939, was fatally injured when his plane crashed at the Naval Air Station. He was on an evacuation mission due to the hurricane. He is survived by his wife, Ruth, and two children, Cindy, age 9, and Jeffrey, age 3½. Funeral services were held in Missouri.

With the 4-H CLUBS

L. BARNES ALLEN
Assistant County Agent

Each year the Electric Companies of Virginia sponsor the 4-H Electric Congress at Richmond. This year the Congress will be held at the Hotel Jefferson in Richmond on September 1 and 2.

One boy and one girl who have done outstanding work with their Electric Project are allowed to attend from each County. Carl Rudolph Osman and Mary Gates will represent Princess Anne County this year. Mary was the Electric Achievement Winner and Carl has shown a great deal of interest in electricity.

An outstanding program has been planned for this year. It is both educational and entertaining. Some of the highlights of the program are the presentation of awards, group discussion, tours, a party and a talk by Governor Stanley.

Princess Anne and several other counties will have exhibits of the congress. These exhibits tell the story of the 4-H Electric Project in each county. They show the achievements and progress made through the 4-H Electric Project. They also provide a medium for exchanging ideas and suggestions for improving the project.

The exhibits include material on how the project training was given methods used and subjects covered. They also show the accomplishments of individual club members and local clubs in the project. They are judged on the basis of attracting attention, pleasing appearance, the effective use of material and the way which they show how club members have participated in the project. Cash awards totaling $140.00 will be presented to the counties having the best exhibit.

Strict Tests Through Every Process Assure Safety of Salk Polio Vaccine

For the first time in history, a vaccine is protecting millions of human beings from paralytic polio. While the Salk vaccine will not work in every case, American children are being safeguarded against the dread disease, with no more risk than they would take in a vaccination against smallpox or a typhoid shot. The Salk vaccine must pass elaborate tests under the watchful eye of a government inspector at every stage of production. Then the final packaged vaccine is approved by the U.S. Public Health Service for distribution. Here are shown a few of the steps that assure American parents their children are being given a safe vaccine.

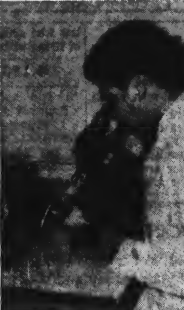

This technician is filtering dead cells and all other foreign matter from polio virus after it has grown on animal tissue in glass containers.

Virus is "cooked" in tank with formaldehyde (from bottle) until it is rendered harmless, after which it must pass exacting safety tests.

Animal tissue in tubes is inoculated with vaccine and let stand. If any live virus remains, it will multiply here, hence can be detected.

This expert is examining tissue after contact with vaccine, to determine absence of live virus.

"Hospital Look" Can be Avoided In Your Kitchen

Tired of that hospital look about your kitchen? Of the endless expanses of white porcelain? Then you have plenty of sympathizers, and as usual, some enterprising women are doing something about it.

Many women are finding welcome relief from this white sameness and sterility by rebuilding their entire kitchens in wood.

They find that wood offers some challenge to the imagination and gives them a wide variety of choice in color selection. Wood takes paint with readiness, and what woman doesn't like to dabble in the new and interesting colors. Wood can be stained, antiqued or finished clear to retain its warmth - natural color and texture.

Two of the most popular woods now being used in kitchens are Douglas fir and west coast hemlock. These two woods are versatile and durable, and they take any imaginable finish. They are warm to touch and sight and will wear a lifetime. One thing about well-finished wood in the kitchen is the ease of upkeep. A wax finish on walls needs only an occasional rubbing with a soft cloth to keep in perfect shape.

Unlimited varieties of ice cream may be made by adding different fruit pulps, crushed nuts or flavorings to basic ice cream recipes.

Monotony to Be Avoided

Home builders have a warning from one of the nation's leading architects to avoid monotony of sameness in their new homes as the nation faces up to the task of building over a million new dwellings each year in the future.

It is easy to avoid row-house weariness, Ralph Walker, prominent New York architect, recently told a Washington audience. All over the nation designers are showing the stuff American ingenuity and imagination is made of as they adapt wood — the world's oldest building material — to modern needs.

Saying there will always be a "coming age of wood," Architect Walker pointed out that wood is being used, not alone for its efficiency, but more because of the lasting delights found in its varied patterns, in its fragrance, and in its rare functionalism.

Lumber leaders echo Walker's enthusiasm for wood by pointing out the great renaissance in wood in modern American home design. There is an increasing use of some of the lovely and inimitable softwoods, like Douglas fir, west coast hemlock and western red cedar, throughout the home.

Designers are using the texture, grain, colorings and distinctive characteristics of these warm-toned softwoods more and more as the central design theme. No two pieces of wood are exactly alike and in this wide range of natural beauty, architects are finding the tremendously satisfying variety needed to give each home its own set of fingerprints and its own character.

CANADIAN CAPER

Here's an answer to big-city rent problems. "The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955" reports that in New Brunswick, Canada, an elderly man, believed dead when he was lost in February's blizzard, was found safe and sound, and smuggling into a gently snoring bear who was hibernating in his den. The Canadian was enjoying his Rip Van Winkle role—and the rent was low!

TALLYHO!

Those fat, healthy rabbits have an even smaller than usual chance of seeing the New Year in, according to "The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1955." The popularity of hunting continues to increase with latest national figures indicating 14,832,779 hunting licenses sold in one year. Michigan has replaced Pennsylvania as the state selling the most licenses.

"Touch Of Magic" Fashion Show Cast To Have 15 Male Members

When the Princess Anne Women's Club presents its fall fashion show, "A Touch of Magic," at the Cavalier Beach Club on September 4, there will be 15 male members of the cast, though not acting as models.

This is the second annual production for the club, again presenting fashions from the W. G. Swartz Co., Inc., directed for the second year by Alice Brewer White, who will also act as "Maiden of Ceremonies." The open cast of the Cavalier Beach Club will again be the setting and music will be furnished by the band directed by William Miller, director of music for the Virginia Beach High School.

A new addition to the cast is Bob McAllister, who will provide the "touch of magic." Mr. McAllister, of the "Bob and Chaucer" show, featured on WVEC-TV, came originally from Philadelphia and has been in his profession for 12 years. This work with magic came about as a hobby which led him to be a two-time winner on the original "Ted Mack Amateur Hour." "Bob and Chaucer" won a trophy for the best comedy act at the meeting of the Magicians' Alliance of Eastern States. In addition to its TV show, which has been performed on the USS Iowa and the USS Des Moines, in practically every civic club in this vicinity, and twice a year at least goes to the hospital shows. At present Mr. McAllister is vice president of the Local 103 of the International Brotherhood of Magicians and vice president of Blackstone Ring No. 1.

• FORT STORY TELLINGS •

Almost No Damage

The lethal punch packed by Hurricane Connie had become a mere slap by the time it rushed past Cape Henry. But Fort Story was alert for the worst. Connie could inflict. Dependents had been evacuated to safe shelters and the entire installation was on an emergency footing. Arrival of the storm at low tide eliminated any flood threat, and the winds, which in gusts achieved 70 miles per hour, caused only minor damage.

Storm Causes Cancellation of Gen. Hayford's Visit

The impending storm, however, first postponed and finally cancelled a scheduled three-day visit to Story by Maj. Gen. Bertram F. Hayford, the Army's Deputy Chief of Transportation. General Hayford was slated to have reviewed Reserve units training on the post and to have inspected Story's amphibious training facilities. His itinerary also included a morning-long Navy amphibious operation at nearby Little Creek.

Jacksonville Reservists
End Summer Camp

Story's new commander, Col. George E. Woods, Jr., shared the reveling stand with Brig. Gen. Elmo L. Patton, commanding general of the 375th Transportation Terminal Command "G," at the retreat parade that rang down the curtain on the Jacksonville Reservists' two weeks of summer camp. Colonel Woods was warm in his praise of the Reservists' training and deportment while at Story. "We shall welcome you back again next year," he told the massed troops before they passed in review.

375th TTC "B"
Training at Story

Meantime another Reservist group, the 375th Transportation Terminal Command "B" from Mobile, Ala., moved into the summer camp facilities caved by the 1954 Hurricane Connie had cut short the latter's LOTS operation. The new group, which is commanded by Col. Henry K. Toenes, will train at Story for two weeks, following the cargo handling and ship-to-shore training schedule established by earlier Reserve units this year.

Safety Program at Story
Paying Off Handsomely

Congratulations of Col. George E. Woods, Jr., went to Lt. Col. James F. Wolaver, commander of the 10th Transportation Battalion which in a month's time came out tops in the post's vigorously stressed safety program. The 10th, despite heavy training activity, had no motor vehicle accidents at all. In the military injuries rate, the 376th T Battalion led the field with only three first aid injuries. As for civilian injuries, Non-Appropriated Funds came first with nary a scratch.

Coin Collection Display
Treat for Story Personnel

Coin collectors at Story had a treat this week when the post's management chief, W. Glenn Elliot, exhibited the cream of his huge collection of coins and currency at the Service Club. More than 93 countries were represented in the display of 1200 coins and 2000 bills, including a U.S. three dollar gold coin minted in 1840, a 1733 Virginia halfpenny, and an Indian travancore, the world's smallest coin, about the size and shape of a pea. Elliot has been adding to his collection for the past 45 years.

Capt. Herman W. Mills
Joins Story's S-4 Section

New member of Story's S-4 Section is Capt. Herman W. Mills who has been assigned as Chief of the Small Purchases Branch, Captain Mills, who comes to the post from service in Greenland, dates his army career from 1935 and has spent a good share of it in foreign service. He was stationed in Panama from 1935 to 1937, in the Marianas from 1945 to 1946, in Korea and Japan during 1946-47, in Alaska from 1950-52, and in Greenland for the past year. His home is in Newark Valley, New York.

Other Newcomers
Arrive at Fort Story

Other new officers recently assigned at Story include 2nd Lt. Lindsey L. Clark, Jr., of Decatur, Ga., to the 604th Duke Company; 2nd Lt. Charles H. McCutcheon, Jr., of Fort Washington, Pa., also to the 604th; 2nd Lt. James E. O'Laughlin of Shakopee, Minn., to Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 10th T Battalion, and CWO Rodger F. Ruch, to Post Headquarters.

nounced. However, the flower girl will be little Mary Robertson Motley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Motley. The "mother of the bride" will be Mrs. David Myron Schlatter, wife of Lt. Gen. David Schlatter, USAF.

Telephone Hour On Air for 800th Time Monday

The Telephone Hour's program on Monday, August 22, will be the 800th consecutive weekly broadcast in the series since it began on April 29, 1940. Mildred Miller, brilliant young American mezzo-soprano, will be featured as guest artist.

Donald Voorhees, who has conducted the Bell Telephone Orchestra since the beginning of the series, has compiled a few interesting statistics about the 800 broadcasts of the Telephone Hour, which is devoted to the world's great music, performed by the world's great artists.

Approximately 4,900 musical numbers will have been presented on the 800 broadcasts. Some of these are repetitions, but there have been about 2,500 different selections. No selection on the Telephone Hour is repeated more than once every two years. There have been 116 guest artists and five choral groups (be-

Children's Home Society Fund Drive Begins September 19th

Mrs. Richard M. Cooke, 1955 Chairman of the Princess Anne County Drive for the Children's Home Society of Virginia met with committee Chairman Tuesday to go over plans for the forth coming campaign scheduled to begin September 19th.

The Society, Virginia's oldest and largest adoption agency, is supported entirely by gifts from various community chests, private individuals, and groups, in the state who wish to have a part in continuing this type of work.

"The work of the Society is for the benefit of babies whose own parents, because of various circumstances, have had to give them up permanently, and these babies come to the Society in need of help," Mrs. Cooke said. "I hope the people of Princess Anne will give generously to our campaign for funds," she added. The campaign starts September 19th.

Two dollars will take care of a child's expenses in a boarding home for one day. Ten dollars will take care of all the clothing a child will use while he is the responsibility of the Society, while thirty-five dollars will board a child for an entire month, the records of the Society indicate.

The Children's Home Society now has nearly 1,800 requests for adoption of babies. This indicated that this organization is not only watching out for the babies in their care but is also bringing to the homes seeking adoption of children a happiness which can be found in no other way.

Committee Chairmen who will assist Mrs. Cooke in planning the drive are Mrs. David H. Hatcher, Virginia Beach; Mrs. O. Russell Gimbart, Lynhaven District; Mrs. Charles M. Pitt, Kempsville District; Mrs. O. L. Smith, Blackwater District; Mrs. R. G. Holman, Bayside Area; Mrs. Tifford Williams, Pungo District; Mrs. L. Crawford Sycer, Public Relations; and Mrs. G. Bently Byrd and Mrs. Floyd Dornier, both past Drive Chairmen.

HURRICANE TIPS

Do not forget that washing your plants will help considerably to rid them of salt spray and the effects of it. This applies to lawns as well as shrubs. A burst of water around the more tender varieties will help them even more.

Staking, bracing, and tying young trees of old holly hedges will prove a big benefit to them to help prevent the damage from splitting. Be particularly certain to brace any trees or any shrubs that were loosened or blown over by last year's hurricanes.

Question: The tropical foliage plants in my state are growing very poorly and in some cases are being killed. Can you suggest what the trouble may be?

Answer: In all probability there are one or two factors which are affecting your plants.

First, as is the usual case with tropical foliage plants, they probably are planted in fancy china containers that have no provision for the surplus water to drain away. This will create a water-logged condition in the container and soon the plants will show very poor growth habits. The situation, of course, can be best alleviated by using containers that have a provision for drainage or by extremely judicious watering.

Second, your trouble may be that if your store is air-conditioned, the cool air plus a lack of humidity provides an environment not conducive to the prolific growth of the plants. Their natural habitat being warm, humid areas, makes them unsuited for an air-conditioned area.

Question: I've been told that now is the correct time to make slips or cuttings of my plants. Can you tell me how this should be done?

Answer: Cuttings may now be taken from many ornamental plants with a good percentage of satisfactory results. The dry weather undoubtedly has caused many plants to harden prematurely and may cause them to be a little slower in initiating roots. If you wish to root ligustrum, euonymus, gardenias or plants of this type, take a section of the stem near the tip, cut off the very tender growth on the tip and make a good clean cut at the base approximately 1/4" below the intersection of a leaf. This should give you a cutting six to eight inches long. Strip off the lower leaves, leaving only two to four at the top of the cutting. The cuttings should then be inserted in a box or pot of sharp sand that has been dampened and packed, or loose damp vermiculite. Firm the media about the cuttings. Keep them shaded and well watered. They should root in about six to eight weeks. Rooting may be hastened by a week or more if the cuttings are dipped into a root promoting powder such as "Rootone."

Mental Hygiene Clinics Relieve Burden on Hospitals of Nation

Mental hygiene clinics of the Veterans Administration are keeping an average of 3,500 mentally ill veterans out of hospitals every year.

The Veterans Administration reports that a great number of these veterans are engaged in useful, productive work while receiving treatment and generally improve sufficiently to end their outpatient treatment.

The cost of treating these 3,500 in mental hygiene clinics an average of once a week for one year is roughly $1 million. The cost of treating the same number of patients in a neuropsychiatric hospital is about $5 million a year.

VA estimates that about $4 million a year is saved in preventing hospitalization.

Only veterans with service-connected neuroses or psychoses may be treated in VA's mental hygiene clinics. The law does not permit the treatment of non-service-connected cases on an outpatient basis.

VA is operating 62 mental hygiene clinics throughout the country. Of these, 26 are in regional offices, 14 are in hospitals, and 22 are in smaller VA offices. VA also operates one traveling clinic.

In addition, VA uses the services of 46 contract clinics, most of them state or community agencies.

In a recent month, some 26,000 veterans received 50,000 treatments in VA and contract clinics, with VA clinics furnishing two-thirds of the treatments.

About one-fourth of the patients come to VA clinics on their own. Another 25% are referred by other medical divisions of VA's regional offices. Approximately one-eighth are referred by VA contract representatives and the remainder come from other sources, including community clinics, social agencies and the like.

VA's mental hygiene clinics form the largest network of such outpatient clinics under one management in the country. As such, they have become a pioneer in outpatient psychiatry.

Tidewater Regional Planning & Economic Development Commission Submits Report to Governing Bodies of Cities and Counties of Area

F. Mason Gamage, representing Princess Anne County, and Frank Tarrall, representing the City of Virginia Beach, were members of the ten-man committee which is issuing the report of the Committee for the formation of the Southshore Tidewater Regional Planning and Development Commission.

The committee has given considerable time and much serious thought to the content of the report and to its possible effects upon the social and economic well-being of Southshore Tidewater, a spokesman declared. "We believe that we are one people with a common goal — our own betterment through a continually advancing environment — and we believe that this goal can best be assured through well-ordered, and comprehensive and long range regional planning. It is the hope of the committee that the governing body of each municipality and county in the Southshore Tidewater Region will take favorable action on the formation of a Regional Planning Commission."

The Report

On January 25, 1955, the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce sponsored a meeting to discuss the formation of a regional planning commission for the Virginia Tidewater area south of Hampton Roads. This meeting was attended by officials and citizens from the cities of Norfolk, Portsmouth, South Norfolk, Virginia Beach and Suffolk, and the counties of Princess Anne, Norfolk and Nansemond.

The immediate result of this meeting was the appointment of a committee to study and report on the functions of a regional planning commission. The committee consisted of one representative from each of the cities and the counties named above and also the Town of Franklin, Virginia. Mayor R. L. Woodward, Jr., of Suffolk, has served as chairman of the committee.

The following is the report of the committee. The purpose of this report is to provide information for the use of each council and board of supervisors in deciding whether or not to participate in the formation of a regional planning commission.

Function of a Regional Planning Commission
The commission considers that a regional planning commission could accomplish the following:

(1) Economic and Population Studies—Any sound planning for physical facilities such as schools, utilities, and streets must be based on predictions of population changes and growth. Population changes are, in turn, substantially affected by the economic development of the area. In a metropolitan area which is divided into several political units, the economic condition, and thus the population growth, of the individual cities and counties are so interrelated that the only realistic way to analyze the economy and population trends is on a region-wide basis. A regional planning commission could perform this basic research and provide information valuable to the local government, their planning commissions, school boards, and public works departments, as well as the Tidewater Virginia Development Council.

(2) Co-ordination of Plans—The several cities and counties concerned have engaged in planning, to a greater or lesser degree, in an effort to provide for a more desirable development than has taken place in the past. All of the local governments have planning commissions and most of them have zoning ordinances and subdivision control ordinances. The zoning map, if carefully administered is a device for bringing about the best use of land in the right place; obviously the zoning maps of the area should be pieced together to form a single consistent picture. The subdivision control ordinance should, for best results, have generally uniform requirements, particularly because the cities have overlapping jurisdiction into the counties. A particularly good result of subdivision control, if related to a major street plan, is that rights of way for through streets can be reserved in advance of development; thus a carefully designed pattern for arterial streets can be laid down in advance, and then realized as the land is platted. A regional planning commission could, by developing a general land use plan and major street plan for the entire area, provide a framework for co-ordinating the plans, zoning maps, and subdivision regulations of the various cities and counties.

A particular problem in the Commonwealth of Virginia is that the institution of city-county separation has a tendency to create a barrier between city and county governments. It is a fact that the most crucial need for planning is usually in the county in the area immediately adjacent to the city, the so-called "urban fringe." The co-ordination of plans of the city and the adjacent county is particularly important in this area; a regional planning commission could provide a meeting ground for bringing about this co-ordination.

(3) Special Studies—A regional planning commission could be of service to the local governments in undertaking any special studies on a area-wide basis which may from time to time be desirable.

Relationship to Tidewater Virginia Development Council
If a regional planning commission is formed its relationship to the Tidewater Virginia Development Council should be clearly defined. There should be no duplication of activities between the two organizations. The primary purpose of a regional planning commission would be to assist the local governments and planning commissions and to co-ordinate their activities. It would probably be desirable to have some line of connection between a regional planning commission and the Development Council, inasmuch as research developed by the planning commission could be useful to the council.

Organization of a Regional Planning Commission
Under provisions of the state enabling act a regional planning and economic development commission can be established after agreement between the governing bodies of any group of municipalities and/or counties. The number, qualifications, terms and method of appointment of members are not specified except that at least one member from each county or municipality shall be a member of the local planning commission.

It is the recommendation of this committee that the governing body of each municipality and county take action on the question of whether or not they desire to participate in the formation of a regional planning commission. Those which consent to participate would then each appoint three members, one of whom shall be from the governing body itself; one from the planning agency, and one shall be a resident citizen.

Financing of a Regional Planning Commission
The amount of an operating budget would necessarily be determined by the regional planning commission and would be subject to approval by the governing bodies of the municipalities and counties which participate. In view of the fact that both state and federal funds are available on a matching basis to assist regional and metropolitan planning activities, it appears likely that a satisfactory operating budget can be attained with a nominal local contribution, approximately one cent per capita, based on the 1950 U. S. Census.

Copies of the above report are being distributed to each city and county governing body.

Thousands of children at the Virginia Beach amusement center have thrilled to "Texas Todd's" amazing rope and whip tricks and the pickle-like antics of his pony, known in movie circles as "the horse who dances." They appear twice daily at the park's outdoor stage, at 4 and 8 p. m.

Present in addition to the children and their house mothers were Mrs. Olive Dowling, hospital chairman; Mrs. Thelma Hindline, Mrs. Christine Whitaker and Mrs. Doris Parrish, all members of the Women of the Moose Auxiliary of Virginia Beach; Thomas Bunting, Munford Hindline, Ralph Whitaker, James Parrish, Jack Kessler, Norman Stone, Luke Diller and Mr. Carter, all members of the local Moose Lodge.

Senior Medical Students May Complete School As Navy Officers

Qualified medical students who have completed their third year of medical school may now receive commissions as Naval Ensigns and continue their studies at their own medical schools while on active duty under a new program announced by the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

Selected senior medical students will receive the full pay and allowances of an ensign while attending school and will be required to serve a minimum of 3 years on active duty with the Navy after graduation.

The new program is designed for the medical student who has 24 months of obligated military service to perform. The program would fulfill this obligation and add an additional 12 months of service in return for finishing school while on active duty with the Navy.

An ensign with no previous military service and no dependents would receive $308.56 per month. Previous military service and dependents might raise this figure to as high as $445.38 per month.

Applications are invited to students accepted for enrollment in their senior year in a medical school accredited by the American Medical Association. The applicant must be either presently a Naval Reserve Ensign with a medical classification or agree to accept either a commission as a Regular Navy or Reserve officer, upon selection in the program.

Insulation Helps Cut Costs When Air Conditioning Is Installed

Our economist has stated that the country could avoid a depression for the next 25 years by merely passing a law that every new home or apartment building or office building must be built with air conditioning.

He reasons that the resulting increase in the gross national income and spending power would provide impetus for a boom that would continue indefinitely.

We doubt whether such a law is ever passed. But without it, air conditioning is still on its way to becoming as common as central heating.

Sight now it costs considerably more to operate an air conditioning system than it does a central heating system. So all the advice about the advantages of insulation, storm windows or double glazing, weather stripping and protection from prevailing winds is even more pertinent for the air-conditioned home.

Points to Watch
There are lots of things you can do to an older house to make it more suitable for air conditioning. If you're building a new house, there are also many points to keep in mind regarding air conditioning, the most important

Little Drip in Your Home? -- How to Stop It

Do you have a little drip in your home? It's costing you money—perhaps more than you imagine, say the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. In a day the steadily dripping faucet can waste almost as much water as one member of the family will use during that day.

Saving water is mainly a matter of thinking about the subject whenever you turn on a faucet. Here are some suggestions on ways to save:

Shower usually require 25 gallons of water. Bathe 30. Reduce these figures by turning off the shower when soaping and turning it on again to rinse, and save 15 gallons. Substitute a partly filled tub for a full one and save 10 gallons.

Washing dishes under running water can use up to 30 gallons per meal. You can save by using a dishpan or sinkstopper.

Letting the water run all the time you are brushing your teeth is wasteful.

Use the basin instead of the shower for the shampoo.

Turn off the hot water faucet when shaving and save up to 25 gallons of water.

It is usually best to keep your water heater on an even setting. If you want to know whether you're using the average amount of water, read your meter at the beginning and end of a representative period and calculate your consumption per person per day.

If it's 25 to 35 gallons, that's pretty good. Fifty is about average. Anything above that is too high for household use.

being to provide for air conditioning now and save yourself a lot of money later on.

Insulation is critical in the air-conditioned house, new or old. It can reduce your operating expense by as much as 40%. Moreover, good insulation makes it possible to use smaller air conditioning units, cutting down on the initial investment. So you have two ways.

It is important to have insulation in both the sidewalls and under the roof. The importance of sidewall insulation has resulted in increased use of insulating siding in combination with insulating sheathing for new homes. Combining the two materials provides highly effective yet economical insulation.

Siding in Panels
Both insulating siding and insulating sheathing come in big, easy-to-handle panels. Insulating siding comes with a factory finish which is good for the life of the material. So the cost of painting is eliminated both as an original cost and as a maintenance expense.

If you're planning to install air conditioning in a middle-aged home, insulating siding may be especially attractive to you since it can be installed over existing walls, providing in most cases all the additional insulation that is necessary.

Economy-Minded Farmers Should Examine Livestock Labor Costs

ANNUAL LABOR COSTS NOW ABOUT SAME AS IN 1945

How much labor in a livestock dollar?

Agricultural engineers at VPI say economy-minded farmers had better take a good look at labor methods in livestock production as a result of some new figures from a U. S. Department of Agriculture study.

Since the start of World War II, farm wages have quadrupled. But labor needs for livestock production were cut only 7% during the period, while crop labor needs were cut 34%. Livestock now takes 60% of all farm labor.

It takes almost as much labor nowadays as it did 50 years ago to keep a single livestock unit—a cow, few chickens, and a few pigs. Progress has bypassed this phase of farming.

The study showed that among livestock, the big labor user is the milk cow. It takes an average of 61.7 man-hours to produce $100 worth of milk. That covers only labor directly applied to livestock, such as feeding, milking, hauling feed, cleaning barns and pens, and moving and disposing of the animals and their products.

Here are some of the other man-hour requirements per $100 of product: 45 man-hours for laying and replacement chickens; only 11.9 man-hours for the more centralized and mechanized broiler production; 26.8 man-hours for sheep; 23.8 man-hours for turkeys; 15.9 man-hours for hogs; and 15.8 man-hours for beef cattle.

Feeding also heads the list in labor required per animal per year. It takes 149 man-hours for a hand-milked cow, but 26% less—111 man-hours—where cows are machine-milked. Feed and litter carriers, barn cleaners, manure hauling equipment, pipeline and bulk handling of milk, and maintenance of large herds and high-producing cows all made for less work per unit of product.

Notes from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Electric Congress Plans Announced

County winners in the 4-H farm and home electric project from throughout the state will attend the 15th State 4-H Electric Congress in Richmond, September 1 and 2.

Dr. W. E. Skelton, state 4-H agent at VPI, says the purpose of the Congress is to honor and entertain 4-Hers who have done top work in the project. Some 300 people, including VPI Extension Service employees, power supply representatives, and others, are expected.

Highlight of the program will be the announcement of district and state award winners. District winners will receive engraved gold watches. The individual state winner will receive a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in November. The county conducting the most outstanding electric program during the past year will receive a bronze achievement plaque.

Speakers will include Dr. John R. Hutcheson, chancellor, VPI, on Thursday, September 1, and Robert Scott, farm youth advisor, Westinghouse, Pittsburgh, Friday, September 2. County exhibits and demonstrations will be featured.

Also planned are tours to the State Capitol and other historical sites in Richmond.

Attending from Princess Anne County as County Winners are Carl Osman and Mary Gates.

August Vegetable Prices

What about vegetable prices this month? With some reduction in acreage of lima beans for freezing, demand for fresh limas should hold prices at $1.50 to $1.75 per bushel.

A slightly smaller acreage of snap beans, with larger yields, should result in production comparable to 1954. Expect $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel.

A somewhat smaller production of beets than in 1954 should keep prices at about 75 cents to $1.00 per crate of two dozen bunches. Heavy supplies of sweet corn may result in prices down to $1.15 to $1.25 per five dozen ears.

Heavy cucumber supplies may reduce prices from 75 cents to $1 per bushel.

Adequate supplies of eggplant in relation to demand are expected to weaken prices to 75 cents to $1 per bushel hamper.

A somewhat inadequate demand is expected to keep prices of onions near $1.50 per 50-pound bag.

Heavy supplies of green peppers may force prices as low as 75 cents to $1 per bushel.

Squash prices will range near 65 cents a bushel.

Cured Puerto Rican sweet potatoes out of storage will bring around $5.00 per bushel. The new crop may decline to $3 by the end of August.

About the same acreage of tomatoes as in 1954, with increased yields, is expected to result in heavy supplies and prices of from 75 cents to $1 per bushel.

Overlapping of producing areas and heavy shipments of watermelons in August may result in prices of from 15 to 30 cents each for U.S. No. 1 grade of 22 pounds average weight.

Cover Crops Aid Home Gardens

A good cover crop in the home garden will help hold down erosion and add valuable organic matter when plowed under.

Crimson clover seeded in August at the rate of one pound per thousand square feet makes an excellent cover crop in many parts of Virginia.

Some gardeners favor planting crimson clover between the rows at the last cultivation in August. After a good growth of the clover is up, it helps hold down weeds but does not get large enough to harm the vegetables until they have been killed by frost.

Wheat, oats and barley may be used in combination or planted separately as a cover crop later in the fall. Wheat and rye may be planted up to frost, and for some time afterwards. Rye, wheat, oats and barley should be seeded at a rate of four pounds per one thousand square feet of space. Decide on a cover crop early and plan to grow one this year.

There's still time to plant several vegetables for a fall garden if you get to work right away. In most parts of Virginia snap beans, cucumbers, beets, turnips, leaf lettuce, upland cress, kale, mustard, turnip salad and spinach can still be planted.

Why Have Broiler Prices Held Up?

Marketing specialists at VPI aren't ready yet to admit that the old law of supply and demand has been repealed. But lots of people are wondering why the farm price of broilers has been 3 to 4 cents a pound more during June and July than during the same two months in 1954, when the supply is 15 to 20% greater.

It isn't likely that the demand for broilers increased enough to over-balance the substantial increase in supply. But here's a theory recently advanced:

Since market egg producers in 1954 had a relatively unfavorable year price-wise, they were not replacing their flocks at a normal rate in 1955. About 18% fewer young chicks are being raised for flock replacements this year. With this reduction there is a tremendous reduction in the number of cockerels available for consumption from flock replacement chicks. This has a definite counterbalancing effect on the increase in broiler production, and is a decided factor, it is believed, in holding broiler prices up.

The specialists say, however, that broiler prices cannot be expected to hold at present levels with production as high as it has

Potato Growers Meeting Today

The annual meeting of the Association of Virginia Potato and Vegetable Growers will be held at two o'clock this afternoon at the American Legion Hall in Belle Haven. John C. Datt, director of the Fruit and Vegetable Department of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will be the featured speaker. Mr. Datt has been very close to developments in vegetable and potato marketing and related problems, and is a national authority in his field.

He will discuss vegetable and potato prospects for the remainder of 1955 and for 1956. He will also cover modern trends in marketing of vegetables and will review new national legislation in agricultural matters as it affects the Eastern Shore.

Mr. Datt is also expected to cover the problem of control of diverted acres which officers of the Association of Virginia Potato and Vegetable Growers believe is a necessity if vegetable and potato growers are to enjoy profitable markets.

been the last few months. With broiler holdings in cold storage at less than half what they were a year ago, fewer cockerels from laying flock replacement chicks going to market, and reluctance on the part of market egg producers to cull old hens, it is harder than usual to determine just when the market will weaken.

Specialists guess that there will be a substantial softening in broiler prices before the end of August.

"Touch of Doom" For Onion, Garlic

A unique suggestion for ridding your lawn of unsightly wild onions or garlic plants is forthcoming from plant pathologists at VPI.

They explain that a waxy protective coating on the leaves of garlic and onion makes these plants more resistant than most weeds to treatment with chemical weed killers.

Mix a 5% solution of 2,4-D in water (about 5 ounces of an ester formulation of 2,4-D to about a gallon of water). Then place a rubber glove over your hand to protect it from the chemical and pull an absorbent cotton glove over the rubber glove. Apply the solution to the garlic or onion plants by dipping your gloved hand into the mixture, then firming your hand around the tops of the unwelcome plant. Press hard enough to break through some of the waxy coating on the leaves of the plant. This will permit the chemical to penetrate into the plant's system, move down into the bulbs, and kill the entire plant.

Upland Cress Gains Popularity

Upland cress, more resistant to cold than most other greens, is gaining popularity in Virginia, report horticulturists at VPI.

The estimated acreage this year tops 1,900 in Virginia. Page County leads with 600 acres grown for canning. Demand is increasing for both fresh and canned cress. In areas where it is grown, market demand is strong and the price is considerably higher than that paid for other greens.

Tests are now underway at VPI Agricultural Experiment Station to determine best cultural practices. Apparently no experimental work has been done on cress anywhere else in the United States. Limited information available indicates the food value compares favorably with that of other popular greens, such as kale and spinach.

FOR PREVENTION OF BURNS

Last week, a report of how dangerous it is to live at home was given in this column. At the head of the list was burns.

It is possible to prevent burns by doing several things. Turn the handles of pans on the stove to the back so they cannot be tipped off. Keep hot pads handy when handling hot objects. Do not set containers with hot liquids down where anyone can reach them. Have gasoline or kerosene in cans painted red and with the name of the liquid contained on the can. Store away from fires and houses. Don't smoke in bed. Be careful about where you throw cigarettes and lighted matches. When starting a fire use paper and kindling — not gasoline or kerosene. Keep closets, attics and basements free of trash.

PREPARING SPICE CAKE

Spice cake for home freezing has been tested by Illinois Experiment Station researchers. They report that baked spice cake rated good after a period of 16 weeks at about zero F. in a home freezer, but that spice cake made from batter frozen in cartons was unsatisfactory. Cakes baked from frozen spice batters in cartons in the freezer only one week were not good and after four weeks storage off-flavors, sometimes described as "fishy," were noticeable. Thus, if you want spice cake handy in the freezer, it pays to bake it first, even though a cake takes more room in the freezer than a carton of batter and calls for more careful wrapping.

Homemakers have been so interested in the freezing of cakes that a number of State Experiment Stations have made studies on freezing sponge and angel cake and such shortened cakes as chocolate, plain and white. Now spice cake has had its turn — and high time, too, because it's a favorite with many people, and because some reports have indicated that spices in cooked foods lose their potency or change flavor in frozen storage. Other reports indicate that some cloves become stronger in frozen foods.

The Illinois cakes were spiced with cinnamon, clove, and nutmeg. After baking, they were allowed to cool at room temperature three hours, then heat-sealed in moisture-proof wraps which were over-wrapped with white paper. Some were thawed at room temperature, which took five hours. Others were thawed by placing in an oven at 300°F. for 30 minutes. Freezer wrapping was kept on the cakes during thawing. Thawed in or out of the oven — that is, fast or slow — they rated good both in texture and flavor or eating quality. Obviously, the spices kept all right for 16 weeks in the freezer.

FACE LIFTER FOR DROOPY PETTICOATS

Don't throw away that favorite nylon taffeta petticoat just because it has lost its stiffness. Starch it! Putting the perkiness back into nylon taffeta is easy with instant (pre-cooked) cold water laundry starch.

Easy to follow starching instructions: 1—Laundry petticoat as usual; leave it damp for starching. 2—Measure 2 quarts cold water into pan large enough for starching. Gradually add 1 1/4 cups starch, swishing with hand until starch is completely dissolved. 3—Dip petticoat up and down several times in starch solution, pressing starch solution through garment. DO NOT WRING. Fasten dripping skirt at waistband to hanger (or line) and let it drip dry. Petticoat will be extremely stiff when dry, but will have a slightly softer finish after ironing.

U. S. TO BUILD SATELLITE... Artist Don Glickman shows how small artificial moon, costing $10,000,000, would circle earth at 300-mile altitude and 18,000 m.p.h. speed.

4—Iron petticoat with iron set at proper temperature for nylons. ("Low" if your iron has no fabric indicators on dial.) With dry iron, iron petticoat while slightly damp, sponging any dry areas lightly before ironing. With steam iron — if it has a steam setting for synthetics — you may iron after petticoat is dry.

Special Pointers

For Petticoat Problems

(1) For NYLON NET petticoats: Use same procedure as 1, 2, 3 and 4 above, but let petticoat dry completely on line, occasionally lifting and separating folds so net won't stick together in drying. Iron dry.

(2) Excessive stiffness around waistline can be avoided by not starching the top few inches of your petticoat.

(3) Can-can petticoats are easier to iron if you iron the body of the petticoat on the right side first, then turn skirt wrong-side out and iron the ruffles, starting with the top one.

"Cox Stadium" Will Honor Veteran PA Superintendent

NEW 5,000-SEAT ATHLETIC FIELD AT THALIA TO BEAR NAME OF FRANK W. COX

The new 5,000-seat athletic stadium at Thalia will be named Cox Stadium in honor of Frank W. Cox, veteran superintendent of the county's schools for the past 25 years.

The decision to name the new stadium in honor of Cox came in the form of a resolution passed by the county school board at a special meeting held Tuesday afternoon.

The resolution by the board described Cox as "one of Virginia's greatest educators." The resolution and designation had been urged by a special committee of the Princess Anne Ruritan Club.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Board Chairman John B. Dey, who said that a formal ceremony would probably be held in the fall at one of the football games of the school.

The veteran Cox, who is a native of York County, has seen the school system that he heads expand tremendously during his term as superintendent. As an example of the growth that has taken place a staff of 10 teachers was in the school system during Cox's first year while the coming term will find 450 teachers employed.

Low Labor Day Death Toll Seen

The lowest nationwide traffic fatality estimate for the Labor Day weekend since 1950 was announced in New York by the Associated Press.

The association, which attributed the reduction to the current "Slow Down and Live" traffic safety campaign, estimated that 410 persons will die on the highways during the coming 78-hour holiday weekend.

Specifically, the association, in its forecast, ascribed the 410 expected deaths to such causes: 135 fatalities due to excessive speed; 65 deaths from driving on the wrong side of the road; 42 from reckless driving; 39 from failure to yield right-of-way; and 29 from falling asleep at the wheel.

The remaining 100 deaths will include 35 pedestrians who are expected to be killed or injured in the coming 78-hour holiday weekend.

Beach High School to Integrate Driver Training and Physical Ed

The administration of Virginia Beach High School is planning more emphasis on the "Learn to Drive" program, a recent announcement discloses. Charles Modlin, a recent graduate of the University of Virginia, has been added to the physical education staff and his duties will be concerned primarily with the driver training program.

Present plans call for all 10th grade students to receive three instruction periods a week in the theory of safe driving, and two periods of active physical education, in addition to behind-the-wheel training on an individual basis. Students will be scheduled for their individual instruction in the dual control car during their study periods. By the time the present 10th grade graduates, all students finishing Virginia Beach High School will have had this vital course of study.

The school authorities consider this a very important step in their effort to promote the safety and well-being of the future citizens of the community.

The dual-control car is provided by the Clark Chevrolet Company of Virginia Beach. The course is approved by the American Automobile Association through the Norfolk office. George Elliott is coordinator of the A.A.A. in this district.

FLOOD RELIEF FUNDS ASKED BY RED CROSS

R. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American Red Cross, has issued a statement relative to the flood damaged areas of the section created by rains that accompanied the latest hurricane to strike the east coast of the United States.

Mr. Harriman issued the following statement to all chapter chairmen of the Red Cross. The statement was issued on August 20.

"Because of the scope of the disaster and because many thousands of families are in dire straits, the Red Cross is rushing disaster relief teams from all parts of the country to assist local Red Cross volunteers in meeting human needs. Further, the Red Cross is immediately making an initial appropriation of $2,000,000 for the preliminary phases of its relief operation.

"The Red Cross believes, Mr. Harriman emphasized, that the cost of adequately caring for these flood sufferers will run into additional millions of dollars. He urgently appealed to all Americans to contribute to a Red Cross Flood Relief Fund which will be earmarked entirely for use in the flood areas.

"Over the years the American people have made it possible for the Red Cross to meet disaster needs and to alleviate human suffering, he declared. Now we are again faced with the specter of distress and human suffering over a great area of the populous east. In the name of the affected people I ask everyone to contribute generously through their local Red Cross Chapter."

Linkhorn School Not Ready; Will Use W. T. Cooke

The new Linkhorn Park Elementary School on Larkin Road will not be ready for the opening of the fall term, it has been announced by a spokesman for the Princess Anne County School Board.

"The contractor has set a time of four weeks after the opening date that the new plant will be ready," the spokesman stated. Weather and material shortages have been the big factors in the delay.

Meantime students of the new school will attend classes at the W. T. Cooke school until the Linkhorn facility is ready for occupancy. Students of the new school will attend classes at the Cooke school in groups just as they will be in the new school. Actually the Cooke school will house the two schools for the first four to six weeks.

The integrated plan has been approved by both the city and county school boards. The new Linkhorn Park school will care for all county children in the elementary grades who have attended city schools in the past plus some children in Birchwood Point who formerly attended the Oceana School.

Willard V. Pendleton is the new principal of the Linkhorn Park School. Pendleton is a graduate of East Carolina College at Greenville. He has served as principal at Patactus, North Carolina.

Indispensability Of Automobiles In State Evident

The growing indispensability of the automobile to Virginia families and to the state's economy was emphasized this week in a study showing that about one-fifth of the retail business volume in the state is generated by the motor industry.

Universal C.I.T. Credit Corporation reported that about 18.2 cents out of every dollar spent at retail in 1954 was for automobiles and related products, compared with 18.4 cents out of every dollar in 1953.

The company, which is the nation's largest independent automobile financing firm, also reported that the automobile industry is responsible for employment of 1.5 million people in the United States.

WHO IS "TOUGHEST," BEACH OR NORFOLK?

DISCREPANCY IN PUNISHMENT IS NOTED IN "SLOT" CASES

(Two news stories appeared in the local newspapers of the City of Norfolk the past week and each of the stories involved slot machines and convictions for possession of the machines. The stories differed as to localities and the fines meted out by the courts. One offense was tried in Norfolk, the other in Virginia Beach. Here is a story combining the two previous stories.)

Police Justice E. V. Greenham, of Virginia Beach, imposed a fine of $250 and a jail sentence of six months on a man charged with possession of slot machines last Saturday in city court.

This week in Norfolk a woman was fined $50 for possession of slot machines and a gambling wheel but was not sentenced to jail. The fine was imposed by Judge Greenham.

The defendant in the Virginia Beach case was Willie Johnson, 41, of the 700 block of Seventeenth Street. He noted an appeal from the punishment imposed by Judge Greenham.

The slot machines in the Virginia Beach case were discovered in a building last Thursday morning by Virginia Beach police. They had no money in them and apparently had not been used for some time but police contended the mere possession of them constituted a violation of the law.

In the Norfolk case two slot machines were found and a wheel of fortune gambling device. The paraphernalia was found in a garage belonging to Mrs. George S. McPherson, who contended the machines had been in the garage for a number of years.

One of the Norfolk police officers said the machines were well-oiled. Mrs. McPherson contended that children had been playing with them.

The two cases are considered as being the line between the Virginia Beach case which was much more severe than the Norfolk case while the offender in the Virginia Beach case was tried for possession of slot machines only while the Norfolk case included possession of slot machines plus a gambling wheel of fortune.

The conclusion reached by many is that the Virginia Beach court apparently looks upon the offense as much more serious than does the Norfolk court. At least, the punishment meted out by the Virginia Beach court would indicate this.

Hurricanes Blamed for Mosquito Plague; Flooded Marshes Cause

You can blame Hurricanes "Connie" and "Diane" plus several other factors for the present increase in those pesky mosquitoes, according to a spokesman for the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Mosquito Control Commission.

The two hurricanes following a week apart brought unusually heavy rainfall and has resulted in high tides on marshes throughout the area, the spokesman stated. This has brought on the pesky salt marsh mosquito.

Heavy rainfall has also resulted in the appearance of the equally pesky rainfall mosquito. This type is the large black one.

The commission has been doing hard work in fighting the pests since there has been rain showers almost daily during the past several days causing an interruption in the work of the mosquito-fighting crew of the commission.

It was also pointed out that the north winds that are now prevailing will have a tendency to help the flooded area of Back Bay. At the same time will tend to cause water to back up into Linkhorn Bay making the mosquito situation here more troublesome.

The commission spokesman pointed out that individuals could help a lot if they would check their homes and backyards for possible mosquito-breeding places where water is standing as a result of the heavy rainfall.

CITY OFFERS REWARD

A total of $1500 has been raised and is being offered as a reward to anyone submitting information which will bring about the apprehension and conviction of the person who is guilty of snuffing and robbing a young Virginia Beach widow of her life savings.

The money being offered is a combined effort by the City of Virginia Beach and business interests here, who are anxious to see justice done in this case which is the first ever to occur in the City of Virginia Beach.

Virginia Beach Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson has reported that his department is following every available lead in the case and he has requested that anyone with information that might be of value should contact the Virginia Beach Police Department. The telephone number is 585.

The victim of the assault is recovering in the Virginia Beach hospital. Stitches on the head resulted in a dozen stitches, a hospital spokesman stated.

Concert Association Completes Plans for Second Concert Series

The Civic Concert Association, sponsored by the Virginia Beach Chamber Music Society, has completed arrangements for its second series of concerts — winter of 1955-56. Mary MacKenzie, contralto, will be presented on November 17; William Masselos, pianist, on February 8; and Giovanni Bagarotti, violinist, on March 13.

Mrs. Marie Van Buskirk, president of the club, announces the above artists for the series. With the great success of the first concert series last winter, the Music Club has been encouraged to give its time and efforts to continue to bring fine and noted artists to the Beach for the enjoyment of local residents. It is hoped that all who supported the first concert series, as well as many new members, will subscribe to the second series, so that Virginia Beach will continue to have the opportunity to hear such gifted musicians.

The series is again being presented on a season ticket basis. Checks should be mailed to Mrs. Roland Thorp, treasurer, 201 18th Street, Virginia Beach, telephone 3085-J. The price is $8.50, tax included, for the three concerts.

Mary MacKenzie, contralto, born in New York City, has lived most of her years in Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., where her musical training began at the age of 7, as a piano student of Irma Correll. She began the study of voice while still in public school, was a scholarship student in voice, and entered the Juilliard School of Music, where she received her B.S. degree in 1954 and her M.S. degree in June of this year. She received the Alice Brown Memorial prize for highest rating in the voice department. She was an active member of the Juilliard Opera Theatre for four years, and sang leading roles in many productions, including Vaughn Williams' "Riders to the Sea," Strauss' "Capriccio," and Stravinsky's "Mavra."

In 1953 Miss MacKenzie won the New York Singing Teachers' Young Artist Award as well as the Hebrew Association Award. She was a member of the "Grass Roots Opera Company" in North Carolina in the summer of 1953, and appeared in concerts throughout the state. In the summer of 1954 she was awarded a scholarship to appear at opera theatre at the Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood, where she played the role of the Mother in Aaron Copland's "The Tender Land." The Springfield Union reported her as having "uncommon beauty of voice," and the New York Herald Tribune declared that she "sang with freshness and a splendid projection not only of the words themselves but also of their meaning."

Sterling Montgomery Named to "Plant More Trees" Committee

The appointment of Sterling Montgomery of Princess Anne, as chairman of the "Plant More Trees" committee for Princess Anne County, has been announced by William E. Cooper of Richmond, executive director of Virginia Forests, Inc., whose organization is administering the overall tree planting program.

Coopering in the program are the Forestry Division of the Virginia Department of Conservation and Development, VPI Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service and the Vocational Agriculture Service.

Governor Stanley is spearheading the "Plant More Trees" program. The Governor, together with the leaders of the forest industry in Virginia, are alarmed that the desirable species of Virginia's forests are being cut more rapidly than they are being replaced. Aware of the high importance of the forest industry to Virginia, the Governor and others are hopeful that this conservation program will help reverse the present trend as that Virginia will have an adequate supply of timber for all purposes in the future.

The statewide drive is to plant 25,000,000 trees during the seasonal period of 1955-56, from November through March. The program will extend for three years, with an overall objective of planting 75,000,000 trees during that time. Tree planting goals for each county will be announced later. Trees to be planted include oaks, pines, cypresses and the hardwoods.

Cooper explained that committee chairman will be named for each Virginia county. The duties of the chairman and his committee will be to help coordinate the planting of trees and to encourage the public to plant trees. The program will be a joint effort of the Governor, the Forestry Division, the Soil Conservation Service, the Vocational Agriculture Service, and the forest industry in Virginia.

Grand Jury Meeting Today To Hear New Witnesses

EVIDENCE OF PANIC AMONG GAMBLING FRATERNITY SEEN IN DISPOSAL OF "ONE-ARMED BANDIT" IN RIVER

Princess Anne County's special crime-investigating grand jury is scheduled to go back into session this morning at 10 o'clock after a week's recess during which time several developments have taken place.

The jury last met and heard witnesses on August 18. Since then, the jury and Princess Anne police have uncovered additional evidence of gambling in the county and in Virginia Beach.

Recently the inner-workings of six slot machines were found in Long Creek in Princess Anne County. They have not been connected to the grand jury investigation, however.

The jury was first called into session in early August when the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot published a news story with pictures of open gambling operations at the Surfcomber Room of the Surf Beach Club.

Since that time some of the jurymen revisited the Pinewood of the Surfcomber Room and uncovered gambling equipment concealed within a wall.

Several new witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear before the jury today, according to Graham C. Riley, special investigator of the Commonwealth's Attorney at large, who issued the papers last week. Riley identified these witnesses as:

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Cherry, of the 100 block of East 50th Street, Norfolk.

Willie McCoy, operator of a still drink shop in Reddison on Bay-side Road near Robbins Corner.

Aley W. Cohen, of 48th Street, of North Virginia Beach, partner in the Sportman's Shop in Norfolk.

Dr. Stanley Dalany, of the 200 block of 51st Street, Norfolk, Virginia Beach, an optometrist.

W. J. Cash, manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Norfolk.

First Use of New Museum Theatre Set for Sept. 10

The inaugural performance in the new air conditioned theatre at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts will take place on Friday, September 10 at 8:00 P.M.

The event will be sponsored by the Richmond Chamber Music Society and will feature reminiscences of the musical world by William A. Steiner, maker of "the instrument of the immortals," and the piano soloist, Richard D. Thomas, pianist, the talented young Southern, near of international fame.

C. Davenport Carrington, president of the Society, announced today that "The affiliation of the past five years of the Chamber Music Society with the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts has been graciously invited the members of the Society to share in this auspicious occasion."

Membership in the Society may be obtained by the purchase of a season series ticket for $5.00 which permits admission to the seven remaining concerts of the season.

"Generous underwriting," Carrington stated, "guaranteed us a season of exceptional calibre. The finest musicians, singers, and dramatic talents are included on our program."

BARCS FROM FORT STORY HEAD NORTH

Army Photographer Sgt. William Couch took these striking pictures of Fort Story's four giant experimental BARCS being loaded aboard the Navy's LSD USS Plymouth Rock at Hampton Roads. Sub-Port of Embarkation recently, Sergeant Couch rode the first BARC as it approached the yawning, flooded well of the LSD (left photo). Once inside, his camera caught a second BARC

moving into the spacious well under the curious eyes of Navy spectators. When all four BARCS were snugly inside, the ship's submerged stern gate was raised and the water pumped from the well. The BARCS, with other Fort Story vehicles and troops, went north to the Arctic area for participation in the 1955 SUNEK operation.

RESERVISTS IN REVIEW

August at Fort Story is a month of tireless training as hundreds of Reservists moved in for their annual two weeks of summer camp. Traditionally, each group began and ended its training cycle with a review on the post parade ground. Here the color guard and troops of the 375th Transportation Terminal Command "C" are reviewed by the commanding general of the Transportation Training Command, Brig. Gen. Rush B. Lincoln, Jr. Saluting with him from jeep is Brig. Gen. Elmo J. Patton (left) who commands the 375th, which is from the Jacksonville, Fla., area.

Dukhs Finish Sixth In Interservice Baseball League

Fort Story's Dukhs have finished in sixth place in the completed Navy Major Interservice Baseball League schedule with a record of 10 wins and 22 losses. The Story men, who experienced quite a turnover of players during the summer, finished well off the pace set by the league champions, the Fort Lee Travelers.

Pace Soon to Wind Up Baseball Play

Pace will wind up his baseball activity with the Fort Eustis All-Star team as he joins teammate Bob Whitefiller on the squad that picked its players from the Transportation Training Command's major subordinate commands.

The team will represent Eustis in the Second Army Baseball Tournament at Fort Lee, Virginia.

Call Goes Out For Barnyard Golfers

The call is out for players to sign up for Story's upcoming horseshoe tournament set to begin at the end of the month. Winners of the single and double play will represent the Cape Henry post at the TTC championships at Fort Eustis in September.

Dukhs Shellacked In Baseball Tourney

In last week's command level baseball tournament at Fort Eustis, the Dukhs dropped out quickly under double elimination rules as they suffered two straight setbacks. The 4th Transportation Terminal Command "C" overpowered Story in the first game, 12-3. Loser Carl Buniva didn't last long on the mound as he gave way to Norm Chandler in the second inning. In the second contest, the Fort Eustis Transportation School ended the Dukhs' chances with a 13-6 victory, Bill Schilling taking the loss.

Softball Season Nears End With Two Teams Undeclared

Intramural softball neared the season's end with two undefeated teams likely to cop the division championships.

Headquarters Company, 5th Transportation Terminal Command "B" leads the American division with a 4-0 slate. The Headquarters squad is followed closely by the 344th Duke Company with a 3-1 record. In the National division, the Navy HECF (Harbor Entrance Control Post) team, with

Football Bears Head As Baseball Bows Out

Now that the baseball season has ended, the Dukhs' versatile third baseman, Ray Frisch, has rejoined the Norfolk Third Anti-Aircraft Artillery Group football team as one of two returning veterans to the Cannoniers squad. The former North Carolina State athlete joins another Story man, Al Fielder, of Headquarters Company, 5th TTC "B," on the team which will play its home games at Fort Monroe. switch, and has been named head coach of the Story cagers who will play a tough, non-league schedule. Pace's rebuilding job will be centered around lanky Jayde Sprecker, the only returning veteran from last year's squad. The team begins practice in October with its sights set on a busy schedule, including a December tilt with the Quantico Marines, a perennial powerhouse. This year's Leatherneck squad promises to be especially tough, with an impressive roster that includes some of last year's college standouts.

Diane Fames Story With No Damage

The second hurricane alert in a week had this vulnerable Cape Henry post ready to take the worst "Diane" could throw at it, but like her predecessor "Connie," the gale proved too dissipated to give Story a bad time. Her winds had slackened to gale velocity as she swept up from the Carolinas; as a result the post remained under a Condition Two alert until the storm was no longer a threat. Both Connie and Diane, however, have been useful as tests of Fort Story's hurricane alert plan under emergency conditions.

Final Group of Reservists At Story for Training

Formal welcome to the last group of Reservists to arrive at Story this year for two weeks of summer camp was extended by Brig. Gen. Rush B. Lincoln, Jr., at a retreat parade. The commanding general of the Transportation Training Command came by helicopter from Fort Eustis to share the reviewing stand with Col. Henry K. Toenes. Colonel Toenes commands the USAR 375th Transportation Terminal Command "B" from the Mobile area. Appearance and marching spirit of the Alabamians brought approving comment from General Lincoln and his staff.

Quartermaster Receives Certificate of Achievement

Earlier General Lincoln took occasion of his visit to present a Certificate of Achievement to Ft. Story's Quartermaster, Capt. Joseph J. Carfagno. The award was in recognition of Captain Carfagno's contribution to the Work Simplification Program currently being stressed throughout TTC. His proposal resulted in a more efficient method of ration breakdown. General Lincoln, in presenting the certificate, said he hoped it would encourage other personnel at Story, both civilian and military, to actively participate in the program.

Brownie Troop Leader Gets Letter of Appreciation

Story's Deputy Commander, Lt. Col. Frederick G. Ward, has presented a letter of appreciation to the leader of the post's Girl Scout Brownie Troop 235, Mrs. Darrell E. Prater. Thanking her for her enthusiasm and ability in guiding the youngsters, Colonel Ward observed that Mrs. Prater also was instrumental in organizing the troop in June, 1954. Mrs. Prater is the wife of Sgt. Darrell E. Prater, a member of the Transportation Research and Development Command's test team at Story.

Lt. Col. James Welver Temporary Post Supply CO

Late summer leave for Colonel Ward this week spelled temporary changes in Story's command line. Until shortly after Labor Day when the colonel returns from a visit to his home in Birmingham, Ala., the post's deputy commander will be Lt. Col. James F. Welver, who has commanded the 10th Transportation Battalion for the past year. The 10th's temporary CO will be its executive officer, Maj. Herman Nadler.

Former Commander's Son Ready for Academy 'Troop'

The son of Story's former commanding officer, Col. Edwin A. Deagle, has passed his West Point Designating examination with the second highest rating in the nation. It was learned this week, Pra. Edwin A. Deagle, Jr., now training at Fort Jackson, S. C., thus becomes eligible to enter the U. S. Military Academy's "prep school" at Stewart Air Force Base, New York. Deagle, 17, was sworn into service by his father two months ago. His family departed Story this week for their new home at Fort Hamilton, New York.

Lt. Guy E. Flebiger New Dental Officer at Story

DOUBLE STANDARDS

When gambling was discovered recently in the Surfcomber Room the Sun-News said that Virginia Beach did not need crap tables or roulette wheels. Many of our readers agreed with us and many shared a different viewpoint. But, we still believe that they are not needed to be a successful resort.

The Sun-News also pointed out in a later editorial that "prominent Norfolk citizens who probably lose more money in gin rummy games at the staid Virginia Club in Norfolk in an afternoon than is lost in a week in Princess Anne." This week we received a letter from a Norfolk resident which we presume to be authentic and that this resident knows what he is talking about calling our attention to conditions that exist inside the City of Norfolk.

Some members of the Virginia Club have said "why pick on us?" We want to say right here that we have no desire nor was it our intent to single out the Virginia Club or any other club within the city limits of Norfolk. What we meant to point out and what we mean to point out now is that if a group is able to organize a non-profit club, secure the proper permissions they are almost rapt with immunity insofar as the ABC laws are concerned and are very seldom bothered as far as the gambling laws are concerned. And, there are in regular attendance at these clubs some of our best people who always claim they are against any law violation. Yet, those not able to afford to belong to a private club are not afforded this protection, which is a double standard of the law.

And Virginia Beach as a resort with tourists coming from all over the country staying one day or a week are unable to become members of such clubs and benefit from this protection.

We are not in any way condoning the gambling or illegal sales of whisky, but we do not for one moment believe that Virginia Beach or Princess Anne County is any more lawless than the City of Norfolk, or any other community of our like size. We believe the court has done the proper thing in promptly calling the grand jury into session and we believe the grand jury will indict and convict any persons who are found guilty of law violations.

We also believe that reporters of Norfolk Newspapers do not have to ride all the way to Virginia Beach to find violations of gambling and whisky laws but that they can find it in their own city if they are interested in looking for it. And, if it is going on in the City of Norfolk it should not be permitted there any more than in the county or Virginia Beach.

LAW VIOLATIONS

It would appear from the fines and sentences imposed in two similar cases this past week that Virginia Beach looks upon law violations with a more severe eye than does the City of Norfolk.

The cases in question involved the possession of slot machines. In the Virginia Beach case the defendant was fined $250 and sentenced to six months in jail. In the Norfolk case the defendant was fined $50 with no jail sentence.

These cases are interesting for comparison purposes. The Norfolk case not only was treated much more lightly by the court, but the defendant in that case also had in his possession a wheel of fortune device in addition to slot machines. Yet the fine was much less and no jail sentence imposed.

It might be well for Norfolk to follow the example being set by Virginia Beach in dealing with law violators.

TALE OF THE "FLYING DUTCHMAN"

The "Flying Dutchman" is a name given by sailors to a phantom ship said to cruise in storms off the Cape of Good Hope. According to legend, a Dutch sea captain, bound home from the East Indies, met with heavy headwinds and storms as he attempted to round the Cape. Begged by his men to turn back, he stubbornly refused to do so, swearing an oath that he would "beat round the Cape if he had to beat there till the day of judgment." He was taken at his word and doomed to forever beat against foul winds in storms off the Cape.

Does crossing a city street leave you a nervous wreck? Do you long for the safety of farm life?

Well, you had better think twice. For the 1955 edition of the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts," shows that agriculture ranks among the most dangerous of industries.

Only high hazard occupations such as construction and mining surpass the accidental death rate of farm workers.

JUST TO KEEP YOU UP TO DATE

The great geological age called the Reptilian Age was marked by the vast number, variety and size of its reptiles, the appearance and habits of which the known from the remains found buried in the rocks of this period.

The rocks of this age are the so-called "freestones," used extensively at present for buildings; sandstone formations interbedded with ridges of lignite, greenish limestone and gypsum, laminated with plastic clays, and chalk beds containing layers of flint.

OR WOULD YOU RATHER BE A MONK?

The famous Barbary ape runs at liberty on the fortress Rock of Gibraltar. The true home of this animal is along the shores of the African side of the Mediterranean Sea, and it is thought that traders brought a number of them to the Rock hundreds of years ago.

They are about as large as a good-sized dog and use great cunning in their mass raids on vegetable gardens. Two or three of them stand guard while the rest of the troops makes the raid, the guards giving the alarm at the first approach of the intruders.

We are not so sure the Sunday afternoon quiet of years ago wasn't the best way to spend the Sabbath, after all.

IT'S AMAZING!

DALE CARNEGIE

C. Joel "C. J." Parker, 310 N. Main Street, Houston, Texas, became a member of the Breakfast Association, a group of businessmen that gets together for breakfast every Wednesday morning and has Craft talks. There being 55 members, each of them has charge of one meeting a year.

During "C. J.'s" first year he was nervous but managed to talk about two minutes, then turned on a projector to show a film. This, of course, got him off his feet. About a year later he conducted the meeting in exactly the same manner as the year before, talked about two minutes, then fell back on that movie projector again.

When C. J.'s turn came up for the third time at the Breakfast Club, he looked forward to the opportunity of taking charge. There was no month of agony before that morning, as had been his first two experiences, and his wife could not believe that his attitude had changed so completely. The meeting day came; he got to his feet, spoke and had a grand time. Knowing it must have been a success since several of the fellows spoke about it later.

What was it that brought about the change? He says it was nothing but the practice and drilling he got from joining a class in public speaking where he did night after night what he was afraid to do.

My PET PEEVE

Being the more or less natural-born lassy type, I follow with interest the increasing number of dissertations dealing with us Americans and our leisure time.

For the first time in history, I read, the average worker in America has more leisure time than working time. Elsewhere I note that we can expect more and more leisure time as this atomic age progresses.

Since I apparently have never been able to find all the time I would require to stretch out in a shaded hammock, cooling drink in hand, and dwell upon the wonders of the clouds, the sky and the birds that soar unfettered and unhurried, I can but wonder if I shall dwell long enough upon this old earth to live like a lassy man really should.

Already there are forces at work, under the leadership of an enlightened few, which have sinister designs on any new leisure time we may acquire. They issue the frightful warning that "too much leisure time can end in mass degeneration." They aren't worried about the guy who chases along after a golf ball, the putterer who plants roses and tomatoes in the backyard or he who spends the weekend chasing butterflies. They worry about those who would use their no-leisure time just doing nothing.

Needless alarm, I say. No need for concern until the sky is no longer high and blue, till streams run dry and birds don't fly, till you can't find a fish or a fishing pole and all the wonders of Mother Nature disappear into eternal darkness.

You won't kill a lassy man with leisure time any more than you can drown a fish in a bathtub.

Fields Trio at Surfcomber

Considered one of the two best trios in the country, The Irving Fields Trio is giving Surfcomber Room guests top entertainment with a repertoire that includes many of his own compositions including "Wedding Samba," "Miami Beach Rumba," "Mansueta, Nicaragua" and other disco jockey favorites.

Between engagements at The Sheraton Plaza's Memorial Ball in New York and Las Vegas' "Thunderbird," this trio has played some of the finest night spots in the Americas and has achieved a national recognition from RCA-Victor records, TV appearances and major network broadcasts.

The keyboard versatility of Irving Fields who gave a recital in Carnegie Hall at the age of twelve has won him the reputation of "formost among modern popular pianists."

The Irving Fields Trio opened August 22nd for a two weeks' engagement at the resort's "Surfcomber Room," a supper club adjacent to The Surf Club on Atlantic Avenue.

 ment, directly and indirectly, of some 170,000 persons in the Old Dominion.

The figures on retail expenditures cover dealers in new and used cars, trucks, motorcycles and boats, batteries and accessories.

"Automobile dealers have been important business factors in their communities for more than a quarter of a century," said D. B. Ferguson of Richmond, Universal C.I.T. vice president in charge of this area. "These figures show that business, employment and the general prosperity of the state are more dependent on them than ever."

"They also emphasize the indispensability of the automobile to the average family. The automobile is the family workhorse, and its use for business purposes creates millions of dollars in added income."

Ferguson, whose firm has financed more than 15,000,000 cars for American consumers, reported an estimated $965,752,000 was spent for automotive products in Virginia last year, compared with $441,088,000 in 1951, a gain of 28.3% or $124,664,000 over the three-year period. Virginia retail sales as a whole, however, gained only 23.1% from 1951 to 1954.

Instantly financing, the C.I.T. exclusively pointed out, played a major role in the rise of automobile sales in the state.

LAWLESSNESS NEARER HOME

Norfolk, Va.
 22 Aug. 1955

The Editor
 Va. Beach Sun-News
 Virginia Beach, Va.
 Dear Sir:

Your editorial of August 18th in which you made reference to one or two Norfolk clubs was most interesting. Apparently, though, you are not too familiar with what is really taking place in the City of Norfolk for it is true that at the Virginia Club gambling takes place, whisky is drunk and all of this is participated in by Norfolk City's most prominent business men, including its civic and political leaders and some of the judges of various courts set there regularly.

Yet, in my opinion, there is nothing that goes on in Princess Anne County that begins to compare with the lawlessness on Eastern Street, Bank Street, the Lambert's Point area and many other sections of the City of Norfolk. Some of them almost in the shadow of City Hall.

You might not know it, Mr. Editor, but there used to be a club operating almost across the street from Norfolk Newspapers where whisky was sold and where I happen to know officials and employees of the newspapers used to visit. And you never saw one word about this in the papers and as far as I know no one was ever arrested.

The situation in Norfolk City is much worse than Princess Anne County ever dared to be and the courts and police should do what they are now doing in Princess Anne—break it up. And the newspapers should point this out in their news columns, but I doubt if they will.

NO VIRTUE IN SIZE

(NOTE: The following letter is reprinted from the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, being term of interest to our readers.)

Editor, Virginian-Pilot:
 In reference to the proposed annexation of territory in Princess Anne County, I for one am against it for many reasons.

First, what has the city to offer us? They say better fire protection, better police protection, cheaper water and other things they go on to say will benefit the people who are annexed into the city.

I prefer the higher water rates and to leave the county as it is. There are hundreds of improvements that can be taken care of in the city as it stands now, sidewalks, proper sewage and many other things that are now as they were when the city took over. There are numerous streets east of Hampton Boulevard, for example, that are still without sidewalks, and this condition has existed for 30 years.

This new city manager seems to be falling right in with the territory-grabbing Councilmen in every respect. It seems to me that he should be enlightening the needs of the city as it stands now, instead of trying to burden the taxpayers of the city with more taxes than they can handle now.

If this land-grabbing doesn't have the shades of dictatorship I've never seen anything like it did. The people of the area have

LOOKING THRU THE KNOT HOLE AT HUMANITY

Well, sir, I know now where Grassy Quad has been—for the past week or two, anyway.

The following letter, which I had to put on my tri-bufaloes to decipher, is self-explanatory:
 My Dearest, Sweetest, Noble, Upright Grassyquad,
 You ungrateful, sorry, good-for-nothing Pops, You:

Guess maybe you're kind of surprised to hear from your old Grassy, eh? Thought I had gone and been in a real old-fashioned set, didn't you? No such luck for you, you handy-legged whelp!

One of these days maybe I'll tell you about my adventures in Korea and such, but right now I gotta tell you what I been doing.

I been a "secret weapon," that's what!

Whist! you and the likes of you been sitting there at the Beach a-quakin' in your brogans, I been out here in a real old-fashioned set to save your lives, yes sir!

Me, Grassyquad, a secret weapon for the Yewes Weather Bureau—division of hurricanes and such.

I been a "landlord" Connie and Diane! And well we're sure that Edith paid a "candle" at you, I gotta say here.

Maybe you wondered why that Connie looked sorta just off-kilter, and why Diane lost a lot of her punch store she hit the Carolinas. That, Sonny, was my doing!

And nothing to it, either! Guess maybe you're too young to remember back at July 4th and at Christmas how we used to bust fireworks open. Light 'em and let 'em fly. Well, that's the idea behind my tamin' the hurricanes. What with the help of the Weather Bureau and some of my old stickies in the Defense Department, I got me ahold of a couple of these now, atom bombs.

Listen, it's so goob-dern simple: First I ups and bends that turn until it pops open in the middle. Then I goes up in a helicopter some young cod leaves on the runway... takes off into the wild blue yander and flies to the front edge of this, now, Connie.

Then I aims my helicopter so's I'm against the wind—which is sometin' fierce—and lets go with my tamin. It fuses so dern fast that it stops that hurricane in its tracks.

Anyhow, it slows it down to a walk, and that's how your old Grassy saved the day for the Yewes Aye! Yes sir, I'm a smart old cookie, if I do say so myself, as who else would?

So, if you feel another hurricane comin' on or got a bad case of hiccups, just drop me a line—and as one old windbag to another, your Grassy will come a-runnin'.

Love, and stuff, Grassy.

nothing to say about it. What right has a city to grab off land without the people who own it having a voice in the proceedings?

The main reason behind it all is money, more taxes. Just think, from the auto tax alone, the city will harvest an annual take of about three hundred thousand dollars. For what? Just for the piece of metal with the word, Norfolk, on it.

I think that the Legislature should act and act at once to prohibit the annexation of any land by any city, unless it be the will of the people. Let's have a referendum on this subject and see what the people want, not just a few land-grabbing, inconsiderate Councilmen who want to be part of a city that is bigger than Richmond.

I am sure that most people in Norfolk are not impressed with the idea that it means something, when they say we live in Norfolk, the largest city in the State.

THE DEAD WON'T BE THERE

(Reprinted from the Virginia Traffic Safety News, August issue.)

The clan is gathering and is going to make an Armageddon of it when the General Assembly meets this winter. The traffic court looms and the potential violators. The dead, of course, won't be there and we hope sincerely that the slain have learned their lesson.

Yes sir, they're going to see radar is legislated out of existence or thoroughly emasculated by placing big warning signs in the immediate vicinity of the device. Those "speed traps" have got to go. As long as they are in proper operation a violator just doesn't get an even break. Things are getting too easy for the cops.

When the bill passed in 1954, the clan couldn't do much about it, except hide its time until the 1956 session. Then, too, they were afraid of it. There might be one around every curve. They didn't realize the limitations of its scope. So they walked softly until they realized 50,000 miles of highway would need an astounding number of radars and troopers to maintain them and that you had to be pretty close to one to get bitten.

They became expert at spotting them and they evolved a code of light signals or just yelled and waved their arms to warn other motorists. It didn't take long. Radar went into use July 1, 1954, and by September they were killing themselves—and others—at something like the old rate.

But by the first of the year a lot of the boys were sweating out one conviction and a lot more had run afoul twice and lost their licenses. Finally, radars were placed where they couldn't be applied and the killing ceased up a bit and except for a wild month of May it has stayed dead. For 1954, Virginia had fewer deaths than any any year since 1936 and the Commonwealth isn't doing so badly this year when we consider we're competing against that period of abnormally low deaths last summer when radar was a mysterious and evil genie with unlimited powers.

Yes, a lot of the boys have lost their licenses or are in immediate peril of so doing and they want relief. What does the saving of a hundred or so lives matter against their convenience? While not to be placed in the category of losing licenses, paying out money in fines isn't good and it's particularly tough when the payers are victims of unfair police tactics. After all, traffic is really a glorified game of cops and robbers and there must be rules to protect the violator.

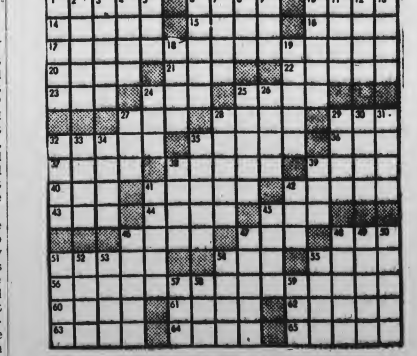

Up to July 1, 1955, when radar had been in use for 12 months, 35,422 arrests were made through it by the State Police alone. City police and at least one county department added a good many more. No matter what the excuse might be, the violator is guilty when radar shows an illegal speed. They've tried contesting THAT in court with no luck so there's nothing else to do but howl "unfairness" to the high heavens and hope their legislative representatives will be swayed to sympathy.

We ask, in all candoriness, who but a potential violator, needs to fear radar?

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Boy Scouts of America will launch on January 1, 1956 a four-year program known as "Onward for God and My Country" to help prepare America's boyhood to live in today's world and to prepare them to carry their full share in the days ahead. It was announced by Harold V. Pace Scout Executive of the Tidewater Council of the organization.

Mr. Pace and seven men on his staff are leaving Aug. 31 for the Tenth National Training Conference of over 2,700 Boy Scout Executives, full-time professional leaders of the organization, to be held at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, from September 2 to 9.

Attending the conference with Mr. Pace from this area are: P. M. Harberts, D.A. Executive Prince Anne; Lloyd Carter, D.A. Executive Southside; A. A. Cay, Dist. Executive Chesapeake; D. F. Gordon, Dist. Executive Tanners Creek; Raymond Heck, Dist. Executive Albemarle; J. B. Irvin, Dist. Executive Portsmouth; R. C. LaGrand, Dist. Executive Coscoque.

Before starting for the conference Scout Executives throughout the nation have been evaluating successful methods and techniques to make effective the new program. There are six major study areas in the fields of Administration, Program Enrichment, Financial Support, Membership, Man power and Planning and Use of Tools. Each major subject has been developed by 90 local Boy Scout councils among all of the twelve Scout regions into which the nation is divided.

Throughout the conference there will be elective subjects, discussion groups, guest speakers, exhibits and special programs. The electives alone cover 94 subjects. Among them are Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, Exploring, all types of outdoor and indoor activities, finance, relationships with other agencies and local Council procedures in administration.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America and chairman of the conference, will present the closing challenge during the first formal session, Friday evening, Sept. 2 in the Hill Auditorium. He has been active in Scouting for 42 years both as a volunteer and professional leader.

Dr. Harold C. Hunt, Eliot Professor of Education, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., will speak Saturday evening, Sept. 3, on "American Ideals and Their Promotion Through Scouting."

At a Convocation Sunday morning, at 10:45 in Hill Auditorium, four religious leaders will speak.

John Skinner Wilson of London, Honorary President of the Boy Scouts' International Committee will speak on "Development of World Scouting" and Major General Dan C. Spay, Director of the Boy Scouts' International Bureau in London, will talk on "Present International Scouting and Its Future."

Representatives of 50 nations having Scout Associations will attend the conference. John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay, New York, President of the Boy Scouts of America, will deliver the "President's Message" Monday evening, Sept. 5.

Harold E. Stassen, Special Assistant to the President of the United States, will speak on "Youth in a free world" the same evening, (Sept. 5).

"I'm a Gangster" will be the subject of the address Tuesday evening, Sept. 6 by William O. Power, Advertising Manager, Chevrolet Motor Division of the General Motors Corporation.

Congressman Walter H. Judd of Minneapolis, Minn., will speak Wednesday evening, Sept. 7.

Bishop Donald H. Tappet of the Methodist Church, San Francisco, Calif., will speak Thursday evening, Sept. 8, on "America's Spiritual Needs and Their Promotion Through Scouting."

At the final evening session Friday evening, Sept. 9, Dr. Stephen B. Wither, of the Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, will present highlights from the "Study of Adolescent Boys," recently conducted by that organization for the Boy Scouts of America.

Dr. Schuck will then deliver the final challenge and the conference will end with a tabernacle titled "Onward for God and My Country."

Reporting to the Nation's Scout Executives, Dr. Schuck announced that 4,000 persons, including Executives and their families will be in attendance.

"We have received scores of letters from men of position and importance throughout America," wrote Dr. Schuck, "congratulating us on our 'Onward for God and My Country' Four-Year Program. Many have expressed the belief that the National Training Conference will contribute much to further the value of our program in the life of America."

"This will be a great conference dedicated to enrichment and preservation of our democracy through more adequately training its youth."

In this country he has played in many principal cities, including two recitals in New York with the Philadelphia Orchestra and the Symphonies of Baltimore and Detroit.

CONNIE AND DIANE DAMAGE FISH AND WILDLIFE

According to G. W. Butler, chief of the Fish Division of Game and Inland Fisheries, a large number of mill ponds in Tidewater Virginia and many fish ponds in other sections of the state have been wiped out by hurricanes Connie and Diane. This means, according to Butler, that many fish have been destroyed or transported to other parts of the state away from their accustomed habitat.

According to C. F. Phelps, chief of the Game Division of the Commission, the hurricanes may have caused the destruction of young rabbits in the hutch and young quail just hatched in the lowlands which were covered by water.

Generally, however, it is believed that the two hurricanes have not had great adverse effects on the overall wildlife resources of the Commonwealth.

William Mascellos, pianist, was born in Niagara Falls, N. Y., of Greek and Dutch parentage. He was accepted on a scholarship of musical art in New York City at the age of nine, and made his debut in Town Hall at the age of 18.
In 1947 he received the $1,000
National Award of Young Artists Auditions in piano, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. He has concentrated through the eastern and mid-western states and Canada, appearing as a soloist with Dimitri Mitropoulos and the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, also with Otto Klemperer and the Montreal Symphony.

Olin Downes, in the New York

ing of the Beethoven Sonata, Op.
110, was conspicuous for beauty, depth of feeling, maturity of mood and clarity—a distinguished tal-an artist strength, insight and an

twenties, his virtuosity is tremengifted. He is a complete, thorough, and extremely commanding artist."

Giovanni Bagarotti, Italian violinist, was born in Geneva, Switzerland, and began his early study of violin in that city. He later
with the late Karl Flesch and Joseph Wolfsthal in Berlin. From 1935 to 1939 he concentrated extensively throughout Europe until the outbreak of the war. In 1942 he was appointed professor at the Conservatory of Lausanne, Switzerland. After the war, he resumed his tours, in the course of which he won special acclaim for his performance of all the violin concertos of Mozart with the Orchestra Colonne in Paris.

In October, 1948, Mr. Bagarotti came to the United States, and

New State Law
Makes Course
More Important

Added importance is given to the short course for artificial breeding inseminations to be held at Virginia Polytechnic Institute September 5-17, because a new state law becomes effective in January.

The new law, says Dr. V. L.
Baldwin, dairy cattle breeding specialist at the college, requires artificial breeding inseminations to be certified by the State Department of Agriculture. This certification may result from successful completion of a recognized training course.

Dr. Baldwin says the short course will provide training for men who wish to become artificial breeding inseminators. They will stay for the two-week session.
The men who want to breed cows only in their own herds will need to stay only for the first week of the course.

Instruction will be given in the history of organization and development of artificial insemination;
anatomy and physiology of reproduction; semen collection, examination, dilution, shipping, storage and handling; causes of reproductive failure; principles of dairy cattle improvement; and practice insemination of cows.

Those interested in the training course can apply by seeing their county agent and filling out and mailing the application blank before September 1.

Dr. Baldwin says artificial insemination is rapidly becoming more and more important in the improvement of dairy cattle. Since 1946 the number of cows bred artificially in Virginia has increased from 2,600 to 46,000. There are now about 50 local associations hiring inseminators in the state.
The positions are usually full time, but some are employ part-time technicians. This may appeal to those owning small farms or other small operations which leave them free to be called for service.

Positions in artificial insemination open at various times during the year. Because of this it is not necessary for men taking the short course to be available immediately. It is desirable to have some men "on call" so positions may be filled as they open.

The mammoth size of the electric shovels used in strip mining of bituminous coal can readily be seen in the fact that one such shovel, with a six-cubic yard capacity, could load 48,000 railroad hopper cars each month.

Tin, together with lead, bismuth and cadmium, forms fusible metals with low melting points which are used in automatic fire alarms and sprinkler systems.

from the New York critics.

He is the first of the great violinists ever to play all the nine Mozart Concerti. He has been selected by Dimitri Mitropoulos to play the Mozart 300th Anniversary Concert with the New York Philharmonic in January, 1956, a very singular honor indeed.

In his Virginia Beach appearance, he will be ably assisted by his wife, Marta Bagarotti, a most charming and gifted pianist, whom he met when they were both studying in Berlin.

Forecast: Continued Cool

What could be cooler than riding with a ton and a half of ice in your car these hot days? Real cool thought, say you, but impractical. Yet that's exactly the effect with Chevrolet's new air conditioner. What part of the operation is a comparatively small compressor, scarcely larger than a football, which is shown above
are a condenser, liquid receiver, and cooling coils. All parts fit neatly under the car's hood.

Berkeley Plantation Story Will Be Feature Of "Virginia Record"

Clifford Dowd's story of the Berkeley Plantation, cradle of the Harrisons, and now a working farm, will be featured in the September issue of "Virginia Record."
Mr. Dowd has recently signed a contract with Rinehart for a book on the famous plantation as it reflects successive periods of American and Virginia history, and this feature represents a synopsis of the proposed text.

Berkeley was planted in 1619 and the present house was constructed in 1726. The golden period of Berkeley extended from then into the mid-18th century, when the Harrisons, notably "The Squire," figured prominently in national affairs.

The 20th century rehabilitation of Berkeley has been accomplished by a Virginia convert, Malcolm Jamieson, who has dedicated himself not only to restoration of the old house's grandeur but also to retraining the land to its original usefulness, as a self-sustaining, working plantation.

Zoysia matrella, in several strains, is brown at Blacksburg

In eastern Virginia the strains plants may become a problem in zoysia matrella lawns.

of antique painting that has worn away by the years. Noted among her many restorations is much of the furniture at "Westover Plantation" on the James River. She has exhibited in Pennsylvania at the Hershey Museum, The Craftsman's Guild and Pennsylvania Dutch Days.

Mrs. Maslin Cohn, whose exhibition has been twice delayed by hurricanes Connie and Diane, is showing a large collection of water colors and several oils. She is an exponent of clear colors and has developed a form of simplified representation. Also included are a few black and white drawings that are individual in execution. She has exhibited locally both with the Tidewater Artists and the Virginia Beach Art Association and also in New York City Galleries.

The exhibit may be viewed daily and nightly through this week at the Theatre-Go-Round at Virginia Beach.

Bundle of Love Comedy Hit Starts Tuesday At Tent Theatre

Opening next Tuesday and running through Labor Day as the final play of Theatre-Go-Round's 1955 season is "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," a hilarious comedy which ran for two years on Broadway.

The play is set in 1890 and concerns a respectable business man who maintains two separate residences, complete with families, in Philadelphia and Wilmington. The leading roles, originally played on Broadway by Burgess Meredith and Martha Scott, will be portrayed at the Virginia Beach show tent by John Sheenan and Maria Corbett. John and Maria will be remembered locally for their portrayal of two many psychiatric patients in "Oh Men, Oh Women."

Since "Pennypacker" is a 20-character play, the entire staff of Theatre-Go-Round will be seen. Directing will be Romeo Muller, and Jamil Zakhai will stage manage.

Tickets may be reserved by calling Virginia Beach 2730 or picked up at the box office at 67th and Atlantic Avenue.

"Miss America" Will Cash In To Tune Of 60,000

What's in it for Miss America? Answer: About $60,000.

The question is answered in the September issue of Woman's Day, the A & P magazine, in an article about the winners of the coveted title.

With this year's Miss America pageant coming up after Labor Day in Atlantic City, N. J., the article reveals that the winner of the crown stands to make about $60,000 in cash, goods and services.

The article is illustrated with photographs of some recent winners engaged in the activities that make their reign the busiest, most traveled, most photographed year in their lives.

Surprisingly — in view of how hard Miss America works for her rewards — the article finds that only one winner of recent years has taken advantage of a prize that can be had merely by saying "yes" — a wealthy husband.

The author of "What's In It For Miss America?" is Hugh Scott, who has been a feature writer for the Philadelphia Inquirer since 1937, with time out for World War II. He and his wife live on a ten-acre farm in Norristown, Pa.

Bow and Arrow Deer Hunting Permits on Sale

Application blanks for the special bow and arrow season on deer to be held for the second season on Reg. Island State Waterfowl Refuge are now available from the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries in Richmond. Chief of the Game Division C. F. Phelps has announced. The purpose of the special bow-hunting season is to cut down the excess deer population damaging waterfowl feeding grounds on the island. Deer of either sex may be taken, one a day, two a season.

Hunting will be permitted during the weeks of October 17-23, October 24-30 and October 31-November 5, all dates inclusive, from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. A valid state, county or non-resident hunting license, plus a big game stamp (except for county residents) is required and all other applicable laws and regulations will be observed.

Hunting will be by special permit only and applications, with detailed regulations, may be obtained by writing the Richmond office of the Commission. Applications will be received until September 23, 1955. Approximately 65 hunters will be allowed on the area each day and should applications exceed that number, permits will be issued on a draw basis. ### Bulk Milk Handling Proves Important Change for Dairymen

Bulk milk handling is replacing the conventional milk can with refrigerated tanks on the farm and insulated tank trucks for collecting and hauling milk from producer to plant. It promises to become one of the most important basic changes in the history of dairymen.

Dr. G. C. Graf, head of the department of dairy science at U. of Va., says interest is keen for bulk milk tanks in Virginia. There are now around 700 farms with this type of equipment. Most of them are in northern Virginia, but dairymen in south-west Virginia and other areas are showing much interest.

In a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture study, Dr. Graf reports, it was found that producers receive an average of slightly over 12¢ per cwt. more for milk collected from refrigerated tanks than the average in their area for milk collected in conventional cans. Some of this can be in the form of premiums offered for bulk milk, and may represent a subsidy from the plant to speed transition to the new system rather than actual economies that far due to the changeover. However, the study concluded that bulk milk handling offers considerable promise of eventually increasing returns to the producer, the handler, and the plant through lower costs, better milk quality, and expanded markets.

The survey indicated that bulk milk handling, like most other farm mechanization, lends greater economic advantage to larger volume operations. Among plants included in the survey, bulk shippers averaged 1,845 pounds per day, grade A can shippers average 925 pounds, and ungraded can shippers average 510 pounds.

Miss Marcia Janet Ward, daughter of W. A. Ward of Baltimore, was married to 1st Lt. Thomas Cornick Hunter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cornick Hunter, of London Bridge, in a wedding ceremony held at the Grant Heights Chapel, June 30th.

Chaplain Major Lottis officiated, and Major Fred C. Hopper, Jr., gave the bride away.

The couple were originally married on February 25 by a proxy contract civil ceremony, and the bride upon arrival in Japan was the house guest of Major and Mrs. Hopper until the wedding.

The groom is a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, class of 1950, and at present is serving in Security Group 8110 A.V.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white nylon lace over taffeta trimmed in seed pearls on collar and cuffs, with a veil of French silk bridal illusion, which fell from a calot, also of nylon lace and seed pearls. Her only accessory was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a white prayer book, showered with white orchids and white satin ribbon.

The matron of honor, Mrs. James M. Gillip, was attired in a gown of pink Swiss organdy, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Captain V. L. Croft was best man, and the ushers were 1st Lt. Daniel Jindra and 1st Lt. Philip Richardson, Jr.

Upon return from their honeymoon, the couple are making their home at 2456, Kichijoji, Musashino City, Tokyo.

Miss Martha Carr has just returned from New York, where she won the Gold Seal Award of the National Association of Dances and Affiliated Artists. This is the third straight year that Miss Carr has won this award.

Lusk-Salmons Vows Exchanged At Back Bay Methodist Church

The Bethel Methodist Church, Back Bay, was the setting at four o'clock last Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Betty Julia Salmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Morris Salmons, of Back Bay, to Lt. (jg) Robert Roy Lusk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lusk, of Carleton, Washington.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Homer L. LeMaster in a setting of palms, ferns, mixed white summer flowers and lighted candles. Mrs. J. B. Dudley played the wedding music and Patrick Kelly sang "At Dawn," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of French Chantilly lace over satin, styled with basque bodice, an off-the-shoulder neckline of lace appliques re-embroidered with seed pearls and topped by a yoke of sheer illusion with a small lace mandarin collar. Her long tapering lace sleeves ended in wedding points over the hands, and the full skirt of Chantilly lace fell into a chapel-length train. Her finger-veil of silk illusion was arranged from a scallop-ripple brimmed half-hat of lace re-embroidered with antique pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a prayer book topped with white orchids and showered with Eucharist lilies.

Mrs. Frank Kellam, Jr., of Princess Anne County, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor.

She wore a ballerina-length gown of aquatone nylon tulle and net over taffeta, styled with a strapless, shirred, long torso bodice, a tulle stole, a bouffant skirt of nylon tulle with a scroll design of alternate rows of tulle ruching and woven satin braid under-scored with a skirt of tulle ruffles over taffeta. She wore a bandeau of aquatone velvet with a sheer circular veil studded with rhinestones and carried a cascade bouquet of rainbow asters and pink gladioli.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Mathews of Sanford, N. C.; Miss Catherine Spain, of Virginia Beach; Miss Rachel Powell, of Warrenton, N. C.; and Mrs. John Salmons, of Pungo, cousin of the bride. They wore ballerina-length gowns of American beauty nylon tulle, net and taffeta, styled like that of the matron of honor. They wore matching velvet bandeaus with sheer circular veils and carried cascade bouquets of pastel shades of asters.

Miss Janice LeMaster was flower girl and Mrs. Patrick Kelly was master of ceremonies.

Frank Kellam, Jr., of Princess Anne County, was best man, and groomsmen were John Salmons, of Pungo, cousin of the bride; Howard Salmons, of Back Bay, cousin of the bride; Lt. (jg) Larry Atkins, USNR, and Lt. (jg) Robert Plume of Norfolk. David Williams, of Creeds, was ring-bearer.

The mother of the bride wore a blue silk taffeta dress, styled with a long torso bodice, a scoop neckline and bracelet-length sleeves. The low waistline was marked by a rose-dust sash accented with appliques of seed pearls and sequins and ended in the back with a bustle effect bow and trailing panels. She wore a petite hat of rose-dust panne velvet with a sheer brow veil and a corsage of pink gladioli with dracena leaves.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and the couple left for a wedding trip to Maine. They will later make their home in Pullman, Wash., where both will attend Washington State College.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal

LOOK OUT FOR RUST ON IRON FURNITURE

It's a good idea to periodically check iron furniture for rust spots, say economists at V. P. I. If you find any rust on your painted iron furniture, use a bit of fine steel wool to smooth and clean the rusted parts. Then freshen it by painting over that part.

Another way to treat rust spots is to rub them with a paste of rottenstone and oil. Then rub them with a clean, dry cloth.

ATTIC FAN HELPFUL

An attic fan isn't a substitute for complete home air conditioning, but it is a practical, inexpensive way to get relief from summer heat. Properly used, an attic fan can be satisfactory.

NEW USES FOR BED SHEETS

The plain old bed sheet is no longer confined to the bed.

V. P. I. home economists say to open a colored double bed size sheet, and you'll immediately see the enormous expanse of seamless fabric that offers many decorating possibilities. Colored bed sheets make attractive draperies. You might use wide bands of contrasting rick-rack for trim — or appliques cut from chintz — or a trim of eyelid on curtains for a baby's room.

HOUSE PLANTS

Houseplants call for a weekly bath if you expect them to look colorful and healthy.

V. P. I. specialists say to wash leaves with lukewarm water and wipe the outside of the pots when you do your weekly house cleaning.

GOOD TIP

Splinters of glass may be picked up safely with a cotton ball dampened with water.

Home Demonstration County Committee Officers Elected

The Home Demonstration County Committee met on Friday, August 19 at 10 a. m. with the County President, Mrs. T. C. Hunter, Sr., presiding. After the devotion by Mrs. Finley Paxson, roll call of the clubs showed 12 clubs represented with a total attendance of 23 people.

The main order of business was the election of the officers whose positions were to be filled this year. These were vice-president, secretary and corresponding secretary.

After hearing the report of the nominating committee, which was given by Mrs. William Fitchugh, president of the Acredale Friendship Club, the following were elected: Vice-President, Mrs. Steve Libick, president of the Salem Homemakers Club; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Rose Brubaker, of the Thorwood Club, and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ray Donaldson, of the Acredale Friendship Club.

Achievement Program
Among the reports made the group present were very pleased to hear the treasurer's report showing the treasury was in fairly good condition. Also a report of the committee on the Achievement Night Program, which is to be held at the Princess Anne High School on September 9 at 7:30 was heard. Each club is to make an exhibit and the women will model some of the articles of clothing which they have made for themselves and their families. The public is cordially invited.

An announcement was made concerning the Annual Program Planning Meeting which will be held this year on September 15 at 10 a. m. in the County Kitchen. At this time the women will bring in the suggestions for topics to be studied in 1956. The suggestion that those who would attend the meeting (presidents and program development chairmen) would like to bring a covered dish and have lunch together. It was decided that this be optional. Those who wish to do it will bring their dish when they come to the meeting and enjoy an hour of fellowship while eating lunch together.

6 slices enriched bread

GARDEN GUIDE

BULBS

One of the most fool-proof ways to add a lot of beauty to a garden is to plant spring-flowering bulbs. In our Virginia Beach area, crocus, hyacinths, daffodils, narcissus and tulips all do well. The time to plant them is early fall, so do some thinking now to decide where the splashes of color would look nice next March and April. Rather than using the bulbs singly, it is much more effective to plant not less than three in a clump. Five or more together are much better. Of course they should have several inches interval to reduce competition for nutrients and moisture, and to allow room for growth and formation of young bulbs.

A border or a bed of bulbs is especially beautiful. They have the advantage of serving a double duty. Flowering plants such as petunias, pansies, gladiolus, zinnias, etc., can be planted directly over the bulbs in early summer. This way ground space can provide color at least half the year.

Planting

It is very important to provide drainage for proper growth and blooming of bulbs. If the soil is sandy, then nature has solved the problem. If not, sand should be thoroughly worked into the soil. Be sure that it is utilized deep enough. The base of bulbs from which roots grow will be planted from 5 to 10 inches below ground level. Good drainage is most important under the bulbs. If the soil is very heavy clay, we recommend digging out the soil four inches below the depth at which bulbs are to be planted. Put the soil in a wheelbarrow and add about one-third sand (should not have salt water on it). Also add a few handfuls of garden fertilizer and mix well. Refill two inches of the planting area with the mixture, then put a two inch layer of pure sand on which to plant the bulbs. Set them in place, top side up, of course, then cover with the mixture to soil level. It is advisable to mulch the area with peat moss, pine needles, leaves or some other similar material. The mulch should be removed in early spring after the danger of a killing frost is over.

Planting depths (compared to the distance from ground level to the bottom of the bulb) for some of the more popular bulbs are: Crocus, 5 inches; hyacinth, 6 inches; daffodil, 10 inches; narcissus, 8 inches; and tulip, 8 inches. The purchase of small bulbs that are inexpensive is poor economy because if they bloom at the first year, the flowers will be small and puny. It takes a large firm bulb to produce beautiful flowers.

Another Connecticut item of interest, but unrelated, is the fact that the state unemployment commissioner has ruled that no employee can be required to work at a machine that frightens him. —American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook.

After-Dinner Speaker Gets His "Deserts"

"Red" Thomas tells about a dinner party he and his Missus went to in Center City last week. He said it was a wonderful party—except for one guest who was a real "know-it-all," right from the start. Whatever the subject, this fellow considered himself an "expert." Wasn't quiet about it, either. He told different people what automobile to buy, what books to read—even told some who they "just had" to vote for. When it came time to leave, this fellow must've felt a pang of conscience. He turned to the hostess and said: "I suppose I was a bit outspoken tonight." Quickly she replied, "Of course not. No one could have out-spoken you." From where I sit, it's all right to have opinions as long as you don't try to force them on neighbors. Take those who would deny me an occasional glass of beer simply because they prefer something else. They're welcome to their choice but shouldn't try to force me to be a "party" to it!

BUSINESS REVIEW SECTION

Five Ways Listed For Financing Modernization

If your family is like the average American family, you have many of good ideas on how to modernize the next modernization project but no ideas on how to pay for it.

One right out of ten home modernization projects are paid for with borrowed money. But if this is your first modernization project you may well wonder where to borrow the money.

You'll find lots of organizations ready to do business, if your family has a regular income and no huge debts. Here are five of the most popular ways to get loan money:

- 1—Regular bank loan.
- 2—FHA Title 1 Modernization Loan.
- 3—Open End Mortgage.
- 4—Cash Financing.
- 5—Home Mortgage Re-Financing.

Changes that came with the Housing Act of 1954 increased use of the open end mortgage, making it available to the millions of home owners whose mortgages are insured by FHA and VA. The open end idea has been used successfully by private agencies for many years. It's popular because the size of the monthly mortgage payments do not increase. The term of the mortgage is just extended.

Widely Used
Probably the most widely used method of paying for home improvements has been the FHA Title 1 Modernization Loan. More than 18,000,000 loans have been made since the FHA program began in 1954. More than 1,500,000 modernization loans were made in 1954 alone. Title 1 loans run for 30 months, and have a top limit of $2,500.

FHA records show that the most popular home modernization project is the addition of some form of insulation, in side walls or ceiling. About one-fifth of all loans made under Title 1 are for insulation. Average loan for insulation is $302.

You May Not Believe It, But —

Traffic deaths in Great Britain last year numbered 5,010 and in the United States, 38,300. California and Illinois, with 5,163 between them, topped Britain's total.

A letter to "Redbook" magazine quotes the New York Herald Tribune as saying that about 600 people holding drivers' licenses in Ohio also receive state pension checks paid to the blind.

Sir Robert Watson Watt, inventor of radar and pioneer worker in the field, was fined $12.50 in Canada for speeding. Yes, he was picked up by radar.

The first red and green traffic lights were installed in London in 1868.

The passage of a law by New Hampshire making it a misdemeanor to drive so slowly as to impede traffic has received national publicity.

Keeping Moisture Out

To keep moisture out and to give the new siding job that finished look, corner trim should always be applied to homes that have siding done with the new shake shingle pattern of insulating siding. This metal trim is made to lock with the overlap edge of the siding, making a weather-proof joint. Two small nails are all that are needed to hold each piece of corner in place.

Low Cost Utility Shed

Typical of the modern buildings that meet strict requirements for maximum efficiency in farming is this low cost utility or machinery shed. Its low cost was made possible by such practices as "skip laying" the sheathing. The insulating siding used to finish the side walls requires a minimum of maintenance since insulating siding needs no painting or staining. The open lane through the center of the building makes it easy to take machinery in and out of storage.

Double Insulation Of Home Need Not Mean Double Money Saving

Many people believe that by doubling the amount of insulation they use in their homes they can double the insulating value.

Then they expect to save twice as much on fuel, to be twice as comfortable and to receive double protection from the infiltration of summer heat.

The Insulating Siding Association points out that there is a point of diminishing returns in insulation, just as there is with almost any other type of protection.

Consider, for example, insulating siding, which is made with one-half inch balsa insulation board, which is the same material used for insulating sheathing.

The "U" Factor
Insulating siding used over wood sheathing and 15-pound building felt gives an exterior wall a "U" factor .22. (The U factor is the method of measuring insulating value according to procedures outlined by the American Society of Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning Engineers. The lower the U factor the higher the insulating value.)

Exterior walls with a U factor of .23 and under are considered sufficiently insulated for all but the northernmost one-fifth of the United States. The insulating siding and wood sheathing wall falls within this range.

Now suppose we increase the insulation by 17% by substituting one-half inch insulation board sheathing for the wood sheathing. Although we've increased the insulation by 17%, the U factor drops only to .19. However, at this point the extra margin of comfort obtained is probably worth the investment.

Insulation Board Adds
If you use heavier insulation board sheathing, 25/32-inch thick instead of 1/2-inch, the U factor drops to .17. There you have an increase of about 25% in insulation but only about 10% gain in insulating value.

At this point your investment in heavier sheathing is more practical as an investment in extra strength for the wall than as an investment in insulation.

The same reasoning applies to use of bat-types of insulation in walls or ceilings. The first inch of insulation gives the most value for the money. After that additional inches net comparatively smaller gains in insulating value. It's important to understand what you're getting when you buy insulation. Then you don't make the mistake of buying more insulation than you need.

GI's May Reapply For Insurance

Veterans of the Korean conflict who lost their World War I or II GI term insurance because their policies expired within 120 days after their discharge may now apply for replacement of that term insurance under a new law. Veterans Administration reported the new act is Public Law 194, 84th Congress.

Under this act, veterans whose GI term insurance expires after April 25, 1951, either while they were in active service or within 120 days after discharge, may replace such insurance within 120 days after discharge, or within 120 days after July 29, 1955, whichever is later.

They must file application, meet good health requirements and pay the premium at their attained age in order to qualify.

Previously, only those GI term policies that expired while the policyholders were in active service after April 25, 1951, could be replaced within 120 days after discharge. No provision was made for the replacement of term policies that expired within the 120-day period after discharge. The new law adds the latter period for replacement.

Waiver of Premiums
A new law which grants waiver of GI insurance premiums to those servicemen of the Korean conflict who could not apply for waiver during a certain period of the conflict because they were prisoners of war or in a missing status, is now in effect.

Veterans Administration said this act is Public Law 193, 84th Congress.

Under the previous law, veterans with World War I or II GI insurance who were to receive service after April 25, 1951, were required to apply in writing for waiver of premiums if they wished to retain their insurance at no cost or at reduced cost.

Some policyholders in service after April 25, 1951, were prevented from filing written application for premium waiver because they were missing or prisoners of war.

Public Law 193 was enacted to correct this situation by providing retroactive waiver to insured who had been in status of missing, missing in action, interned, captured, beleaguered, or besieged at any time after April 25, 1951, and before April 25, 1952.

Good Practices

Irrigation in Irrigation
Efficient irrigation depends on several factors and good farming practices. If a farmer plans to irrigate, he is advised to make sure that these conditions are met:

- Have an adequate supply of water, and be sure of your right to use it.
- Irrigate the more productive soils. Irrigate the more responsive and high-yield crops. Use recommended varieties. Follow recommended fertilization practices, planting rows, control practices, and insect and disease control practices.
- Irrigation, in itself, is no magic way to good crops. It is a way to provide water to land at a time it is needed. However, when a soil is capable of producing high yields, and water can be made available in needed amounts, then irrigation comes into its own.

Insect Research Project To Start at VPI Station

Virginia's first research project dealing with livestock insects is now underway. The tests are designed to get information on the life history of the common species of cattle lice, two species of ox warbles, and the horn fly. An evaluation of losses and preliminary tests for control with chemical insecticides, will also be made.

Research in several states has clearly shown the gains in beef cattle weights, and increased production in dairy cows, that result from insect control. In many cases satisfactory control has been obtained in Virginia by using recommendations from other states. However, proper timing of control measures is important, and many recommendations in other states are not at all applicable to conditions in Virginia. The new project aims at developing recommendations for Virginia, and reducing livestock losses from insects to a minimum.

The research is being conducted by E. C. Turner and E. M. Raffensperger, of the entomology staff. During the past decade there has been a substantial increase in the number and value of cattle grown in Virginia. At present Virginia is reported to have 1,328,000 head with an estimated value of $111,943,000. In 1949 there were 1,066,000 head of cattle at an estimated value of $70,463,000.

Intensive Sheep Grazing To be Studied at Station

How heavily can pastures be stocked when sheep are the only livestock carried? That's an oft-recurring question from Virginia farmers, and researchers at VPI Agricultural Experiment Station are going to run a test to try to find the answer. R. C. Carter, animal husbandman at the station, and F. S. McClaugherty, superintendent of the Glade Spring substation, say the test will begin next spring with intensive production of lambs from improved pasture. Two kinds of pastures will be used — permanent bluegrass-white clover, and ladino-orchard grass. Continuous grazing and rotation will both be tried. Particular attention will be given to control of internal parasites and foot-rot in the sheep. These two conditions are believed to be most serious in intensive production of sheep on pasture.

Also in the office at Glade Spring is a test to evaluate Hampshire and Suffolk rams when bred to western ewes. The ewe flock at Glade Spring consists of 30 North-west (Hampshire V Rambouillet) and 30 Texas (Suffolk X Rambouillet) ewes. These two kinds of western ewes were generally the most satisfactory of four kinds in comparison tests, and seem to be the most popular kind of western ewes over the state. The question as to whether to breed these ewes to a ram of the same breed or to a ram of a different breed has frequently been asked.

Large Corn Crop Needs Farm Storage

Prospects for a record corn harvest prompted VPI Agricultural Extension Service to remind farmers of the need for safe, acceptable storage of grain on the farm.

The late 1955 crop is coming in at a time when normal grain storage space, on and off the farm, is already loaded to capacity. In addition to the farmers' need to protect the grain, the Commodity Credit Corporation has specific requirements for grain storage that must be met in order to qualify for government loans.

Grain can be stored safely on the farm for more than a year, providing a few precautions are taken. Particular attention must be paid to the moisture content of the grain, and farmers need a structurally strong and weather-tight building. Loans to help finance storage structures are available through ASC committees.

Place only clean grain in storage, the Extension Service advises. Cracked grain, screenings, chaff, and dust provide favorable conditions for the development of insect infestations. Even clean grain with a safe moisture content cannot be stored and forgotten. Occasionally, inspection is necessary to detect leaks, insect infestation, and mold, molding or eating grain. Remember, too, that buyers may refuse to pay food-grain prices for grain that has been contaminated by rats, mice, birds or insects. Protect your grain from them.

More About Antibiotics

Diseases might be cut by one billion dollars a year with the right antibiotics in the hands of growers who know how to use them, scientists estimate. Plant pathologists at VPI say that many of the important plant diseases can be prevented with cultural practices, seed treatment, and fungicidal sprays and dusts.

Now for the first time there seems to be a way to cure diseased plants with wonder-drug antibiotics.

The biggest drawback to wider use of antibiotics is the relatively high cost. However, these prices should be reduced after manufacturing difficulties have been overcome.

Some diseases which apparently can be controlled with antibiotics are: Late blight of beans; fire blight of pears and apples; bacterial spot of tomatoes and peppers; wilted and blue mold of soybeans; seed-borne downy and blight of potatoes; bacterial rot of rutabagas; and bacterial wilt of chrysanthemums. Some of the antibiotics are effective against several fungus as well as the bacterial diseases; and preliminary work indicates they can inhibit certain virus diseases.

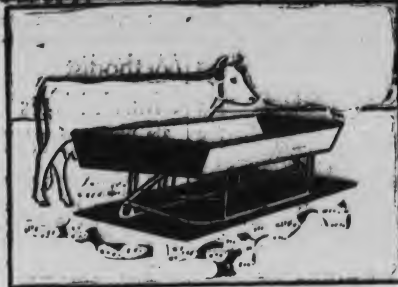

Antibiotics are easy to use as disease-control weapons. They are readily made up in water solutions. They are stable when mixed with other fungicides for seed-treating chemicals, and in storage. Ordinary fungicides must be applied to plant surfaces, but some antibiotics are systemic; that is, they move through the sap streams. They "grow" with the plants and are proof against rain.

Corn Earworm Moths Numerous in Southeast

Corn earworm moths are numerous on corn in some of the southeastern counties, and apparently a new brood of adults is emerging.

That's the warning from VPI. Corn, the host plant preferred, is so near maturity in many fields that it will not attract the females for egg-laying, and this may mean that soybeans, cotton, peanuts or truck crops will be in for some trouble.

Infestations should be spotted

PORTABLE TROUGH... Cattle trough is mounted on pipe shaft for easy moving with a jeep or tractor. Pipe frame also provides cover from feeding up troughs by pushing up against them while feeding. Used 2-inch pipe is welded at joints to assure sturdiness.

Insects Infesting Many Crops

Potato leafhoppers are heavy on alfalfa and are causing yellowing of the crop in many areas.

Bean leaf beetles are causing varying amounts of damage in the heavy soybean producing areas. It is advised that caution be exercised in applying insecticides now. Some growers likely will have to control corn earworms later, and two more applications of insecticides instead of one will certainly cut profits. There is also danger of fall armyworm damage to soybeans.

Two cotton insects — boll weevils and boll worms — are expected to increase during the rest of the season.

quickly and controlled. Farmers and agricultural workers are advised to be on the lookout. Definite identifications should be made, because corn earworms are easily confused with fall armyworms and the recommended insecticides for control are different.

Hornworm Infestations on Tobacco and Tomatoes are Increasing and it is advised to control them now.

Truck and garden insects now doing heavy damage include the bean leaf beetle, hornworm, spider mite and southern cornstalk borer. Cutworms, fall armyworms, and plant lice are expected to

Sell Sweet Potatoes From Storage Is Advice Given To Growers

Sweet potato growers who sell this year's crop out of storage in 1955 can count on money in their pockets.

A need for a larger curing and storage program in Virginia to take the burden out of fall marketing is seen. The usual pattern of marketing results in low prices in October and November, then a month by month strengthening. Over a period of years, sweet potato prices have advanced from a low in October, the month of heaviest digging, to a high in May, 56¢ greater than in the low-price month. It usually costs about 30 to 35 cents a bushel to cure and store "sweets," so sale out of storage has paid well.

The popular variety of sweet potatoes with colsumers is the Porto Rico. The principal producing states are Louisiana, Virginia, North Carolina, New Jersey, South Carolina, Mississippi, Texas, California, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia. These eleven states are expected to account for 31 million bushels, or 90% of the 1955 production. Virginia stands third in yield per acre, topped by Maryland and New Jersey. Demand for canned "sweets" is high and about 3 million bushels are expected to be produced. Sweet potatoes are used for food, chips, and for feeding. Virginia is expected to sell about 1,250,000 bushels from August through December. The cure and store about 100,000 bushels to market in the first half of 1956.

ALMOST

One of the most baffling facts of all is the tightness of life's margins; the closeness of the squeaks between success and failure, height and depth. There is a seeming ruthlessness about it. So many get so close and yet completely fail. "A miss is as good as a mile," it is said, and this is terribly true. There is an unrelenting severity which places disproportionate stress upon a trivial episode or a passing moment. At one moment, practically everything is possible; the next moment practically nothing is possible. How narrow the margin! How close are the squeaks! How many who tragically fled, how many who gloriously triumphed—nearly, almost, but not quite.

Simon Peter was an apostle and a saint. His is one of the great names of the Church. But this same man was a coward, politician, deserter—almost. Judas Iscariot was an apostle, a saint, a man for whom countless churches have been named—but not quite. St. Paul was the mightiest name in the Church between Christ and Augustine, perhaps the greatest since Christ. But he came so near to being the Church's worst enemy with his name a byword of the ages. These are words that haunt us—nearly, almost, not quite.

Moments Unique

There are obviously some moments in our life which are not like the rest. These are moments heavy with the weight of destiny. In such moments we must speak of forever, hold our peace; we must act or forever hold our hand. Now we often resent this. We like to argue that it isn't fair or it isn't so. We have even conjured up the idea of re-incarnation as a convenient ruse to escape reality. If we miss out in this life, we comfortably assure ourselves, we shall have as good an opportunity two or three lifetimes later. This is just kidding ourselves. We had better face reality. The Bible has the right of it: "Now is the acceptable time; now is the day of salvation." The plain fact is that this life here must bear the full weight of eternal destiny. This is its awful solemnity. It is now or never for us. A miss really as good—or as bad—as a mile.

The Time is Now
This truth cannot seriously be argued if we look at life itself. Consider your life work as an illustration. Within certain limits you are free to choose your life work. But if you stall around, keep changing your mind, and don't commit yourself, presently time runs out. There isn't any left. No time to do anything at all.

Much is made of the prodigal son's home coming. But that was not the important moment for him. The important moment occurred when he got up and started. He saw that the time had come when he had to do it. So, recognizing that, he got up and started. So many trips are not made for the simple reason that people never start. After a while it's too late and they can't start any more.

Among my readers there are those who are near to a wonderful life in Christ. They can have it. It is theirs. All they have to do, really, is to reach out and accept it. All they have to do is to get up and start. Some will do it joyously, gloriously. But others will miss. They will have that wonderful life—nearly, almost, but not quite.

Civil Defense Public Action Signals Recited

Sirens, whistles, horns or other similar devices will warn you in case an enemy attack is threatened. Memorize your local signals so you will know what to do instinctively.

The ALERT SIGNAL, which means attack is probable, is a steady blast of three to five minutes' duration.

When you hear this, tune in on Channel 1240. Follow civil defense directions promptly. The alert signal will mean evacuation or mobilization of civil defense forces, depending on your location.

The TAKE COVER SIGNAL is a wailing tone, or a series of short blasts, of three minutes' duration. When you hear this, it indicates that attack is imminent and you must take the best available shelter. Stay in the shelter until civil defense authorities tell you it is safe to come out.

If in doubt, switch your radio to the emergency frequency—(1240)—fast!

Oceana Carrier Air Group Six Embarks For Mediterranean

Carrier Air Group Six, now Oceana based, embarked yesterday in the attack aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain (CVA 39) for a 7-month Mediterranean cruise.

The more than 750 officers and men with approximately 75 aircraft of CAG Six will return to Oceana in March, 1956.

The present cruise of CAG Six will include Fighter Squadron 33 flying the FJ3 Furies; Fighter Squadron 74, F4F Cougars; Attack Squadron 25, AD Skyraiders; detachments from the composite Squadrons 33, 12, 4, and 62. Their planes will include all weather nightfighters; Skyraiders and photographic reconnaissance aircraft. Also making the cruise will be Marine Attack Squadron 324, currently based in Miami, Fla., which flew to Norfolk in time to embark on the cruise.

CAG Six was commissioned in January, 1943, at the Norfolk Naval Air Station. During the second World War, this group earned two Presidential Unit Citations. The first of these coveted awards came following the squadrons' operations against Rabaul, the Gilberts and Marshalls. A second citation was forthcoming after CAG Six's operations against Japan. The outfit was flying from the Bunker Hill and Hornet.

Other more recent cruises CAG Six has made include 3 months aboard the Midway in 1953, to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba; 4 months the following year in the Mediterranean, again aboard the Midway; and from February through April, 1955, on board the attack aircraft carrier USS Ticonderoga in Caribbean waters.

Carrier Air Group is skippered by Commander J. E. Lacouture, USN, who makes his home at Virginia Beach.

When you buy insurance...

... who is not only experienced, but who keeps up with every change in the insurance business to try to save you money or give you added protection.

This agency believes in knowing everything that goes on in the insurance business. When rates are lowered, we tell you at once. When protection is increased, we tell you at once. We never did—and never will—believe in "sell 'em and forget 'em."
